After several weeks of negotiations, a 20-year lease between the Alma Trailer company of Alma, Mich., and the Red Lake Falls Development Corporation was signed last Saturday by officials of both groups.

The Alma firm, one of the oldest and largest manufacturers of mobile homes in the country, had been seeking a plant site for expansion in the upper midwest and chose Red Lake Falls largely because of availability of the tow mill buildings which the city owns.

James E. Ryan, president of the Alma firm and his lawyer, Frederick Darden of Detroit, Mich., flew to Red Lake Falls Saturday in the company's twin-Beech.

Meeting with directors of the RLF development organization, at the Red Lake County State Bank, Alma president Ryan and Millard Dailey, president of the development corporation, signed the lease which will provide that Alma will rent the buildings for 20 years at $1,800 per year. Alma will also pay all insurance, maintenance, personal property taxes and $1,800 a year toward real estate taxes.

The agreement also provides that the development group will finance the improvement and expansion of the local buildings according to Alma specifications. Cost of the project is estimated at around $40,000 with capital to be raised through the sale of stock to residents of the community.

Several thousands have already been subscribed and sale of the non-profit stock at $25 per share will be pushed in the near future.

Starting in the morning, Hillman Slaten, Bert Iverson, Morris Johnson, Leonard Berg, Roy Culkins and Roy Roman plowed about 30 acres by lunch time and baled some straw which was still in the fields. The Romberg farm is three miles north and two miles east of Plummer.

Lunch was served at noon by Mrs. Slaten, Mrs. Berg and Mrs. Roman.

Romberg's confinement in the hospital was brightened by his first reunion with two brothers in 13 years, Sam and Art Romberg of Chicago visited Leonard last week.

Enrollment of 2,440 Seen in Local Schools

Fall Term of School Starts in T. R. Falls Tuesday Morning

An enrollment of 2,440, including a record 1,125 students in Lincoln junior-senior high school, and 1,315 pupils in the grades is anticipated Tuesday, when the Thief River Falls public schools open for the fall term, Supt. I. T. Mickelson announced.

By staggering the lunch hour, it is expected that the Lincoln building will be able to accommodate the 100 additional students due to report. Two sixth grade classes, however, will be again be housed in the National Guard Armory, while the teacher training class will be quartered in a portion of the Falls Hotel building, and the vocational school welding class will occupy rented space in the Wennberg building on Knight av. at Second st.

The principal improvement made in local school buildings during the summer was the installation of fire escapes on the two-story Knox school in obedience to instructions from the state fire marshal's office.

The space in the vocational school formerly occupied by the welding shop is now occupied by the practical nurses classes, and the cosmetology classes with their larger enrollment have also been given additional space.

Students enrolling in junior-senior high school are reminded to bring the $3 activities fee the first day of school. The fee covers lockers, towel service, school paper, athletic events and several other items.

Seventh grade boys are asked to secure gymnasium outfits consisting of navy blue shorts and white T-shirts, while seventh grade girls should provide red one-piece gym suits. Uniformity is desired, it was explained, since the pupils will give demonstrations at athletic events during the year. The suits are available in local stores.

Art Wilson, Hospital Building Engineer to Retire; Here 30 Years

Friends and co-workers of Art Wilson, building engineer at Northwestern hospital, gathered in the institution's dining room Thursday afternoon, Sept. 3, to honor him on his approaching retirement.

When Wilson leaves his work Oct. 20, he will have served in northwestern Minnesota hospitals a total of 45 years with the exception of a year and seven months in 1923-24 when he was in California. Of these years, 30 were spent in hospitals in Thief River Falls.

Wilson began his hospital work in 1914 at the age of 19 in the Warren hospital built by Dr. Theodore Bratrud. He came to Thief River Falls Oct. 20, 1930 to begin his work at St. Luke's hospital.

In his talk preceding the awarding of a gift to Wilson at the reception, Frank Rinkel, president of the Northwestern hospital board, reminisced, "When we started, there were a lot of things we couldn't get. When that happened, Art made them."

Present at the reception were members of the hospital board and the staff.

According to Wilson, he will "keep busy" after his retirement. "I had three houses I could have painted this year and there are plenty of other things to do."

Peterson-Klamar Vows Spoken in St. Hilaire

Nuptial vows were exchanged between Mildred Amanda Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Peterson of Plummer and Roland Klamar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Klamar of Gatzke, Saturday afternoon, Aug. 22, at 2 o'clock in Clara Lutheran church at St. Hilaire.

Rev. Marvin Carlson officiated at the double ring ceremony with Faye Torkelson of Thief River Falls as organist. Mrs. James Cuppett of Thief River Falls sang "The Lord's Prayer," and "Wedding Prayer" and "I'll Walk with God" was sung by Mrs. Clarence Weckwerth of St. Hilaire, aunt of the bride.

Entering in on the arm of her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of nylonized lace over taffeta, featuring a fitted, scoop-neck bodice decorated with white pearls and felt flowers and a hooped bouffant skirt. Her chapel length veil fell from a crown of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of red Happiness roses and white carnations. Her pearl necklace and earrings were a gift from the bridegroom.

Laura Peterson of Plummer, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing a ballerina length gown of mint green embroidered nylon over taffeta with matching accessories. Rosemarie Peterson of Plummer and Lorraine Klamar of Gatzke were bridesmaids, dressed identically to the maid of honor in blue and pink respectively. They all wore white gloves, gifts of the bride, and carried bouquets of pink garnet roses and streamers.

Best man was Harold Klamar of Gatzke, brother of the bridegroom, while Bill Peterson of Ft. Lewis, Wash., brother of the bride, and Clifford Klamar, brother of the bridegroom, were groomsmen. Ushers were Donald Erickson of Plummer, cousin of the bride, and Harold Polansky of Gatzke. All the men in the bridal party wore white dinner jackets with black trousers and red carnation boutonnieres.

The bride's mother wore a dress of yellow and brown with brown accessories and a corsage of baby yellow roses, and the bridegroom's mother was attired in a light blue dress with white accessories and her corsage was of pink roses and white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception for 150 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents. The four-tiered cake, surrounded with ferns and topped with a miniature bride and groom, centered the flower-decorated lawn. Miss Anna Peterson of Thief River Falls, aunt of the bride, cut the cake, while Mrs. Elvin Peterson and Mrs. Hilda Peterson, aunts of the bride of Thief River Falls, poured.

Others assisting were Miss Geraldine Swick of Duluth, friend of the bride, at the guest book, and Mrs. Violet Dahms of Chicago, Ill., aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Charles Krantz of Strandquist, cousin of the bride, attended the gift table.

For their honeymoon, the bride chose a brown two-piece dress with green accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Since their return, they are at home in Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Klamar is a graduate of Northwestern School of Agriculture at Crookston and Augustana Hospital school of nursing in Chicago, Ill. She is now employed at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls, while the bridegroom is engaged in farming near Gatzke.

Out of town guests were from Ft. Lewis, Wash., Chicago, Ill., Grand Forks, N. D., Strandquist, Grygla, Plummer, Gatzke, Denmark, Thief River Falls, Duluth and Minneapolis.

Semi-annual Assembly in Municipal Auditorium Slated September 25-27

Over 700 ministers will be in attendance at the semi-annual assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses which is scheduled for the city Auditorium, September 25-27, it was announced this week.

It will be the biggest assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses yet to be held in Thief River Falls, convention officials stated. Scores of Witness families will be staying in homes of Thief River Falls residents as well as in the hotels and motels that weekend.

The Thief River Falls congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses which meets at Kingdom Hall on Knight street will act as host to the group. The local congregation is composed of three service centers, one of which meets at the Kingdom Hall, a second at the home of Bill Wetenkamp, and a third at the home of Roy Mogen. All three of these groups are combining their efforts in making advance preparations for the coming event under the direction of presiding minister, R. H. Wetenkamp.

The Wetenkamp families in and around Thief River Falls have long been associated with the group. .44 Inch of Rain Here 1st Week in September

Warm Saturday with a little cooler Sunday was the KTRF weather forecast and the skies are expected to be partly cloudy.

Much combining remains to be done. Cooler temperatures coupled with decreasing humidity have also made the weather more enjoyable.

Daytime temperatures this month have ranged from the middle 60's to the middle 70's and night time readings have varied from the low of 47 the evening of Sept. 3 to the 65 reported Friday night, Sept. 4.

Pennington Co. in Surplus Hay Area, Survey Indicates

Shortages Reported in Nine or More Counties by Extension Agronomist

According to a preliminary summary of the state hay situation, at least 18 Minnesota counties have hay to sell and 9 have hay shortages.

The report was issued jointly this week by William Hueg, extension agronomist at the University of Minnesota, and the state department of agriculture.

So far, the reports show 11,525 tons for sale in surplus areas and 21,700 tons needed in deficit counties. However, Hueg and his co-workers expect both figures to rise considerably as more reports come in.

County agents reporting hay to sell indicated that prices would vary from $8 per ton for "fair quality" hay to as high as $40 or $50 per ton for first-rate alfalfa.

Most prices, however, fell between $15 and $30, depending on quality.

Of the hay-deficit counties, most said the hay was needed for dairy cows, with only two indicating a need for forage for beef cattle.

Counties reporting surplus hay include Becker, Carlton, Clay, Clearwater, Fillmore, Hubbard, Koochiching, Lake of the Woods, Mille Lacs, Morrison, Nobles, Olmsted, Pennington, Roseau, St. Louis, Wadena, Winona and Wilkin.

Hay-deficit counties reported so far are Anoka, Chippewa, Kanabec, Lac qui Parle, Lincoln, Meeker, Wadena, Washington and Yellow Medicine.

Farmers wishing to either buy or sell hay can contact their county agents or local weed and seed inspectors. They have complete reports on tonnages available in other counties, approximate prices and estimates of needed hay, quality needed and prices farmers are willing to pay in deficit areas. They will also help make contacts in other counties.

Blue Earth, Goodhue, Kandiyohi and Mower counties each reported local supplies "in balance;" demand on some farms offsets surpluses on others.

The report will be issued every two weeks until December.

Federal Land Bank Loans Reach Peak

Loans Totaling $74,000,000 Were Made in Past Year

The Federal Land Bank of St. Paul last year closed the largest volume of farm loans in any one year except during the emergency financing period of 1934, according to word received by Harold Sorenson, secretary-treasurer of the Northwest National Farm Loan Association of Warren, which initiates and services loans for the bank in Marshall, Kittson, Roseau, Red Lake and Pennington counties.

During the fiscal year ended June 30, 1959, the Land Bank made loans totaling $74 million. This was an increase of 46 per cent over the previous year, said Sorensen. At the close of the fiscal year, the Land Bank had 53,000 farm loans outstanding with a total of $288 million.

"The bank reached the milestone of $1 billion loaned to farmers in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota just after July 1," said Mr. Sorensen. The bank was organized March 17, 1917 under the Federal Farm Loan Act of 1916.

Sorenson explained that the Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul is owned by approximately 100 national farm loan associations in the four states it serves. The farm loan associations are owned by farmers who have land bank loans.

Commenting on the increased loan activity during the past year, Mr. Sorensen said that among the major purposes for which farmers obtained long-term credit in the territory served by the Northwest National Farm Loan Association were land purchases, new buildings or improvements to existing buildings, and refinancing debts over longer periods of time at low interest rate.

Plummer Schools Have Total of 284 Pupils Enrolled

A new first grade teacher is Mrs. Anton Oleson of Red Lake Falls. The staff is short a home economics teacher but Supt. Ed Kval expressed the hope that this post would be filled this week.

Bus schedules are the same as last year. The school lunch program was started Tuesday.

SUPPLIES Business has been brisk the past two weeks in Thief River Falls stores which stock school supplies. Among the many who bought the many items necessary to start the school year were Mrs. Don Pream, 834 Tindolph ave. S., with her two sons, Lyndon, nearest camera, and John. In the background is Sharon Hanson of Strandquist.

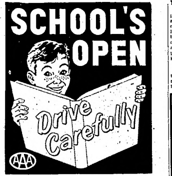
Under It All—Uncertainty

Adolescence is a sort of a baffling period of development—baffling both to the parents as well as to the young person himself. It is a period of sharp contrasts and rapidly changing scenes. It is a period of extensive experimentation. Most parents find it extremely interesting to pierce beneath the surface and discover some of the real reasons why adolescents behave as they do.

Many years ago, an authority in the field of developmental psychology suggested that the one predominant characteristic of people in the teen years is uncertainty. At first glance this seems hard to believe. All of us are acquainted with the remarkable poise and self-assurance which adolescents often display. Some of them are quite outspoken in their criticism of parents and teachers whom they find quite hopelessly outdated and ill-informed. Why then suggest that they are uncertain?

Anyone is likely to become uncertain when faced with rather unpredictable circumstances, and certainly the adolescent faces as variable and changing a world as does today's adult. The adult, however, has one advantage: he has learned through the years what he can expect of himself. He is not the stranger to himself that the young person is. When we recognize that the adolescent faces an uncertain tomorrow with a good deal of doubt about what he will be like the next day, we begin to see beneath the mask. Much of the surface behavior which appears boastful and superior actually cloaks some rather real misgivings and fears. People in the teen years are quite conscious of their inadequacies, but, understandably, they are most reticent to admit of them too freely, either to themselves or to others.

This is a time when their bodies play tricks on them. They may grow too fast or not fast enough. Their minds, too, do interesting tricks. Many of the notions they took for granted as youngster are critically examined, seriously questioned, and some are even discarded. The adolescent is discovering himself as he rediscovers his world. Such a situation is indeed an uncertain one.



ANTICS OF ASSORTED PETS

Some special punishment perhaps should be devised for perverted human beings who tie helpless animals in bags and throw them into woods, rivers, quarries, and other isolated spots to starve, suffocate, or drown. A Red Wing man recently rescued from a swollen creek a dog in this dire plight — and was promptly rewarded by the arrival of five lively pups . . . A buck deer was jugged at Kasota on charges of assault and battery for kicking his rescuers, but actually to protect him from dogs and curious children; "He didn't have the doe," commented the marshal, "to get bailed out" . . . Sam the Ram on Pat Rasmussen's farm near Dexter, obviously thinks he's a dog, much preferring canine company and antics to his own kind . . . One of four baby raccoons rescued by Hugh Drentlaw, Northfield, has become his constant playful companion . . . Pee Wee the Dog and Dick the Crow are unusual playmates at the International Falls home of Adrien Tarris.

Carry a litterbag for travel-trash . . . and help keep our roadsides clean. A cleaner America is up to you.

Marie Breznay Writes of Farm Camp at State Fair

Marie Breznay, Pennington county 4-H club delegate, reports on activities at Farm Camp during the state fair.

I was one of the first girls to arrive at camp. I was shown to my quarters, where I unpacked and was then taken to the kitchen to help prepare the noon meal for the boys.

There are around 300 boys attending the camp and 25 girls with six girls coming back from year as honor campers. There are also boy honor campers who returned. At the close of this year's Minnesota state fair there will be six girls chosen as honor campers and a number of boys. They are all selected by the campers themselves.

At assembly, Saturday afternoon, the honor campers of 1958 were presented with a pin and ribbon and named honor captains. Milton Leiran of Silverton 4-H returned a honor camper from last year. We are all very proud of him.

The girls at camp are divided into different sections to help prepare the meals quicker. The girls do not have to the same job every day because we are switched to different groups each day. Some of the girls are waitresses, some help the cooks in the kitchen and others do dishes. It isn't all work and no play for we have time off between meals and each girl has one complete day off, during the fair, in which to do anything she would like.

Although the fair has been running only two days there is much to look forward to. The 4-H has invited all the campers to all their festivals at the 4-H building. The farm camp also has many events that the campers may attend.

Throughout the day and evening the campers have the privilege of attending the horse shows, car races and grandstand free.

As Girls and Boys campers attending the Minnesota state fair, we are all very proud to wear the Farm Camp ribbon.

Sincerely—Marie Breznay.

Nominees Listed for Committees under ASC Setup

The townships of Rockabury and Bray-Polk Centre have failed to make their report as of this date.

ASC community elections will be conducted by mail this year years. All eligible voters will be the same as in the past several mailed a ballot, a ballot envelope, the secretary's regulations and a self-addressed return envelope. Instructions on the reverse side of the ballot are believed to be sufficient to assist the voter in the proper completion and return of his ballot to the county ASC office.

It is suggested that voters complete the ballot and return it to the Pennington County ASC office in person or through the mail at their earliest convenience. Ballots delivered or postmarked after 12 midnight; September 30, 1959, are not eligible.

New Device to Be Used Locally to Detect Speeders

Operation of the device is simple and foolproof. Two steel tapes, barely visible at a close distance, are laid 25 feet apart across the roadway and connected with a 250-foot wire to the electronic recorder further up the road. The recorder is triggered into operation by a police officer and, if the vehicle crossing the tapes is exceeding the speed limit, a reflectorized stop sign is tilted down into the offender's view. At the same time, the speed which he was traveling is recorded on a dial and remains for his inspection.

Self-powered, the speed recorder does not require the use of a police car, making its presence less noticeable to motorists and freeing the car for other patrol duties.

Land O'Lakes "Butters-Up" Philadelphia

Land O'Lakes hit staid, old Philadelphia like a ton of butter. Sales boomed up 15% last year. And this fine butter is now handled by the top wholesalers and food chains.

There's no secret about the Land O'Lakes success story. Land O'Lakes is the only dairy marketing organization with the unique know-how needed to create a continuing selling program; a program of market-wide selling advertising and merchandising that has made Land O'Lakes the only nationally distributed brand of butter. And because we sell in more markets than anyone else, our dairymen have both an assured market and consistent returns.

OTHER END OF A GUN

By T. Miske

IT WAS Friday night—"payday night," the big day and night of the week. The "Poor Man's Stork Club" was packed and Tim Kelly, the middle-aged proprietor, was having his usual hard time shoo-ing the patrons out of his tavern. He had a system, though, for Kelly wasn't as dumb as he looked. He usually stopped intoxicants at 12:30 and then by 1 A.M., closed the cafe.

Things weren't working out just right though tonight. Kelly eyed the one young, good-looking stranger who wouldn't budge but kept sitting on the bar stool sipping his beer as though he had all the time in the world.

He glanced back at Flo, his pretty young wife who was busy counting out the days receipts—quite a stack of money. Tim walked to the door and turned the key in the lock and glared at the irritating hanger-on. "Look, fellow, if you don't feel like going home—go anyway," he muttered. "For we do. My wife and I have had a busy day—we're tired and it's closing time."

The guy just sat there grinning insolently at him and then over at Flo.

Flo should have known better than to start counting the money while a stranger is here, Kelly thought.

"Okay, old man," the stranger murmured softly, but sharp and commanding, "this is a stick up! I want ALL the cash! Tell your pretty young wife to fork it over!"

Kelly gasped. Flo didn't seem to know what was going on—she bent lower over the money as she counted. Kelly thought it odd and very frightening, here in the empty tavern, to be standing looking into the blue steel muzzle of a gun.

"Give it to him, Flo," Kelly quavered.

Beads of perspiration poured down poor Kelly's fat face. Of all the stupid women—young and beautiful, but DUMB! Thought Kelly.

"Better tell your wife to stop horsin' around and hand over the dough, or I'll plug you!" the man barked, and Kelly knew he meant business. He looked like the killer type—and one that had a way with women, too. Too d—— good looking and cold and calculating.

"Give him the money, darn it!" Kelly shouted at Flo. "I'm looking at the other end of a gun!"

Flo looked up and took in the situation. She grinned wickedly at Kelly and at the holdup man. "Nope! He'll have to shoot ME first if he wants this money!" she retorted. "You better scram, Mister or I'll scream for help."

"You do and I'll plug him!" the hold-up man threatened.

Flo promptly screamed and the man fired at Kelly, but Kelly had ducked and then came up fast with a gun he kept underneath the bar—but the man, thinking the sound of the shot would bring the cops, ran for the door. Kelly went after him fast. "Flo," he called over his shoulder, "call the cops!"

The guy fumbled with the lock on the door and couldn't get out. Kelly sprang on him from behind and bore him crashing to the floor and twisted his gun from his hand, and then beat him into submissiveness. Suddenly, something warned Kelly, he whirled and ducked as a chair crashed down on the spot where he had been. Flo was standing there wild-eyed.

Then Kelly noticed how she looked down at the guy who was trying to get up off the floor. He grinned at her sardonically.

"I got the whole picture," Kelly said, "Git out—Both of you!"

BACK ON HIS FEET

By Roland Keeler

When Sam Potter was laid off his job because of the steel strike, he drove his car into his garage, closed the door and snapped the lock; then he said to his wife, "Mable, I can't afford to drive the car any more.

"It will do you good to walk," Mable said, grinning.

And walk Sam did. Ten blocks to the post office the next day. And ten blocks back home.

On the way home Sam met Milton Carpenter who wa puttering around in his front yard.

"Haven't seen you for quite a spell," Milton said. "Been thinking a lot about you and your family, too. How is it with you?"

Sam told Milton about his being laid off from work.

"If you hadn't walked by, I never would have known about it," Milton said.

About five blocks farther along his way, Nellie Hamilton spied him and called him over to the side door.

"I haven't seen you for such a long time, I hardly knew it was you," Nellie said. "How have you been, and how is Mable?"

"We're all fine," Sam replied.

"I've been wanting to send you some of my cottage cheese, but I haven't seen you," Nellie said.

"My mouth is already watering," Sam said. "Mable always said you made the best cottage cheese in the country."

"It has been a long time since we've seen you, even if we have lived close together," Nellie said. "But we stay close to home."

"We've been on the go a great deal of the time, but we'll be staying close to home now," Sam said. Now that I'm not driving."

"A person can get to depend a great deal on a car," Nellie said.

On the way home Sam felt good, although his day had not been especially unusual. He had renewed old acquaintances, and he had brought home some good cottage cheese.

"I'm so glad to get the cheese," Mable said, "and it was good to hear from Nellie again."

"I've got to find another job," Sam said.

The next day Sam returned the jar that belonged to Nellie.

"We certainly enjoyed that cheese," he said.

Then he walked on his way to see Milton.

"I've got to find a job to tide me over," Sam told Milton. "Have any ideas?"

Milton studied for a few minutes. Then a smile grew on his tan face. "If you think you could stand working for me, I can give you a part time job."

And so Sam started working a few hours each week for Milton. It helped, but he still needed a bit more to tide him over till he could get his old job back.

And then the idea struck him like a bolt from heaven as he was walking by Nellie's place. If everyone else liked her cottage cheese as much as he and Mable—he hurried to her door.

"How much cheese can you make?" Sam asked Nellie.

"You sound like you're in a hurry," Nellie said, smiling. "I can get all the milk I want from my brother's farm."

"That's it," Sam said. "I'll start a cottage cheese route. I'll make a profit, and you will too."

"Sounds good to me," Nellie said. "When shall we start?"

"Tomorrow," Sam agreed.

That coming Sunday when Mable and Sam started out walking to church, Sam said, "I've never felt so good in my life."

Mable smiled. "That's because you've started walking again. You're back on your feet."

Gourds

It's generally a good idea to leave gourds on the vines until after a light frost. Mature fruits should be cut off with the stems attached. Often the fingernail test is used to determine the hardness of the skin. However, taking off a bit of the skin with the fingernail may blemish an underripe gourd and destroy its future ornamental value.

After harvesting the fruits, wash them with soapy water and rinse in clean water to which you've added a household disinfectant. The disinfectant will help control the organisms that often cling to the shell.

Next spread the gourds out on several layers of newspaper in a warm, dry place to allow evaporation of the surface moisture, to let the skin harden and to set the color. This process usually takes about a week, during which time the fruits should be rotated frequently so they will dry uniformly.

The curing process is completed by wiping the gourds clean and placing them in a warm, dry but dark room for three to four more weeks.

After the gourds are cured, you may want to give them a coat of wax, shellac or varnish. Several applications of water-base wax, each followed by a brushing with a soft cloth, will accentuate the natural color and produce a slight gloss. The waxing is an inexpensive treatment that dries within a few minutes.

Prowlers to Open '59 Football Play Sept. 7

Coach Joe Mrkonich's football Prowlers will begin play on their nine-game 1959 schedule Monday night when, with the kickoff slated for 8 p.m., they meet the Warren Ponies on Warren's Emery Johnson field.

For the past two weeks the Prowlers squad has engaged in two-a-day practice sessions in preparation for a season that includes games against such highly-ranked teams as the Moorhead Spuds, the Fergus Falls Otters, the Roseau Rams, the Crookston Pirates, the Detroit Lakes Lakers, the East Grand Forks Little Green Wave, and the Red Lake Falls Eagles, in addition to the Warren season-opener.

In last season's game between the Ponies and the Prowlers, the local squad scored a 33 to 7 win over a fine Warren team.

The Prowlers will play their first home game Friday night, Sept. 11, when they meet coach Rocky Elton's Fergus Falls Otters on the Lincoln high school athletic field.

Seeking Relics of Lake Agassiz Days

Anthropologists Making Study of Marshall County

You haven't noticed any trace of life 10,000 years ago lately, have you? If you have your information is needed. Three University of Minnesota anthropology students were in Marshall county Tuesday searching for evidences of human habitation in the Lake Agassiz area while the lake was still here. That would be 10,000 years ago.

The three, Don Boese, St. Paul, Douglas McKenzie, Minneapolis and George Meyer, Anoka, are working on a grant by the National Science Foundation through the University. They are investigating promising sites in which to dig for early evidences of life and if any are discovered they will be back next year to make the digging.

Any outward sign of a possible site such as skeletons, arrowheads, Indian pottery or other artifacts could give a good clue as to where to dig to find any evidences of pre-lake habitation.

Anyone who has such information is asked to write to Professor Eldon Johnson, Department of Anthropology, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis 14, Minnesota.

Ford to Introduce Falcon Car Oct. 8

New Car Weighs 1,400 lb. Less Than Standard Ford

Ford Motor company unveiled its new economy car, the Falcon, Wednesday, said it represented a "revolutionary breakthrough" in automotive design, and compared the significance of its introduction with those of the Model T and Model A.

The new car, to be on public display at Ford Division dealerships across the country starting October 8, will weigh 2,368 pounds compared with 3,758 pounds for the average 1959 Ford.

In an unprecedented 21-city news conference conducted by means of closed-circuit television, Henry Ford II, president, revealed that the Falcon is an all-new, six-passenger car with a six-cylinder, 90-horsepower, front-mounted engine capable of 30 miles to the gallon of gas.

Mr. Ford said the Falcon is three-quarters of a ton lighter than the Ford Fairlane, yet has passenger space comparable to standard cars, has a big-car feel, and has excellent structural rigidity and durability. This, he said, represents a significant engineering breakthrough that could "materially alter the future of the automotive industry."

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

The Football Campaign

The Prowlers, hoping to better the five wins and four losses posted by last season's squad, will begin their 1959 campaign on Monday night, Labor Day, with a game at Warren against the Ponies.

Last season's Prowler club marked up wins over Warren, 33 to 7, Red Lake Falls, 21 to 0, East Grand Forks, 28 to 6, Detroit Lakes, 26 to 0, and Bemidji, 20 to 14. The losses were by Fergus Falls, 20 to 0, Roseau, 32 to 13, Moorhead, 13 to 6, and Crookston, 12 to 7.

The same nine clubs are on this season's schedule, and it will take some doing if the 1959 Prowlers are to register a better record than last year's squad.

Moving into Monday night's game, the Prowlers will be favored to defeat the Warren Ponies. Both teams will be handicapped by the lack of experienced backfielders. The Prowlers, with Dale Wennberg at quarterback, Gary Klungness and Arlan Hjelle at halfbacks, and Larry Haugen at fullback, will field a brand new backfield. And 191-pound fullback, Lloyd Edgar, is the lone Warren backfielder who started against the Prowlers in last season's game.

Other Warren lettermen who will face the Prowlers are Terry Black, Bill Bossman, Ned Munger, Loren Knutson, Duane Yeado and Bill Gilbert. Yeado and Gilbert earned letters as backfielders, while Black, Bossman, Knutson and Munger were linemen.

On Monday night the Prowlers will be making an effort to extend the winning streak over Warren to 21 games. Not since 1924 have the Ponies succeeded in besting the Prowlers in football. We can recall when, as a small boy we were taken to Fair Grounds to witness that game and we watched Warren's Mally Anderson run thru and around and over such Prowler stalwarts as Roy (Club) Langevin, Walt Larson, Lloyd Bennes, Cliff Bjorkman, and others for three touchdowns and a 20 to 0 win. The football field in those days was at the Fair Grounds, with the gridiron running east and west over what is now the outfield of the baseball diamond.

It wasn't surprising that Anderson should have a "big" day against the Prowlers, for the chunky Warren speedster was a touchdown threat whenever he carried the ball. He later played college ball at Concordia, and he provided the Cobbler opponents with plenty of problems.

Hamm's vs. All-Stars Tuesday

With the playing field rain-soaked and the weather posing a threat of more rain, the Hamm's Beer vs. All-Stars softball game that was to have been played on the East Side diamond Thursday evening, was forced into a postponement. The game, and the other ceremonies that were to have been held, has been rescheduled for Tuesday evening, with play-ball time slated for 6 p.m.

The postponement should benefit the Hamm's Beer squad, the city league champions, for it is expected that catcher Freddy Dablow will be available for Tuesday's tilt. Fred is a valued member of the Hamm's double-barrelled southpaw batting attack, following first baseman Glenn Carlson in the Hamm's batting order. Glenn and Fred have an attractive target when they take their left-handed swings, for they are aiming their base-hits at the tennis courts in right field.

This four-day postponement should be of benefit to the umpires — Shorty O'Hara, Elmer Poole and Dr. Orlon Belch — for it will give the three an opportunity to read the rule book. The game, and the rules, have changed considerably since the days when Shorty and Elmer were "active" players.

Phil to Augsburg

Coach Edor Nelson of Augsburg college must have been pleased this week when Phil Hanson, co-captain of the Prowler football and basketball squads last season, reported for football practice.

Phil, a rangy six-foot three-inch all-round athlete with tremendous college potential, should bolster the Augsburg college football, basketball, and baseball squads.

During his high school career, Phil was a T-formation quarterback in football, a forward in basketball, and a first baseman in baseball.

While Phil should make the Augsburg football, basketball, and baseball squad, we believe that his "big" sport will be in basketball. During his past seasons with the Prowlers, Phil rolled up a total of 626 points, having a 229-point season as a junior, and a 327-point season as a senior. It's all up to Phil, and he can make himself a college career.

For the Record

We wish to make a brief note to the effect that in a challenge race of 100 yards, more or less, held on the East Side park a short while ago, Arvid (Louie) Wedul gained the decision over Frank Barzen.

The two boys were teammates on the Prowler football squads in 1953 and 1954; and during those years, and until this recent race, Wedul was unable to beat Barzen in a foot-race.

The record is different now, and the county historical records will show that while Frank Barzen is fast, Louie Wedul is faster.

New Princess Kay Chosen Wednesday

Betty Jax of Adams, Minn., to Get $500 Scholarship

State fair visitors enjoyed a bonus treat Wednesday night in front of the grandstand when they sat in on the coronation of a new Princess Kay of the Milky Way in addition to the regular show.

She is Betty Jax, an 18-year-old brunette from Adams in Mower county. Picked from a field of 10 regional candidates, she now will compete in the National Dairy Princess competition Oct. 27-30 at Scottsdale, Ariz.

Crowning her was her predecessor, Miss Diane Schroeder of Rindal in Polk county.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sophronius Jax, Betty, also will receive a $500 college scholarship and a regular salary while making some 500 personal appearances during the next year. She is 5-foot-6½ and weighs 132 pounds.

Runner-ups in the state contest and named as Betty's attendants were the Misses Delphine Ittel, 17, from Waconia in Carver county, and Janice Marie McIntire, 19, who lives at Hewitt, in Todd county.

Although offshore wells accounted for only 2 per cent of the total domestic footage drilled, offshore drilling expenditures made up about 7 per cent of the U.S. oil industry's total expenditures for oil-well drilling in 1956.

"We Simply Wouldn't Do Without Our Extension Phones!"
Says Mrs. Neil Stone, 415 Arnold Ave. S.

Janet and the other Stone teenagers are enthusiastic about their upstairs extension!

ABOVE: Mrs. Stone never has to "fly for the fone"—her kitchen phone is always handy and is used more than the other two extensions. Here she calls in a grocery order.

RIGHT: Mr. Stone's radio repair business means night calls — but with a night stand extension he never has to fumble getting to the phone on a night call! It's a matter of lifting the receiver with an extension by the bed.

THE NEIL STONE FAMILY ENJOYS ADEQUATE PHONE SERVICE — SO WILL YOUR FAMILY!

There's always a phone within easy reach at the Neil Stone home. The Stones decided one telephone in the house simply wasn't enough — so they had extensions to match room colors put in the kitchen, main bedroom and upstairs hallway. Now they simply couldn't do without extensions in their working, sleeping and living zones! Mrs. Stone's kitchen phone is used many times daily and Mr. Stone, who is the proprietor of Stone's Mobile Radio Service and also works on the highway patrol communications system, finds it so much easier to reach for the extension at his bedside to take night calls, than to make a sleepy dash for a phone somewhere else in the house. YOU TOO, can enjoy extension phones in the "tele-zones" in your home — DIAL MU 1-3031 and have them installed TODAY!

Area Development Clinic Scheduled at New Ulm Sept. 17

J. Cameron Thomson of Minneapolis to Be Chief Speaker with Governor

J. Cameron Thomson, chief sponsor and moving spirit of the Upper Midwest Research and Development Council, will outline the massive project that group is undertaking on Thursday evening, Sept. 17, at New Ulm, Minn. The occasion will be the previously announced Minnesota Industrial Development Clinic which is set for September 17 and 18 at New Ulm.

The Upper Midwest Research and Development Council is conducting what is probably the most ambitious area development project of its kind ever initiated by private capital in this or any other nation. Over a half million dollars is being applied to it. The University of Minnesota and other educational institutions are involved as well as the major business enterprises operating in the Upper Midwest.

This is, however, not a regional effort only. The national offices of the C.E.D. (Council for Economic Development) are furnishing much of the capital required and will assist in publicizing the results attained.

The public is invited and reservations for this event are to be made through the State Department of Business Development.

'Terraceville' Set for Sept. 18 and 19

Former 'Plowville' Event Slated Near Montevideo

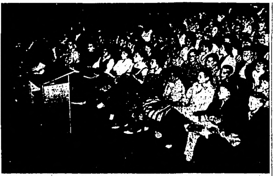
Senator George D. Aiken of Vermont, Senator Hubert H. Humphrey and Governor Orville L. Freeman, Minnesota, and Carl T. Rowan, Minneapolis Tribune staff writer, plus an old time threshing demonstration, will be featured at "Terraceville" in Lac qui Parle county Friday and Saturday, Sept. 18-19.

"Terraceville" is the annual Field Days sponsored by the Minnesota Association of Soil Conservation Districts. The event was formerly known as "Plowville."

Governor Freeman will open the activities at 9 a.m. Friday, Sept. 18. His opening greeting will be followed by an unusual threshing demonstration featuring an 1890 machine owned by C. E. Gilbert of Stillwater. Powered by 12 oxen, this machine makes its first Minnesota appearance on this occasion; the demonstration will be repeated at 9:30 Saturday morning.

Wagon train tours of soil and water conservation practices will be continuous throughout the day, including special tours for women. An air tour over the Terraceville area and surrounding country will originate near by.

Terraceville is located in east central Lac qui Parle county, west central Minnesota. It is 15 miles by well marked highway northwest of Montevideo, the same distance east of Madison, the same northeast from Dawson. Road signs and arrows will direct visitors to Terraceville from well marked highways 7 and 59, 40, 75, and 212.



WELCOME Mark Anderson, left, served as master of ceremonies at the orientation of seventh grade students in the Lincoln high school auditorium Friday morning, Sept. 4. In addition to talks by school officials, the assignment of lockers and an introduction to the physical plant, the students also listened to talks by their classmates on proper modes of dress and behavior and skits on school activities.

Russian Language Taught at Bemidji

College to Offer Courses to Beginners This Fall

Russian language courses will be offered at Bemidji State college this fall, with classes for beginners starting the fall quarter and advanced classes organized as the demand for them grows, Dr. Philip Sauer, head of the BSC division of languages and literature, announced recently.

The courses will be taught by Henry Dyck, a native of Russia who received the first eight years of his education in Russian schools. He came to the United States at the age of 17 and since then has continued the study of his native tongue primarily at the University of Pennsylvania, where the teaching of Russian is a specialty.

In commenting on the need for Russian language study, Mr. Dyck said the cold war and the rapidity and ease of modern travel has forced us to live "next door" to the Russians. We are therefore compelled to communicate with them and if we are to deal with them intelligently we must know their language.

President Sustained

By a one-vote margin the House has sustained President Eisenhower's veto of the pork barrel public works bill. All Minnesota Republican members voted against repassing the measure and one Minnesota Democrat, Fred Marshall, went along with them.

Congress still has time to act favorably on a bill that would provide funds for deserving projects, but politicians do not take kindly to the idea of denying themselves a slice of fat. Democratic leaders are now talking of packing the pork into the foreign aid bill, which President Eisenhower regards as vital.

For voting to sustain the President's veto Congressman Fred Marshall deserves a special pat on the back. By his vote he placed the public interest ahead of party loyalty and in this instance that required courage as well as integrity.

Prospect Brightens

The nation's labor picture brightened a bit during the past week as threatened walkouts were averted in three major industries. As strike deadlines neared, agreements were reached in rubber, glass and, in part as least, in meat packing.

These walkouts would have idled 100,000 workers, it is estimated, and the adverse effects would have extended into many other activities. The steel strike, now nearly two months old, has resulted in the idling of 150,000 workers in allied industries besides the half-a-million steel workers who are off the payroll.

The fact that settlement was reached in three important industries without walkouts is encouraging.

Uncle Owes Us Nothing

President Eisenhower signed into law a new veterans pension bill that will extend to World War II and Korean war veterans the benefits that had previously been granted to the veterans of World War I, and that is proper. The new law will limit benefits to all veterans, and their dependents, going on the pension rolls in the future, by a need factor, using a sliding scale based on income limits. No reasonable person will take exception to such a change.

Extending the pension benefits to veterans of late wars will cost an additional $22 billion by the turn of the century, it is estimated. Limiting the pension payments by a need factor will reduce the overall cost $12 billion. The net cost increase therefore will be $10 billion over a period of the next 40 years.

There are reasonable doubts as to the justification for any blanket pensions for those who have served in the armed forces. No one will quarrel with the idea of compensation for the disabled and their dependents. That is an obligation we must meet ungrudgingly. But pensions, as such, probably should go to veterans on the basis of length of service, as a form of social security. The professional soldier is entitled to social security on the same basis as any other worker and we have no objection to that being called a pension.

But military service for civilian soldiers should be classified much the same as jury service. It should be looked upon as one of the responsibilities of citizenship, a duty we all must be willing to perform, according to our respective capacities, as the need exists.

Looking forward to future wars, we may have a few small eruptions that will call for police action. The service of those who are called upon to maintain order in such limited actions should be compensated as policemen and firemen and others who do hazardous work for us.

But if we have an all-out war this business of being a soldier isn't going to be much more hazardous than being a civilian. Under such a condition we would all be in the armed forces. We would all lose our liberty for the time being. The free enterprise system probably would be put on the shelf. There would be no profits and we would have government from the top down.

The immediate problem then would not be freedom. It would be survival, and a really big problem of the survivors would be to provide for the disabled. Our guess is that at the end of the next big war there will be no select group that will make demands for pensions merely because they have survived. Those who survive without disability will be very happy. Those of us who survived past wars without disability have no reason to complain. Uncle Sam owes us nothing.

To 'Ee' or Not to 'Ee'

(Christian Science Monitor)

Ever zealously alert to help solve Hollywood's etymological problems, we address ourselves to a question which M-G-M's publicity department assures us is being "mulled" by Producer Lawrence Weingarten. M-G-M thoughtfully adds that Mr. Weingarten is filming "The Gazebo," a mystery-comedy about a summer house, starring Glenn Ford and Debbie Reynolds.

We quote M-G-M:

"Gazebo is actually pronounced gazeebo, but since gazebo is pronounced by some as gazaybo, and even a few as gaze-bo, Weingarten is contemplating the addition of another 'e'—to make it gazeebo—so there will be no confusion that gazebo is pronounced gazeebo."

We are happy to dispel the confusion and allow Mr. Weingarten to exercise his contemplative powers on other more pressing matters. A gazebo (not to be mistaken for gazabo: "an eccentric or gawky person") is defined by Webster as "a turret on a roof, or a summer house." Webster feels the word was probably formed humorously from "gaze."

Now comes our good news for Weingarten. The Oxford Dictionary editors give "gazeebo" as a second spelling for "gazebo"—adding one of those dictionary doodles signifying that "gazeebo" is obsolete. If Mr. Weingarten is willing to live dangerously and risk being snubbed in higher etymological circles, he has his title.

Next question.

REPORT from the GOVERNOR

by Orville L. Freeman

As Minnesota children go back to school this week their parents are likely to give special attention to the services the schools provide. As parents we want to be assured that our children are happy in school, that they have good teachers, that they have good buildings and adequate classrooms and that their courses of study will provide each one of them with the kind of education most suitable to his abilities and needs.

Special Education

Special education is a term we apply to efforts to provide education thta is especially adapted to the needs of children for whom the usual and general best suited to their individual program is not enough or is not needs. In this kind of effort Minnesota is making great progress.

Legislative Encouragement

Two years ago we secured legislation to encourage school districts to provide special, total educational programs for handicapedp children. A part of this encouragement was state reimbursement to local districts for the extra expenditures required. A part was the provision of a Special Education Director and three consultants in the state department of education. Our schools are now required to provide special training for retarded children.

Results Apparent

The number of handicapped children who last year received special education was 18,061, which represents a 26 per cent increase over the previous year. Moreover, these special opportunities were widespread throughout the state. There were last year 62 counties in Minnesota that provided one or more special education programs, whereas only 40 counties had such programs in the previous year.

Speech Correction

Nearly ten thousand public school students, more than half of the total number receiving special education, benefitted from special programs for speech correction, an increase of 25 per cent. Sixty-two per cent more of Minnesota's school districts now provide special help for pupils with speech handicaps. Almost all of the new programs were outside of the metropolitan areas.

Assistance to children with speech handicaps is of immeasurable value to the children involved. And because, even with last year's gains, speech correction service is offered in only 29 of Minnesota's 87 counties, this field offers a big challenge.

Other Physical Handicaps

Other gains last year included a 7 per cent increase in the number of visually handicapped children who received special instruction and services, and a 20 per cent increase in the number of deaf or hard of hearing pupils who received special help.

There was also a 16 per cent increase in the number of special classes serving crippled children, and an 11 per cent increase in the number of children being served. Over 1800 Minnesota school children were enrolled in home or hospital school programs for the crippled.

Mentally Retarded

Very real gains were made in special education for retarded children. Twenty-three per cent more than the previous year, or a total of 4,681 children, received special training adapted to their needs.

A New Program

A new disability grouping now being served by the Minnesota program for handicapped children are the emotionally disturbed and socially maladjusted. During the past year much study and research has been made in this area, and a limited number of programs have been developed. In addition, such services as are provided by the school social worker and the school psychologist are included as an integral part of the program for these children.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Q—I am a veteran of World War Two and I never have used my GI loan privilege. Someone told me the other day that the time for applying for a loan is running short. How much time do I have in which to apply?

A—World War II veterans have until July 25, 1960 to apply for GI loans, and up to a year after that to close the deal.

Q—I'm confused about the term "Korea veteran". What are the official time limits that determine whether or not a former member of the armed forces is considered to be a veteran of the Korean conflict?

A—The Korean conflict, by official designation, extends from June 27, 1950 to January 31, 1955. Any veteran with all or part of his service between these two dates is considered a Korea veteran.

Q—As a veteran with a service-connected disability rated 50 percent I have been receiving extra compensation for a dependent daughter. Recently she passed age 18. Was I supposed to report this to VA?

A—Yes. As soon as your daughter reached age 18 she was no longer legally a dependent. VA is not permitted to pay you extra compensation for her, and money received for her after age 18 must be returned.

Q—I'm thinking of converting from my GI term insurance to a permanent plan. How many permanent plans are there to choose rmong?

A—There are six permanent GI insurance plans: Ordinary Life, 20-Year Payment, 30-Year Payment, 20 Year Endowment, Endowment at Age 60, Endowment at age 65. You may convert to any one of these plans, or a combination of them. Details at any VA office.

The early-day traveler arriving in town by stage coach or train could rent transportation from the local "livery stable" which was an important enterprise before the advent of the automobile. And, to the man driving a team or riding horseback, the livery stable was his "service station" with shelter, oats, hay and water available.

For the man in a hurry and traveling light, there would be a saddle horse for rent, 50 cents per day or he could get a horse and buggy for $1.00. The young man wishing to woo the local belle rented a "light team and carriage" if he was prosperous. There was considerable rivalry for the "sporty" rigs and the teams with lots of looks and spirit.

HOME Garden TIPS

C. GUSTAV HARD
ORRIN C. TURNQUIST
AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION SERVICE
UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA, ST. PAUL 1, MINN.

The Flower Border

Renovating the flower border often is easier in the fall than in the spring because there is more time available to make the proper soil preparation. If during the summer the garden has been unsatisfactory, the soil can be reworked and improved for the next year's flowers while the failures are still fresh in mind. Usually during the fall of the year the soil is easier to prepare because in spring the soil often has very high moisture and cannot be worked until late in the season.

It is not necessary to rework the entire border at one time. Usually, it is less tiring and just as practical to take one half or one third of the border each year and renovate it.

The first step in renovation is to remove all of the flowering plants and bulbs. The plants can be heeled in temporarily in another section of the garden and the bulbs can be left out of the soil temporarily.

After the garden is cleared, the renovation can begin. Organic matter should be reincorporated into the soil. Good source of organic matter include compost, well rotted barnyard manures, leaf mold, commercial peat and sawdust. Apply fertilizer at the rate of about 4-5 pounds of a complete fertilizer such as 10-10-10 for each 100 square feet of garden area.

Work the soil to a depth of approximately 18 inches. This is to give consideration to the deep-rooted plants such as peony, as well as the shallow-rooted perennials such as iris.

Now would be the time to add such new flowers as the spring-flowering bulbs, peonies and bleeding heart. Chrysanthemums can still be planted during September. Often, the nurserymen will sell blossoming plants directly from the field. These can be planted directly into the garden and will continue to bloom this fall.

After all the plants are relocated in the border, water them thoroughly. Be sure to continue watering until frost this season.

Our LAND

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

Contour strips, terraces and fertilizer have doubled corn and oats yields for Leonard Hanson, Sauk Rapids farmer, since 1956. Three years ago, his farm was washing seriously and some fields had so many gullies he couldn't farm them. Silt was filling roads and drainage ditches. So with SCS help in April, 1957, he laid out 38 acres of contour strips in 1957, 18 in 1958 and 22 this spring. Then he poured on lime and fertilizer. Yields have soared from 40 bushels corn and 25 bushels oats in 1956 to 80 bushels corn and 60 bushels oats last summer. Burton Olson, Benton county agent, says Hanson almost wishes he had more hilly land to put in strips.

After a 13-year battle with the problem, Roy Jerzak, farmer in the Lincoln county soil conservation district, this spring took care of his livestock watering situation. He did it with a farm pond, 60 feet wide, 120 feet long and 12 feet deep. According to Howard Stevermer, SCS technician, the pond holds nearly a third of a million gallons.

Terraces and contour strips may mean a little extra work, but Taylor Wheaton near Caledonia says they're worth it. Wheaton, cooperator in the Root River soil conservation district, recently put in more than a mile of parallel field terraces, and built a one-acre sod waterway outlet for the system. He also has 43 acres of contour stripping and has a rotation of corn, grain and two years of hay. The terraces, (95 acres worth) are in a 6-year rotation of 3 years corn, 1 year grain and 2 of hay.

With corn picking not far ahead, better take a safety tip from Earl Dixon, Wright county farmer. He's an authority on the subject: he lost his left hand in 1951 while cleaning out the trash rolls of a picker without first stopping the machine. "It all could have been prevented," he said. "If I had stopped the picker before getting my hands near those rolls."

A cleaner community is up to you — and it's as easy as 1-2-3. 1) Don't litter streets and sidewalks. 2) Don't put sidewalk sweepings in the street. 3) Don't throw trash from cars.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare

Handy Man and Happy Child

The weather's fine, the day is hot, mother's tired—and the kids are looking for something to do. Indoor playthings are of no appeal right now the tricycle and wagon have lost enough of their attraction so that they no longer entertain for hours at a time. What next?

Is there a handy man in the house? Well, is there a man in the house? Most men can become surprisingly handy with simple tools under the right conditions. Building some simple outdoor play equipment for your children can save a great deal of money and provide lasting play interest which can make your yard a real attraction for your children and their friends. And the process of building and assembling the equipment can be of great interest and value if the children can be somewhat "in" on the planning and doing.

Such outdoor projects can be strictly adapted to the capacities and energy of the parents. It's been common observation that a few sturdy packing cases with protruding nails removed and splintery edges sanded down can be combined with a few light, strong planks to provide really endless play opportunities for young children. Some large "blocks" made by nailing a lid on boxes, a couple of sturdy saw horses, and a barrel which has been carefully sanded added to this collection will provide a playground which might well be more attractive to your child than a much more elaborate, commercially stocked playground.

Larger gym equipment is not difficult to build for a man who has some familiarity of simple hand tools. Carpenter-like ability is by no means necessary. But it is necessary that such equipment be well designed and carefully built out of proper materials. An excellent pamphlet entitled "Home Play and Play Equipment for the Pre-School Child" which describes in detail how to go about this, and provides drawings and plans for many practical, simple, outdoor play pieces may be obtained for 15c from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.

To Name Seven Aldermen in City Election

Five from Wards and Two to Be Elected at Large November 3rd

Thief River Falls will have a seven-member council starting next January, the number to be increased from the present total of six at the regular election to be held Tuesday, November 3. Five of them will be chosen by wards and two at large.

Under the new ward arrangement adopted by the council in May, the major change will be on the East Side where the old fourth has been divided into two wards. The new fifth ward will include all of the East Side east of Crocker av. and the new fourth will include all of the city lying between Crocker and Pennington.

The old third ward will be extended north to fourth street instead to second and will be limited east of the river by Pennington av. Main av. will still divide the first and second wards, and they will lose two blocks on the south end to the third ward.

The rearrangement will not affect the present members of the council but none of the present members is resident of the new fifth, leaving that wide open for new candidates.

The council has not taken action on the question of polling places. At the time the new ward arrangement was adopted some consideration was given to suggested possible facilities in each ward that might be used. There is also the possibility that the old arrangement of placing all the voting booths in the Auditorium may be continued. This matter may be disposed of by he council at its regular session to be held Tuesday night.

County Board to Consider P.P. Tax Problem Tuesday

Auditor Doubtful that Solution Without Much Confusion Can be Found

County board members may spend considerable time discussing the personal property tax on household goods at their regular meeting next Tuesday, but County Auditor C. W. Rodekuhr seems to be quite certain they will take no action that will make this problem of spreading this tax levy less confused. He has come to this conclusion because he is satisfied that there is no way to make it less confusing.

The confusion arises from the fact that the legislature, in discontinuing the personal property tax on household goods for state purposes, made the tax for local purposes optional in each county. A study sponsored by the county boards of six northwestern Minnesota counties indicated some differences of opinion but resulted in a recommendation that the tax be continued. Overlapping of school districts, and in some instances other tax units, makes the confusion unavoidable.

The program is further complicated, Mr. Rodekuhr says, because in amending the law the legislature provided that any householder could use the $100 exemption in the assessed valuation on household goods in part or in whole to 3-D property, which include some livestock and farm machinery. The bookkeeping difficulties in spreading the levies under such conditions are very involved, he stated.

At the meeting next week the board probably will act on three ditch bond issues totaling $54,000. These are mainly for repairs but also provide for a new outlet for several ditches east of Highlanding.

Some of the best cowboys in the profession are entered here this year. Among the many contestants will be Alvin Tescher of Sentinel Butte, N. D., one of the famous Tescher brothers trio. Enrollment at Area School is Up to New High

First Day Attendance of Post High School Students Exceeds 200

The fall term of the Area Vocational school started on Tuesday with a record-breaking opening day attendance of 201 post high school students. This figure shows a big increase over attendance figures for previous years the first day total for 1950 being 158 and 61 in 1957. Twenty high school students were also in attendance on a half-day basis.

Additional students will be in attendance as soon as major farm work is completed in the area. It is anticipated that this additional enrollment will correspond with the completion of ther airport shop at which time the school will operate at full capacity.

Enrollment by departments is as follows: Auto Mechanics, 24 full time and 14 half time; Electronics, 19 full time and 3 half time; Carpentry, 14 full time and 3 half time; Cosmetology, 40; Business, 39; Nursing, 26; Auto Body Repair, 18; Aviation Mechanics, 17; and Welding, 5.

Applications for enrollment in Electronics and Welding are still being accepted with immediate openings available in Electronics.

School Board Makes Offer in Wage Dispute

Approve Contracts for Three New Members of Teaching Staff

At a regular meeting of the school board Tuesday night a counter proposal to a wage scale asked by custodial employees was agreed upon. This would provide for a five cents an hour wage increase and a forty hour week with a guarantee of 44 hours a week during the 38 weeks of the school year. The present schedule calls for a 44-hour week and under the terms of the contract offered by the board the four hours would draw time and one-half pay.

No action was taken on a proposal for two pay days a month and an extra holiday, the Friday following Thanksgiving. The board would not consent to a payroll deduction plan for the collection of union dues.

Garage mechanics were offered $10 a month pay increases and a 40 hour week but with no overtime pay.

Teacher contracts were approved for John Ziegler, guidance counselor; Gerald Wigness, business education, and George Schlieff, assistant hockey coach and math and social studies teaching assignments. The resignation of Cal Bradley, business education instructor, was accepted.

The board adopted as a matter of policy a rule that teachers will not be released from contracts after July 1 from now on, unless satisfactory replacement has been assured, the cost of such replacement to be paid by the released teacher.

The collateral offers of the local banks as deposit guarantees were accepted.

Community Schools Now In Production

FIRST DAY To most of the 221 kindergarten pupils who attended school Tuesday, Sept. 8, for the first time, it was a long-awaited and joyful experience. Not so for Douglas Donarski, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Donarski, 940 Tindolph ave. S., shown here with his mother. The youngster strenuously objected to his room assignment at Knox school and registered his disapproval of being separated from a friend in the other room with this expression which later became more vocal. Fifty-four kindergartners registered at Washington, 59 at Washington and, at Knox, two rooms were necessary to provide space for the 108 new pupils. The total of 221 kindergarten pupils is 20 more than registered in 1958.

Thief River Falls Enrollment First Day Was Over 2,600

One of the area's biggest industries is now back in production. A few of the area schools opened on the first day of September but in most instances the summer vacation included the Labor Day week-end with the schools opening Tuesday, September 3. Here in Thief River Falls the fall term started this week and the first day enrollment figures reached a new high.

First day attendance in the Thief River Falls public schools, including the Area Vocational school, was 2,642, an increase of 84 over the first day figure of a year ago. The opening day total in 1958 was 2,558 and in 1957 2,378. The biggest gain has been in the Area Vocational School.

Senior high school first day attendance increased 12, from 1,070 to 1,082. In the elementary grades the attendance went up 44 from 1,314 to 1,358, most of this gain being in the kindergarten classes and this was due to a lowering of the admission age. This year's kindergarten attendance was 224 compared to 201 last year.

The opening proceded on schedule according to Superintendent Irwin Mickelson, with all of the staff present, and the education mill is now operating smoothly. There is only one vacancy on the faculty staff, a combination teaching assignment for high school and vocational school math.

First day attendance in St. Bernard's parochial school in Thief River Falls was down slightly from a year ago, the difference being in the first grade class. Sister Hyacinthe, principal, accounted for this by the change in admission age last year. The total this year was 180.

H. A. Budahl, principal of the St. Hilaire school, reports an opening day attendance of 210, about the same as a year ago.

The Middle River school shows a gain in enrollment with 139 attending in the elementary classes the first day and 151 in the high school.

Newfolden first day attendance was up 5 from the previous year, a gain of 1 in the elementary grades and 4 in the high school. The school total was 369.

First day attendance was down slightly at Goodridge. There were 143 in the grades and 211 in the high school, 17 less than last year's total.

The Plummer school enrollment went up slightly with 139 pupils in grades 1 thru 6 and 148 in grades 7 thru 12.

11th Annual Purebred Ram Sale Is Slated at Fair Grounds Monday

The 11th annual purebred ram sale scheduled for Monday, Sept. 14, will be held in the new livestock pavilion at the fair grounds at Thief River Falls. Consigned for the sale are over 50 high quality rams in four breeds. They are Hampshire, Suffolk, Shropshire and Columbias.

The sale will start at 1 p.m. It will be preceded by judging of the rams in the morning. Any rams not meeting the high standard for rams set by the directors will be culled out by the judges.

Judging the rams will be Robert Jacobs, extension livestock specialist at the University of Minnesota. Jacobs is recognized as a leading authority on sheep production and has worked closely with all of the meat-livestock producers. He will be associated with Carl Spong of the Central Livestock association of Fargo.

A banquet for the consignors will be held Sunday evening at the Rex Cafe in Thief River Falls. Claude Ebling, agricultural agent for the Soo Line, will be the guest speaker.

The ram sale this year has been shifted to September 14 instead of early October to accommodate breeders who are planning for earlier lambing, a current trend in sheep production to capitalize on the stronger spring and summer lamb prices.

The ram sale has generally

R. Beiswenger Wins $50 Prize

Russell Beiswenger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Beiswenger of Smiley township, received a $50 cash award yesterday for submitting a winning picture in a nation-wide farm photo contest sponsored by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. The purpose of the contest was to stimulate the spreading of ideas for doing things easier or quicker on the farm. Beiswenger's idea had to do with a simplified gate latch.

The presentation of the check was made by Charles Smith, proprietor of Charlies Tire Service, local Goodyear dealer. Announcement of the award had been made by L. H. Russell is one of three winners who will be featured in the company's farm magazine. He is a senior at Lincoln High School.

3 Visitors Suffer Bacterial Poisoning

Three of a party of five men who flew into Thief River Falls to inspect the new Land O'Lakes turkey processing plant Tuesday, suffered attacks of bacterial poisoning shortly after their arrival. The three had eaten the same kind of sandwiches at the Minneapolis-St. Paul airport before boarding the North Central plane and Dr. George Martin, who treated them, stated that this food probably had been the source of their trouble.

The party included Ted Christgau, Land O'Lakes supervisor of branch plants, and Phil Thompson of Kansas City, sales manager of the Gordon Johnson Company, the manufacturer of much of the plant equipment. With him were two company salesmen and a plant owner from Ft. Smith, Louisiana, who was interested in seeing the local plant in operation.

Four of the visitors returned on yesterday's afternoon flight and the fifth is scheduled to leave today, all in good condition.

'Web' Maves Wins Car Awarded by Company for Superior Service

W. G. Maves, operator of Maves' Standard Service at Main ave. N. and Second st., was presented with a 1959 Ford Ranch Wagon as a winner in a service contest being conducted in the company's three-state northwestern division of Minnesota and North and South Dakota which includes 2,600 dealers.

During a five-month period from May through September, one station wagon was given away each month in the competition between dealers to provide superior facilities and outstanding service. Winners were chosen by mystery drivers who stopped at Standard stations for service.

These drivers replaced their regular oil dipsticks with gold colored dipsticks from time to time. If the dealer or one of his assistants rendered complete service according to prescribed list, the appearance and cleanliness of the station and personnel was acceptable and the attendant discovered the gold dipstick while checking the oil level, the dealer was declared a winner and was awarded the fully-equipped station wagon.

The presentation was made Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 10, at Maves' Standard Service by R. L. Coates, northwestern regional marketing manager for the company, who made the trip from Minneapolis to make the award to Maves.

Also sharing in the award was Elmer L. Seabloom, 301 Maple ave. S., district sales representative for Standard, who was awarded a $500 savings bond by A. K. Reed of Duluth, district manager for Standard. Seabloom's award was for his efforts in properly training the winning dealer and his employes in the service procedure.

Advance Ticket Sale to Be Conducted; Several Prize Contests Planned

Arrangements for the open house and flight breakfast at the municipal airport September 27 continued at a fairly rapid pace this week. According to Orin Meltz, Jaycees breakfast flight chairman, an advance ticket sale to the breakfast will get under way in the near future.

Financial arrangements for the open house were discussed at a meeting at the Rex cafe Monday afternoon. All organizations participating in and benefiting from the event will share in the expenses of staging it.

Named to conduct the model plane events was Stanley Pladson. All youths interested in demonstrating their prowess as model plane builders and flyers are urged to contact him before the open house. V. M. Draper will be in charge of contests for visiting and local pilots. These will be held in the morning and will consist of spot landing and flour bombing.

Other arrangements will be announced later as planning progresses. It is hoped this year's open house will be the most successful ever held at the local airport and no effort will be spared to make it well worth attending, the open house committee stated.

WINS $500 BOND Elmer L. Seabloom and his wife, 301 Maple ave. S., were the recipients of a $500 savings bond which Seabloom won for his effort in properly training W. G. Maves and his employes at Maves' Standard Service and other Standard dealers in the area for the All-American service contest in which Maves won a station wagon. The presentation was made by A. K. Reed, right, district manager for Standard from Duluth.

G. Forks Couple Critically Injured in Car-Train Crash

An elderly Grand Forks couple are still listed in critical condition in the Roseau hospital late this week after a Labor Day car-train collision at Badger about 3:55 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Roth, 66 and 65 respectively, both suffered fractured ribs and multiple lacerations in the crash, according to a Roseau physician.

The Roths were returning to Grand Forks from a northern Minnesota vacation when the accident occurred. A Great Northern train crewman reported the Roth car was the second in a string of three cars approaching the crossing at Badger. According to the trainman, the Roth car appeared to be attempting to pass the first car, which barely made it over the crossing. The Roth car didn't make it.

In another accident about 4 p.m. Tuesday, Russell C. Roepke, St. Paul, sustained back and hip injuries and cuts when the tank truck he was driving for Forestry Enterprise, St. Paul, overturned on a county road about six miles southeast of Argyle in Marshall county.

According to reports, Roepke was approaching another road and when he applied brakes the vehicle skidded a considerable distance before rolling over in the road, causing an estimated $1500-2000 damage to the truck. Roepke was hospitalized at Warren.

Postponed Highway Contracts Awarded

Several state trunk highway projects on which bids were opened late in July, but on which acceptance of low bids were delayed because of the uncertainty of federal aid grants, have now been approved, according to William LaFave, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce road committee, who talked to highway department officials Tuesday.

Jobs now authorized provide for base and bituminous surfacing from Newfolden to Strandquist and grading and bituminous base on a new portion of the shortcut route from Karlstad to Halma. The Karlstad to Halma construction was awarded to Moen Bros, Inc., of Moorhead, and calls for completion in 100 working days.

The base and bituminous surfacing from Newfolden to Strandquist was awarded to William Collins & Sons, Inc., of Fargo, to be completed in 80 working days. This contractor was also awarded the contract for bituminous surfacing on 21.9 miles on T.H. 89 from the junction with T.H. 11 in Roseau county to the south county line, to be completed in 70 working days.

Roy Benson & Son, of Stephen, was awarded the contract for eight miles of grading and gravel surfacing on T.H. 220 from six miles south of the north line of Marshall county to the junction with T.H. 11, west of Donaldson. Halstad Beats Bagley, Wins Regional Title

The Halstad Red Sox of the Norman-Polk league won the Region Two Class B baseball title Monday afternoon when they defeated the Bagley Merchants of the Northern Minny league, 13 to 8, in a fifth and deciding game in the tournament played at Bagley.

Halstad will participate in the state tournament which will be played in St. Cloud, and the Red Sox' first opponent in the Class B competition will be the highly-rated St. Joseph team of the Great Soo league and Region Twenty. Halstad will meet St. Joseph at 3:00 p.m. on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 12.

In Monday afternoon's title-deciding game, Halstad, trailing by an 8 to 6 score entering the top of the 9th inning, exploded for seven runs. Darrel Kaldor's double down the right-field foul-line, scoring three runs, was the Red Sox' "big" blow. Halstad added four runs later when, with the bases loaded, a fly ball off the bat of Al Coen squirted out of center-fielder LeRoy Riewer's glove and over the fence, with the runners coming around to score on the miscue.

Bagley, with Bill Lawrence leading the attack with two home runs, and lefty Jerry Daniels pitching with fair effectiveness (Daniels hit a home run in the 7th inning to give the Merchants an 8 to 6 lead), appeared to be in control of the game until the Halstad outburst in the 9th. Daniels hit Jerry Jevning with a pitched ball; Jerry Mehlisch was safe on a scratch hit, with the ball caroming off the umpire; and Alden Holte walked to load the bases. Kaldor then banged a two-bagger into the right-field corner, and Halstad moved into the lead.

Mehlisch, who relieved Halstad starter Al Santwire in the 8th inning, was the winner.

In earlier games in the tournament, Bagley scored an 11 to 0 win over Alvarado on Saturday night; on Sunday afternoon, Halstad eliminated Alvarado by scoring an 11 to 1 win; and on Sunday night Halstad defeated Bagley, 6 to 2.

Newfolden Opens Football Season at Warroad Friday

Jack Junker's Nordics Contenders for Crown In Northern Conference

Coach Jack Junker's Newfolden Nordics will open their 1959 football season on Friday, Sept. 11, when they meet the Warroad Warriors at Warroad. Last year the Nordics finished their season as runners-up to the Warroad club in the east half standings of the Northern Lights eight-man football conference. Warroad scored a 26 to 0 win over Newfolden last year, and it is expected that Rudy Bauker's Warriors will again prove to be a contender for the east half title.

The probable starting lineup, on offense, for the Nordics will reveal a forward line that averages 178 pounds per player. This line will have at the ends, Wendell Hagenbeck and James Swan; at tackles, Ernest Melvie and Wayne Bjornrud; and at center, Howard Davis. Operating behind this line will be a sturdy backfield composed of David Haug, quarterback, Lowell Halvorson and Darrell Bakke, halfbacks.

When queried about appearance of his squad during the practice sessions, coach Junker stated that he had never had more spirited practices, or with boys tackling and blocking with such vigor and enthusiasm, as this season. Coach Junker feels that the boys realize that the success of their season depends upon hard work ad determination.

With regard to the conference opposition, coach Junker tags Warroad as the team to beat for the east half Northern Lights conference title, with Middle River, Karlstad, and Lake Bronson as probable contenders.

The Nordics will be directed this season by tri-captains Lowell Halvorson, Wayne Bjornrud and Darrell Bakke.

THIS RACE LOST Two persons sustained injuries of a minor nature requiring hospitalization and two others escaped with bruises when a pick-up truck towing a stock car racer struck a motorcycle and then rolled over in a roadside ditch two miles east of Warren about 5:50 p.m. Monday.

According to the highway patrol, the truck, driven by James Leo Reese, 21, city, was attempting to pass a motorcycle ridden by John A. Solheim, 17, city, when the towed car began to sway and struck the cycle. The entire unit then went out of control, apparently, and rolled over in the ditch badly damaging the truck.

In the crash, Reese suffered a broken collarbone, cuts and bruises, while Loraine Sletten, 19, city, a passenger in the truck, suffered a sprained shoulder. Another passenger in the truck, Leo Gustafson, 21, also from this city, suffered minor bruises. Solheim was uninjured.

All the injured were taken to the Warren hospital. No charges have been filed to date, the highway patrol reported. Investigation is continuing. The vehicles were enroute to Thief River Falls, following stock car races in Warren Monday afternoon, when the mishap occurred.

Public Opinion

Dear Huck: Correction please!

In your column of Sept. 7th issue of the Times, you dug from the past, a game with Warren which you witnessed as a "small boy!"

The only stigma we, the "stalwarts" you mentioned who were in Prowler uniforms, suffered from reading this was your mention that "you witnessed this game as a "small boy." As we recall, this so-called "small boy" played a halfback position which made the defensive secondary practically nil as far as stopping the speed merchant Mally Anderson on his touchdown romps after breaking through a game bunch of linemen who averaged only 140 pounds.

We, however, forgive you Huck, because the impression you apparently got when Mally went by you made you FEEL like a small boy out there!

Sympathetically yours,

Reveal Canadian Duck Regulations

Fewer Birds May Now Be Taken out of Canada

Minnesota sportsmen planning trips to Canada this fall to hunt ducks, geese, and other migratory game birds must comply with certain requirements when bringing such birds into the United States, the Department of Interior informed the Minnesota conservation department today.

In announcing its migratory bird regulations for the 1959-60 season in Canada, the Canadian government reduced export limits on ducks. Formerly in the provinces of Alberta, British Columbia, Manitoba, and Saskatchewan, a person was permitted to export 25 ducks and 10 geese per season from each province.

This year, Canadian regulations permit the exportation by a person of only 20 ducks and 10 geese per season from each of the provinces mentioned. Last year, throughout the rest of Canada a person could export 16 ducks and 10 geese per calendar week from any province or territory. That limit has been reduced this year to 12 ducks and 10 geese per calendar week.

The numbers of migratory game birds permitted to be entered and transported by one person, either in a single shipment or by multiple shipments, is limited as follows:

From Province of Alberta, not to exceed 20 ducks and 10 geese per season; Province of Manitoba, 20 ducks and 10 geese per season; and Province of Saskatchewan, 20 ducks and 10 geese per season.

Of the 18 U.S. Navy ships which have disappeared without a trace since 1781, four were lost during the month of September, accounting for 612 men.

The U.S. Navy's new air-sea base at Rota, Spain, is only 40 miles from the tiny port of Palos from which Columbus sailed to discover the new world.

Hamm's Lose to All-Stars, 4-3, in Softball Final Game

Milt Reierson struck out the Hamm's power hitter, Glenn Carlson, with the bases loaded and two out in the last half of the 7th inning to give the league All-Stars a 4 to 3 win over the league champion Hamm's Beer club in an exciting softball game played on the East Side diamond Tuesday evening.

With the score knotted at 3-all entering the 7th inning, the All-Stars tallied their winning run when, with one out, Darrell Rude singled into center field. Rude pilfered second base. Reierson was out short to first, with Gene Leslie making a fine play on Reierson's bid for a hit, Rude advancing to third. Wally Gorvum hit a ground single past third base, scoring Rude with the game-winning tally.

The Hamm's made a desperate bid to score in their turn at bat in the 7th inning. Roy Pederson was retired on a fly ball to center; Dean Anderson punched a hit into right field; Jesse DuChamp, batting for big George Janssen, gained a "life" on John Drury's fumble of a ground ball; Jerry Stevens lifted a short fly to center field; Darryl Smith singled to center, but quick fielding by Rude held Anderson at third base. Carlson then whiffed to end the hectic inning.

Brr! Mercury Hits New Seasonal Low

Coldest Sept. 9 Reading Recorded in Past 8 Years

The lowest temperature reached on a Sept. 9 for the past eight years records have been kept, was reached this week when the mercury sagged to 32 degrees under cloudless skies.

The temperature, the lowest since last May 22 when 30 was recorded, sent householders to their yards and gardens to cover plants and shrubs to save them from frost for at least a few more weeks. No report of frost had been received this morning but there was little doub in anyone's mind that the hot, muggy weather was a thing of the past.

Fair weather through tomorrow has been predicted by the KTRF weather station with cool temperatures in store. Temperatures are not expected to be quite so low tonight and warmer weather is expected tomorrow.

The high for today should be from 58 to 68 and the low tonight from 32 to 40.

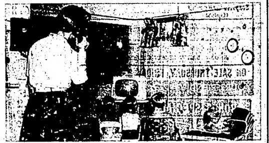
"We are very pleased — Our extension phones are SO HANDY!"

Says Mrs. Elmer Sandberg, 308 Maple Ave .S.



"The recreation room extension in our basement really is used a lot, both when I'm down doing the laundry and when we watch TV eve nings," Mrs. Sandberg relates. Here's a typical recreation room scene.

"Our bedside extension phone gives me a wonderful sense of security, especially when Mr. Sandberg is on an overnight business trip," says Mrs. Sandberg, enthusiastically. Above are two typical uses of both the bedroom extension and the conveniently-located hallway telephone in the Sandberg residence.

WHY FLY FOR THE FONE? YOU, TOO, CAN ENJOY THE CONVENIENCE OF ADEQUATE TELEPHONE SERVICE — at amazingly LOW COST!

Two facts stand out in our conversations with extension phone users in Thief River Falls. 1. ALL are highly enthusiastic about the convenience of ADEQUATE SERVICE. 2. NONE are concerned about the cost. This, we believe, shows that the few pennies per day cost above and beyond old-fashioned one-telephone service is so far over-shadowed by the convenience of having extensions in the living, working, sleeping and play zones that the cost isn't worth mentioning!

Prowlers Bridle Ponies; Meet Otters Here Friday

The Thief River Falls Prowlers, having a decided edge in height, weight, and manpower, scored a decisive 32 to 0 win over the Warren Ponies in a 31st district high school football game played at Warren on Monday night. Coach Joe Mrkonich's team scored three touchdowns in each of the first two periods to take a commanding 26 to 0 lead at the intermission, and then added another six-pointer in the fourth period for their 32 to 0 win. The game was the season-opener for the two teams.

On Friday night, with the kickoff at 8:00 P.M., the Prowlers will meet the Fergus Falls Otters on the Lincoln high school athletic field. In the series with the Otters, which started in 1956, Fergus Falls has racked up three successive wins, and the Prowlers will attempt to break that losing streak on Friday night.

Most of the solid football in Monday night's opener was played during the first half, with the locals moving the ball and controlling the play..

Warren, winning the toss and accepting the kickoff, failed to gain yardage in three plays, and Ned Munger was forced to kick, with the ball being downed on the Prowlers' 41-yard line. Gary Klungness, on the Prowlers' opening play from scrimmage, slashed through left tackle and raced to the Warren 8-yard line before being brought down. Dale Wennberg knifed through right guard to the 3-yard stripe, and then Peter Iverson drove over left guard for the touchdown. Iverson, on a plunge, failed to add the point.

Moments later, the Prowlers, from their 36-yard line, moved to the Warren 1-yard line in five plays, with Arlan Hjelle's 31-yard run, from the Warren 47-yard line to the 16-yard line, being the big gainer. Hjelle added six yards, and Wennberg moved the ball to the one-yard line. Iverson hit the line for a touchdown, but the play was nullified by a Prowler offside. With the ball on the 6-yard line, Hjelle skirted left end for the touchdown, and Wennberg added the conversion on a dive into the line, giving the Prowlers a 13 to 0 lead.

The locals opened the second quarter of play with a four-first-down march that was capped by Gary Klungness's 12-yard sweep out around left end for the TD. Wennberg failed to add the point.

Warren, on a fourth-down play deep in their own territory failed to get a kick off when the center heaved a high pass to Munger, yielded the ball to the Prowlers on the Pony 9-yard line. Two offside penalties and a fumble moved the Prowlers back to the 21-yard line. Steve Embury, playing at quarterback, came around left end on a roll-out and, getting a pair of fine blocks from Larry Haugen and Lloyd Ranum, sprinted down the south sideline to cross the west goal-line for a touchdown. Haugen gave the Prowlers a 26 to 0 lead when he crashed through right tackle for the point.

The second half of the game, given over to the reserves, was marred by numerous minor infractions, with offside and illegal procedure being the penalties most often flagged down by the officials, Warren Johnson, Andy Carey, and Glenn Gumila. The Prowlers, in the fourth period, did put together a sequence of plays that carried the ball from midfield to the Warren 6-yard line, from where right halfback Lloyd Ranum circled left end for a touchdown. Wennberg's sneak for the point failed, and the Prowlers point-total remained at 32 to 0.

Warren, with a squad composed mostly of juniors and sophomores, with a freshman or two in the lineup, failed to make a serious scoring threat.

In the first half of play, the Prowlers rolled up ten first downs, while Warren racked up one first down, that coming on a Bill Gilbert to Tom Howard lateral-pass that netted 22 yards.

In the second half, the Prowlers marked up eight first downs, and Warren tallied one first down.

They're Big and Rangy

With the exception of the backfield contingent, that 30-man squad of football Prowlers that coach Joe Mrkonich sent on the field in the season-opener against Warren on Monday night (and which was won by the locals, 32 to 0), was the rangiest and the heftiest to ever represent old Lincoln high.

There have been, of course, bigger and heavier individuals on former Prowler football squads, but the 1959 group has the finest over-all height and weight measurements.

Here's a recital of the individual heights and weights of the Prowlers: ends — Ron Hanson, 6-7½, 170; Peter Iverson, 5-11, 183; Don Ulferts, 6-½, 160; Benji Martin, 5-11, 165; Gary W. Anderson, 6, 172; Mel Stone, 5-8, 141; and Ken Leiran, 5-11½, 162; tackles — Wes Halvorson, 6-1, 186; Dennis Pederson, 6-1½, 190; Elton Hornseth, 6-2, 192; Gary Hanson, 6-2, 180; Tom Mehlhoff, 5-11, 165; Gary Odegaard, 5-10, 210; guards — Jeff Hartje, 5-9½, 165; Jim Wegge, 5-11, 171; Jack Goulet, 5-11, 183; Don Walders, 5-7, 150; Bruce Russell, 5-9½, 191; Gary D. Anderson, 5-10, 160; and Connely Dyrud, 5-10, 150; centers — Darrell Nelson, 6-1½, 165; and Ron Amundson, 5-7, 140; backfielders — Dale Wennberg, 5-7, 163; Steve Embury, 5-9½, 142; Gary Klungness, 5-9, 160; Arlan Hjelle, 5-11, 147; Larry Haugen, 5-7, 141; Lloyd Ranum, 5-9, 161; Neil Lofberg, 5-10, 155; and Jim Weckwerth, 5-10, 167.

Harvey Ebbighausen, a backfield man, and Chuck Rambeck, a lineman, will report for practices this week. These two boys won't lower the weight average.

Four of the 1959 squad — Russell, Klungness, Hornseth and Weckwerth — are sophomores, while 11 — Goulet, Amundson, Leiran, Dyrud, Gary W. Anderson, Ulferts, Odegaard, Lofberg, Martin, and Ranum — are juniors. This season's club can be rightly termed a senior squad.

The Prowlers open their home schedule on Friday night, when they meet coach Rockey Elton's Fergus Falls Otters on the athletic field south of the highway department tower. Fergus Falls opened their season on Monday night, defeating Pelican Rapids, 7 to 0.

Ideal Practice

Local hunters will have an opportunity to sharpen their reflexes, hone their trigger-finger action, and brighten their shooting eyes by competing in the trap shoot tournament that will be held at the traps north of town on Sunday. The upland game-bird season opens later this month, and a round or two of trapshooting should be of benefit to even the most experienced hunter.

The traps will open at 10 a.m., and shooting will continue throughout the day until 6 p.m.

What's the Reason?

We have watched the baseball progress of Fertile's Arlo Brunsberg since his days as a Midget baseball competitor on into high school and Legion ball and as a senior player. We can recall the day that Arlo, in a Midget baseball tournament played here, pitched a no-hitter for coach Chuck Johnson's Fertile team, and lost the game.

This past week, Brunsberg, a draft choice of the Halstad Red Sox, participated in the Region Two B tournament at Bagley, and his play was a factor in giving manager Irv Warner's Norman-Polk club the regional title and a trip to the state tournment at St. Cloud.

Arlo, who played with the Fertile club during the regular season, was the catcher for Halstad, and he turned in a top-flight performance as the receiver of the slants of Bob Hanson, Butch Johnson, Jerry Mehlisch, and Al Santwire. He kept the opposing baserunners "honest."

But it was as a batsman that Brunsberg was impressive. During the four games that Halstad played, Arlo, a southpaw swinger, drove out three home runs. Against Bagley on Sunday night, he poled a pair of four-baggers over the fence, reaching the barrier in center field and the fence in right-center.

We don't know what a big league scout looks for when he is on the trail of a prospect, but Arlo must surely fulfill some of these qualifications. The San Francisco Giants scout, Dave Garcia, watched Brunsberg in action last year, and he remarked that Arlo did not throw with the accuracy of a prospective big league catcher, having too much side-arm in his delivery. Garcia did acknowledge, though, Brunsberg could swing the bat, and that he had a potential as an outfielder.

It may be that Brunsberg, who is attending Concordia college, where he is a star in football, basketball and baseball, has some physical defect that causes the major league scouts to be shy in tendering a contract or bzonus. Brunsberg, during his early high school days, was stricken with an ailment that was diagnosed as rheumatic fever. But judging by his 185-pound physique, and his actions on the field, Arlo has shaken off the effects of that siege.

More decorations for valor have been awarded, per man, to the submarine service than any other Navy branch.

Motorists Warned of Special Nighttime Driving Hazards

"Watch out for night-time dangers while driving," was the warning issued today by the Minnesota highway department. "With darkness coming an hour earlier because of the change to standard time from daylight saving time, the sudden change in light condition must bring a change in driving habits."

Motorists must accustom themselves to driving at dusk at times when they have been normally driving in daylight, particularly when driving home from work or going out early in the evening, the department warned, as the following tips were issued:

1. Rember that parking lights are not legal or adequate lights for driving. When drivers feel lights are necessary, they should turn on driving lights.

2.Remember that it is just as necessary to be seen as to see when driving under adverse light conditions. In dusk, rain or fog, use low beam lights so that other drivers can see and better judge distance to help avoid collisions.

3. Remember that fall brings out dark clothing. Motorists must be more alert for pedestrians after dark whose dark clothing blend them into backgrounds.

4. Remmber, when walking at night, to wear or carry something light colored. Carrying and waving a white handkerchief may save your life.

5. Remember that it is just as important to use low beam lights when following another car as when meeting a car. Don't blind the other car with your lights.

Sharptail Grouse Season Opens Soon

Saturday, September 19, Marks Start of Hunting

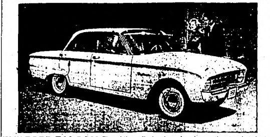
Before you can say "sharptail grouse", the September 19 start of this season will have rolled around. Ruffed grouse, squirrel and rabbit seasons which open October 3, will not be far behind.

The fall days filled with leaf burning and storm window hanging, pass so rapidly it is time now for hunters to bring out their scatter guns for cleaning and a careful inspection. A safe, good working shotgun adds to the assurance of enjoyable days afield this fall.

So now is the time to look over the favorite bird gun. No harm in making sure the deer rifle is also in good order.

"Whatever you do," admonishes Jerry Liemandt, assistant chief of firearms safety, "don't wait until the very last minute and then grab your gun and head into the brush. A few minutes spent now looking the guns over, getting the 'feel' of them again, will pay off when that grouse explodes into flight in front of you."

A cleaner community is up to you. Don't throw litter on the street or sidewalk. Help keep America beautiful.



THE FORD FALCON First of the company's new-size cars, represents a "breakthrough" in automotive design that may materially alter the future of the automobile industry. The Falcon Fordor shown here is more than two feet shorter and three-quarters of a ton lighter than a standard 1959 Ford. Yet, the Falcon is a six-passenger car, with interior roominess approximating that of standard models. The Falcons will be on display in Ford dealer showrooms October 8.

Duck Hunters Must Bear $3 Duck Stamp

Minnesota duck hunters are required to have on their person a valid small game hunting license and a federal migratory bird hunting stamp, reminds F. W. Johnson, chief game warden. The federal "duck stamp" is available at most post offices. The federal stamp will cost $3.00 this season. Only a valid small game license is required, however, to hunt rails, gallinues, woodcock, wilson's or jacksnipe.

Federal regulations again prohibit the use of any shotguns capable of holding more than three shells, including semi-automatic and hand operated repeating shotguns. The shotgun plug must be incapable of removal without disassembling the gun. Shotguns used in taking any migratory fowl may not be larger than 10 gauge. Rifles may not be used in taking migratory game birds, but such birds may be taken by use of bow and arrow.

Other regulations in hunting waterfowl and migratory game birds prohibit the use of any electronic calling device or recording, live bird decoys, automobile, aircraft, sinkbox, power boat, sailboat, or any device towed by either. Injured or dead waterfowl may be picked up by means of a motorboat, sailboat, or other craft, however. Shooting is permitted from a boat or other craft having a motor attached if such craft is fastened within or tied immediately alongside of any type of stationary blind. Waterfowl, coot and gallinules may not be taken under an circumstances by the aid of salt, or bait such as shelled or shucked or unshucked corn, wheat or other grains or feed.

Remind Drivers to Be on Lookout for School Patrols

A reminder to motorists to watch for and obey the signs of the school safety patrols was issued today by the Minnesota highway department. More than 30,000 young boys and girls from 10 to 14 years of age are expected to serve in local patrols this school year.

These youngsters watch out for the safety of their schoolmates at school intersections and at school bus stops. The department reminded motorists that they are required to stop and yield young students the right of way at crossing whenever the school patrol officer has his approved signal extended to warn the drivers.

Planting Spring Bulbs

Now is the time to plant spring-flowering bulbs. Plant the smaller bulbs as quickly as possible. Plant such bulbs as crocus, snowdrop, grape hyacinth, squill and others of this type during September so they will be properly rooted before freezing temperatures occur. Other bulbs such as tulips, hyacinth and daffodils should be planted during October so they also will be properly rooted before freezing temperatures occur.

Proper soil preparation is as important for bulbs as for other perennials. Prepare the soil by adding organic matter such as compost, well-rotted barnyard manure, commercial pea and leaf mold. Add fertilizer at the rate of approximately 4-5 pounds per 100 squar feet. A good analysis for bulbs would be 10-10-10.

The bulbs can be grown in full sun or in partial shade. Do no. plant bulbs too close to the foundation line — especially on the south side of a house. If you are planting bulbs on the south side of the house, plant them about three feet from the foundation.

Not all bulbs are planted the same depth. The hyacinth, tulip and daffodil bulbs are planted from 6-8 inches deep, whereas the crocus, snowdrop and grape hyacinth are planted from a depth of three to four inches.

Generally speaking, the bulbs are planted in a clump-like circle, rather than in rows. This would be up to the individual gardener. Where a clump-like planting is made, it is best to dig out the hole to about two feet in circumference. Then set the bulbs at equal distances in the hole and carefully cover the hole. Be sure the pointed end of the bulb is up.

After completing the planting, water the bulbs well so they are off to a good start.

A chemical hormone known as ECP can be given to ewes enabling them to lamb twice a year instead of the usual once, a development which could add appreciably to the supply of mutton and wool.

"At 20 years of age, the will reigns; at 30, the wit; and at 40, the judgment."
—Benjamin Franklin

The Big Seven

Seven of Minnesota's metropolitan area counties now have about one-half of the state's population, and in the next 21 years the area will gain another 800,00, according to estimates of a metropolitan area study commission. If the Legislature were elected strictly on the basis of population, as the Constitution presently calls for, these seven counties would name half of the members of both the House and the Senate. And if the present basis of apportionment were to be continued and strictly followed, then in a very few years, the counties that are essentially agricultural, would have little voice in the state's law making body.

It is because this danger has been recognized that the Legislature has been reluctant about reapportioning on the basis of population alone. In the last session the Legislature did reapportion, but on a basis that took into consideration both area and population.

The pattern that had been established for our national government was adopted. Membership in the Senate will be apportioned on the basis of area, which means that the metropolitan area, no matter how great it becomes in population, will never dominate this body. Offsetting this check will be the gradual increase in House representation as the metropolitan area becomes more populous.

This basis for apportionment will be made permanent if a constitutional amendment that will be submitted to the voters in the next election will be approved. We are satisfied that it will be approved if the facts are fairly presented, but the outstate communities have a selling job to do.

Approving reapportionment on the basis of both area and population will not be a party issue and it should not be a country versus city issue. The balanced basis of apportionment had important support from metropolitan area legislators in both houses. The important thing is to make the facts known and then trust to the fairness of the voters in their reaction to a reasonable appeal.

Great Possibilities

The Monday Minneapolis Tribune featured a state fair parking lot picture that illustrates effectively the huge fair attendance. Far in the background were the grandstand and bleachers, jammed full of spectators. Most impressive was the vast expanse of cars parked hub to hub—many thousands of them.

The Minnesota state fair is one of the country's great expositions, attracting more than a million people each year who come to participate, to be informed or to be entertained. It is a show of which we all have reason to be proud.

Unfortunate is the fact that its facilities are used only a few days each year. Instead of calling it unfortunate maybe we should say it is shameful, because idle public facilities, that could be made more useful, are wasteful and inefficient just as are idle facilities privately owned.

The state fair grounds could be developed into a recreation center that would provide more adequately for many activities that now are scattered. It could serve the needs of the state university and other public promotions, including professional games, that would contribute substantially to the building and maintenance costs.

The state fair area has great possibilities, and these possibilities would be developed if the metropolitan area were blessed with great leaders.

New Labor Law

Best recommendation for the labor reform measure finally approved by Congress is the fact that it is not satisfactory to the extremists. As a compromise bill, it is not as restrictive to organized labor as some thought it should be, and those who speak for organized labor said it was too restrictive.

The New York Times, viewing it impartially, looking upon the finished product with favor, concluded:

> The final product can't, by an stretch of the imagination, be called a "killer bill" that threatens the life of organized labor any more than the Taft-Hartley Act, which turned out not to be the "slave" law which labor leaders called it at first. It may be that some of the regulations of the internal affairs of unions may prove to be unnecessarily burdensome. If so, they should be revised as occasion may require. But, by and large, only those in the labor movement who are addicted to improper practices need have any serious fears and it looks as if they would be accordingly restrained.

American Prestige

President Eisenhower's visit to Europe, and his talks with the leaders of West Germany, Britain and France, have done much to restore unity among the big four powers. On some issues the relationships had become strained. There had been growing concern about the attitude of President deGaulle of France, under the strains of an Algerian revolt. The Eisenhower talks apparently adjusted satisfactorily any differences that may have existed. President deGaulle referred to his visit as,

> ". . . a wonderful event from all points of view — a great date in the history of the relations between our two countries."

It now appears therefore that President Eisehower will be dealing from strength when he discusses the problems of world peace with Premier Khrushchev next week. While he will be speaking officially only for himself and for our country, his statements will carry added weight because of the assurances of unity among the Western powers that his visit to Europe established.

Commenting on the success of the Eisenhower journey the Wall Street Journal brings out several interesting points. It says:

> "Unquestionably all this is tribute to Mr. Eisenhower himself, to those wartime memories as well as to his obvious dedication to peace and well-known concern for European problems, and not least to the personal magnetism that seems to affect all who see or talk to him. But it seems to us it would be a somewhat naive view of international politics to regard this trip as a purely personal victory.
> "What is 'national prestige' after all? It must rest first on the image of a nation as projected by its record. To the historical image of America, which has always attracted Europeans, is added the contemporary circumstance of unmatched U.S. power, which perforce makes this country the leader in the effort to preserve civilization against the new barbarians.
> "Now a nation can use such a position in ways that would indeed damage its prestige, as by assuming a dictatorial attitude toward its allies or doing something out of character like committing aggression. The U.S. has not misused its position, and so the reasons for the supposed loss of prestige cannot be found there.
> "Certain things do, however, inevitably happen when a defensive alliance is carried on through many years of ostensible peace. Resentments accumulate against the most powerful member simply because of its power; the tendency is to blame that one for everything that goes wrong. And as more years go by without actual war, the danger of war appears to recede and the differing national interests of the various members come to the fore. It was such differences, among Britain, France and Germany, rather than criticisms of the U.S., that occupied the headlines just before the President went to Europe.
> "In short, we think any decline of American prestige in recent years has been very considerably exaggerated; any appearance of decline has been largely the result of strains inherent in a peacetime coalition. Mr. Eisenhower's trip has certainly dramatized the regard in which he and his country are generally held in Europe. It has also demonstrated—especially for the Russians—that underlying the strains in N.A.T.O. is still an essential unity of opposition to Communism for the simple reason that the members have a survival stake in that kind of unity.

Youthful Drivers, Read This:

(Art Suel in New Prague Times)

The spirit of daring, overconfidence and adventure, coupled with a tendency to show-off, combine to place a disproportionate number of our youths in the sad statistics of traffic casualties.

"Six Killed in Nebraska Collision" read the headline in a Sunday newspaper. The ages of the six whose lives were sacrificed in a needless holocaust of death were given as: 20, 18, 19, 16, 20 and 19.

Ages of those injured and listed in critical condition by the same accident were listed as: 21, 17 and 16.

At 3:00 a.m. last Sunday morning, a Coon Rapids youth was stopped by an Anoka police officer and cautioned about his driving.

Tuesday's Anoka Herald carried this grim report: "He died four hours later in a crash of total devastation of twisted steel and metal described by many officers as the worst one-car accident they had ever seen."

Your Office in Washington

by Congressman

ODIN LANGEN

Adjournment has been one of the main topics of conversation on Capitol Hill for many weeks, but this past week, for the first time, members of Congress started takngl this talk seriously. Just about everyone, including theh congressional leadership, is now pointing toward September 12 as the cutoff date for this session. I would like here to briefly discuss with you two of the actions which the Congress has taken during the past week which have brought us closer to adjournment. Both were actions about which Ninth district residents have registered a great deal of concern.

The "Labor Bill'

"If the conference bill . . . had been laid before Congress last January most observers would have said that only a miracle could bring about its enactment."

These are the editorial words of the Washington Post concerning passage of the labor reform act of 1959 by wide margins in both the Senate and House this past week. The "miracle" of the passage of the act is, in my opinion, due to the miracle of our democratic process. The people demanded this act because it guarantees and protects rights sacred to all who live in a free country, and because this is a free country the demand of the people was met. The result is a bill which provides for democratic practices in unions and for accounting of union funds, gives legal recourse to those who presently find themselves in a "no man's land" with no legal body willing or able to take their labor relations cases, and protects abuses of secondary boycotts and organizational picketing.

Highway Construction

As the Labor Reform act was traveling from the Senate to the House, it crossed paths with a bill that was finally moving from the House to the Senate — a bill to provide funds for the federal highway program. This bill, which provides for a one-cent per gallon increase in the federal gas tax for 22 months and diversion of certain excise taxes on automobiles and auto parts to the Highway Trust fund after that, passed the House 243-162. Some Senate opposition is expected. Before House passage, I was pleased to join in the defeating of an amendment to this bill which would have declared that Congress should at some later date reimburse states for the cost of toll roads and freeways which they have built and which are now in the interstate system. The need for highway funds is great, and paying states for these roads on which they are collecting tolls can only further generate problems of finding adequate finances for our country's highway system, since it would cost taxpayers an additional $1 billion.

Unfinished Business

In the upcoming week between this writing and the proposed adjournment date, a great deal of work remains to be done. Legislation awaiting final action, in addition to the two bills mentioned above, includes public works appropriations, mutual security, extension of Public Law 480. Failure to complete work on these and other bills could necessitate a longer session.

Once upon a time
Kathy Conner*, age 6, sat up suddenly in her bed. She'd been asleep and now the house seemed strangely dark and still. Somehow she needed to hear a friendly voice. Then she remembered: her parents were out for the evening.
Kathy called out to the sitter, but nobody answered. In a near-panic, she raced to the telephone and dialed "O" as she had been taught.
"Don't be frightened," said the reassuring voice of Operator June Swanson. "I'll be your sitter till your folks get home."
As she talked to Kathy, she learned where the parents were visiting, got another operator to call them. In minutes they were home. Pretty short minutes, too, with a telephone sitter to talk to.

A Final Demonstration Climaxing Ford's 3 Years and 3 Million Miles of Research and Development on the New Ford Falcon . . .
EXPERIENCE RUN, U.S.A.

TODAY...10 P.M. THE NEW-SIZE FORD STARTS ON ITS WAY TO YOU!

The Falcon, the New-Size Ford, already is the most thoroughly tested and proven new car in history. Today this new Ford Falcon starts EXPERIENCE RUN, U.S.A., over every mile of numbered U.S. highway

This is not a test run in the ordinary sense of the word. For in its 3 years of development and over 3 million miles of proving, the Falcon has already passed and repassed every kind of test that could be devised.

It's been dust tested, heat tested, and endurance-tested on the test track at Kingman, Arizona. Wind-tested and rain-tested in the 300 mph wind tunnel at the University of Maryland. Shock-tested, curve-tested, brake-tested, noise-tested, paint-tested, stability tested, service tested . . . everything tested on Ford's own proving grounds. The Falcon has already proved to engineers that it takes anything they can dish out.

Now, Experience Run, U.S.A. will show you what the Falcon can do over your kind of roads.

How many miles to the gallon? Records will be kept of every drop of gas used. Better gas mileage? The Falcon will average up to 30 miles per gallon!

On October 8, the New-size Ford will be at your Ford Dealer's . . . for you to experience. See your Ford Dealer today for more information on the Ford Falcon.

MOVE EQUIPMENT TO T.H. 59 JOB NORTH OF KARLSTAD

(Karlstad Advocate)

Equipment is beginning to arrive in the community for the start of construction on Highway 59 between Karlstad and Halma.

The equipment which has been brought in here belongs to the Moen Bros. of Moorhead which construction firm has the contract for the work.

A phone call was made to the highway office in Bemidji Monday at which time Mr. Carl Johnson, assistant Highway Engineer for this district, said that nothing official has been decided as yet concerning the construction of that particular road but he added that they were reasonably assured that the construction would go ahead.

The bids for the contract were let some time ago, but shortly thereafter a curtailment of road building in Minnesota pending a renewal of federal government aid listed this particular project among those cancelled. The Moen Bros. Construction Co. is moving in to await official word that the project has been placed back on the docket.

ROSEAU TO VOTE ON HOSPITAL BOND ISSUE

(Roseau Times Region)

Members of the Roseau Community Hospital Association voted 127 to 1 Friday night to transfer all the assets of the association to Roseau county for purposes of the Roseau Area Hospital District. This cleared the way for a vote on the proposed bond issue September 14 and was the final action necessary prior to the vote.

Actions leading up to the bond issue have been the formation of the Hospital District in May; the vote of the Lutheran Benevolent Association to turn their assets and building over to the association; and the Friday vote which provided the authority for the bond issue.

The hospital plan has been completed and includes 32 beds in addition to laboratory, X-ray and emergency rooms plus a completely modern room for surgery, a labor and delivery room; a business office and waiting room, plus a central nurses station and adequate storage and nursery area.

The present hospital and nurses home are to be remodeled into a connected nursing home which will accommodate 40. All the facilities will come under one management for greatest efficiency and will have a centralized laundry and kitchen to effect further savings.

All this is to be done on a $500,000 bond issue (called for election September 14) which will enable the use of Hill-Burton Matching funds from the government. Board members estimate that the total facilities will have a complete value of $1,050,000 for the $500,000 investment.

THIRTY FEEDER LAMBS KILLED BY G.N. FLYER

(Kittson County Enterprise)

The Great Northern Winnipeg flyer ran into a group of 30 sheep near the Bockwitz farm, killing that many.

The sheep were recently purchased by the Bockwitz farm and were feeder lambs. They were turned loose to feed on heavily hailed crop land, the ground being littered with heads of grain, which provides good nourishment.

Some over 20,000 acres of the best crop land in this county was completely destroyed when a hail storm struck that large area, depositing very large stones, many of which were of golf ball and baseball size. Unable to retrieve the cut off heads of grain through threshing methods, the Bockwitz farm imported feeder lambs to convert the fallen heads to meat and wool. Mr. Bockwitz says he does not know which is worse, hail storms or a Great Northern locomotive.

FATHER AND SON WERE BURNED IN BARN FIRE

(Fosston Thirteen Towns)

Elmer Neset and his father, Peter both suffered burns when they quenched a fire in the barn at the former's farm home Friday night.

The fire resulted during the evening milking period when a pump for milking equipment caught fire. It was reported that fuel oil had been used to clean part of the equipment and this is believed to have ignited.

A nearby watering trough aided the two men in quenching the fire before serious damage was done to the barn but in the process Elmer Neset suffered painful burns on both legs when his overall caught fire and his father suffered burns on both fore-arms.

FOUR VEHICLES WERE INVOLVED IN ACCIDENT

(Kennedy Star)

An accident involving four vehicles occurred on Highway 11 east of Donaldson last Friday morning when Les Bowman driving a Klene Farms pickup was taking four men out to work. Les was traveling east when a vehicle coming from the east made a left hand turn at an intersection. A second truck coming from the east saw Les, but the third one, a truck, could not slow up fast enough and attempted to pass the second vehicle when he saw Les approaching. Les took to the ditch on his side and evidently the truck driver had the same idea. Quick thinking Bowman noticed this and tried to pull up on the road again to avoid an almost head-on crash. No one was seriously injured.

GULLY STORE DAMAGED BY NEW BUILDING

(Gonvick Leader-Record)

The Rouland store at Gully, one of the old mercantile firms of the area, was severely damaged last week as a new building was started on the lots just north of the structure.

The north wall of the store slid out and sank about 10 inches when excavating undermined the footings. Excavating was being done by Gesell Construction Company of Bagley for a new liquor store. Contractor for the new building was Ed Koskovich of Fosston.

No estimate of the damages has been established, however, it is expected to run into several thousand dollars.

The Folks Behind The Church . . .

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Acts	20	24-35
Monday	Ecclesiastes	6	18-20
Tuesday	I Thessalonians	5	8-13
Wednesday	Isaiah	52	7-8
Thursday	Ephesians	6	5-9
Friday	Luke	14	7-11
Saturday	Psalms	22	23-27

TOP ROW:
Cora and Jim Eggers, who take the altar flowers to the sick . . .
Mrs. Godshall and the kindly doctor . . .
Myra Adams who heads the Primary Department . . .
MIDDLE ROW:
Elder Rod Stuart with Mrs. Stuart . . .
And the newly-weds, Alec and Gwen . . .
Orval Merrick and Mrs. Wellington; Orval you know, is Sunday School Superintendent . . .
BOTTOM ROW:
Peg Rosser with Vic and his sister, Louise . . .
Connie Edwards, the soprano soloist . . .
Below Todd, Head Usher Foster Comland and his wife Rose . . .
The twinkling eye of Ward Conley . . .
And Young Adult President Jack Burgess . . .

These are just some of the people behind a church. Their worship, faith, time and talents are devoted generously to Christ. They are helping their church to grow, and to serve the community. And you'll find their welcome warm and friendly—for they believe YOU BELONG IN THE PICTURE.

Most popular way to get a home loan today

Like millions of Americans you may be dreaming of building or buying your own home. If you are, chances are you need two important things—first, money for a down payment; second, a home loan to make up the difference. Our association specializes in helping you get both these things.

Last year, associations like ours throughout the U.S. made one out of every three home loans—1,000,000 of them totaling more than $10 billion. The Insured Savings and Loan way has, in fact, become America's most popular way to finance a new home. Here's why:

1. We know more about home loans because we make more of them.
2. You get friendly understanding from our staff which is experienced in home financing.
3. You repay your loan just like rent. A monthly repayment is usually set up to include principal, interest and property taxes.
4. While you're saving for the down payment, your money earns excellent returns, and is insured up to $10,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, an agency of the U. S. Government.

Lions Club M[illegible]rs to Be Sold for [illegible] Day to Top Bidders

Thief River Falls will occupy a unique position of having the only slave auction in the United States next Friday evening, Sept. 18. It will be held in the City auditorium beginning at 9:15 by the Lions club.

Not since the end of the Civil War have the connoisseurs of good cheap labor been offered such an array of human strength and talent. Although the Lions admit that there are a few slaves which do not come up to par in industry or strength, the majority will be able to return a good day's work for the small investment required.

Beginning Monday, Sept. 14, all 59 "slaves" will be appropriately tagged with yellow signs bearing the message, "Buy me at the slave auction," to give all propective bidders the opportunity to size up the offerings.

All residents of the area are urged to take part in the auction whose proceeds will be used for youth activities. Businessmen may need salesmen, janitors or stock arrangers. Housewives, faced with the seasonal chore of storm window cleaning, mowing, raking and fall housecleaning, will have an unexcelled opportunity to get work done around their homes that husbands have shirked for some time. Farmers who need some extra help in the fields or around their places can beat the hired help shortage with their Friday night bids.

Although all 59 members of the Lions club will be up for bids Friday night, there may be a number who will not be bought during the evening. These members will go on the block over radio station KTRF from Monday through Friday, Sept. 21-25, on a program beginning each day at 9:15 a.m. All bids will be broadcast. Just call MU 1-1230 to secure a day's service of any Lion you may wish to have work for you.

Introduces Product for Industrial Use

Gordon Dow, proprietor of the Dow Key Company of this city, is leaving this week on an extended trip for the purpose of introducing a refined coaxial relay to manufacturers of electrical equipment. The relays have been sold mainly in the amateur market in the past but Mr. Dow believes that his company is ready to produce a product for which there will be a volume demand.

The company has added new equipment recently and increased the number of employees.

CHAIN GANG These three members of the Lions club being urged on to more strenuous efforts by Pres. Norm Peterson may never be able to match the results of the equipment in the background but their services will be for sale at the annual Slave sale this Friday evening, Sept. 18, at 9:15 in the City auditorium. From left to right, the slaves are Phil Kays; Jim Womack, who will probably be the next to get the whip for his goldbricking and Les Ihle, who is being corrected by Peterson for resting on the shovel handle too hard.

Jet Plane Coming For A. & E. Course

A model F8F5 jet plane will be delivered to the airport some time Tuesday to be used for instruction purposes in the aviation mechanics courses being offered by the Area Vocational school, reports Stan Nelson, director. This will be the fourth plane made available by the government, the others being a T28 advance trainer and two twin engined C-45's.

Harvest of Small Grain is Nearly Completed in Area

Several Days of Favorable Weather Have Been Greatly Appreciated by Farmers

Several days of good weather have made possible good progress in the harvesting of small grain in the area and most of these crops are now in the bin, county agent Paul Stelmaschuk reports. The flax harvest is now under way and in the valley the sugar beet harvest will begin this week.

A Soo Line division report issued September 11 summarizes the area crop conditions as follows:

Alexandria to Thief River Falls—¾" to 1" rain received this week. Top and subsoil moisture supply is good. Threshing of wheat, oats, barley and rye is nearly completed. Threshing reports this week show wheat averaging 18, oats 37, flax 12 bu. per acre. Potatoes look good. Prospects for corn and soy beans are poor in area Alexandria to Henning and good in the area Ottertail to Thief River Falls.

Newfolden to Orleans—½" to 1½" rain received this week. The supply of top and subsoil moisture is good. The completion of threshing of wheat, oats and barley has been delayed by frequent showers and the grain which is still in the swath is deteriorating badly. This week's threshing reports show durum averaging 21, hard wheat 23, barley 26, oats 40 bushels per acre. Flax threshing not yet started. Prospects for potatoes are good and flax fair to good.

Viking to Rolette — Threshing operations have been delayed this week by light to heavy showers and poor drying weather. Threshing of oats and barley nearly completed. Some areas report wheat threshing only about 75% completed. This week's threshing reports show durum averaging 22, hard wheat 23, barley 26, oats 38, flax 9 bu. per acre. Lifting of sugar beets will start next week with good yields in prospect. Potato digging is just starting, with good yields. Poor moisture conditions are reported on a portion of this subdivision Lankin to Kekoma.

Burns Fatal to Holt Baby Girl, Eight Months Old

Farm Home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Olson Destroyed by Fire Friday Morning

An eight-month-old girl from the Holt community died Friday night at Northwestern hospital as a results of burns and inhalation of smoke and heat from a fire which destroyed the family's two room house Friday morning.

Robbin Olson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Olson, who farm four miles east and 1½ miles north of Holt, was rushed to the hospital suffering extensive third and fourth degree burns over nearly all the front of her body including the head and face, chest, legs and arms.

According to the child's parents, they were doing chores in and around the barn when they noticed smoke coming from the house. The baby's mother tried to enter the house but was unable to go through the smoke and heat. Throwing a rug over his head and face, the father groped his way to the baby's crib and carried her from the house. At the hospital it was found the only areas of the body unaffected by the fire were on her back and on the backs of her head, legs and arms.

The home of the young couple and their only child was completely destroyed by the fire which is thought to have started from the stove.

Funeral services will be Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the Immanuel Lutheran church north of Holt. Arrangements are being made by the Green Funeral Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bjerken, Wayne and Larry spent Labor Day in Bemidji.

Classes to Be Held for Civil Defense Group

Auxiliary Police to Get Training at Four Evening Sessions

If there are any criminals contemplating the commission of unlawful acts during the next two weeks, the Thief River Falls area would undoubtedly be at the bottom of their lists during the next two weeks.

In addition to the state police school which will attract about 28 police officers and members of sheriffs' offices to the city from Sept 14-25, about 50 civil defense auxiliary police will attend school four nights.

The students from Pennington, Red Lake, Clearwater, Roseau, Lake of the Woods, Kittson, Polk and Marshall counties will train for the first the evening of Sept. 15 from 7 until 9 o'clock and will attend three more two-hour sessions on the evenings of Sept. 17, 22 and 23.

Using the same instructors as the state police school, the classes will be on Minnesota laws of arrest and search, criminal law and procedure, two hours of civil defense procedures and laws of evidence and testifying in court.

Later courses will include those in first aid and in handling traffic.

Surfacing of River Valley Road starts

The surfacing of State Aid road No. 3 from the Kratka intersection to the River Valley bridge will get under way this week, according to county engineer Joe Seidel. The blacktopping should be completed this fall.

The road west of St. Hilaire 6½ miles has been completed and the job was accepted by the county board at its meeting Tuesday. In next year's program is the surfacing of the Oklee road south from No. 3 to the county line and Mr. Seidel is hopeful that the Gully road can be graded from the junction with T.H. No. 1 to the Neptune bridge.

Flight Breakfast Ticket Sale Starts

The advance ticket sale for the flight breakfast at the municipal airport Sept. 27 will get under way today, Orrin Meltz, breakfast chairman, states.

The JayCees offer those coming to the breakfast all they can eat, plus lots of good, hot coffee for $1, with only 50c for children.

Another feature of the airport open house, the youth's model plane demonstrations and contests, is expected to draw a great deal of attention during the day and all would-be participants are urged to contact Stan Pladson. The model contest judge will be announced at a later date.

Art Forsberg brought a potato to the Times office that qualifies for the high standards of Times Window display curios. This product of his home garden will not win honors for its size, but Mr. Forsberg has hopes that it will rank high as one of the oddest of the season.

Training Course for Law Enforcement Officers Held Here

School bells rang out this morning for 28 law enforcement officers of an eight-county area who started attending the first classes of a police training school authorized by the last legislature.

Members of police departments and sheriffs' offices met at 8:30 this morning in the City auditorium for their opening session. When the two-week school is completed, the officers will have completed 80 hours of lecture and practical work in subjects ranging from first aid to study of laws, from accident investigation to interrogation.

Like students in high school and college, the law enforcement officers started their classwork armed with pencils and notebooks and with the realization that they would be tested and graded by their instructors on what they had seen, heard and done. Classes will meet five days during each of the two weeks from 8:30 to 12:30 and from 1:30 until 5:30. Those who enroll must attend all sessions to be eligible for a certificate of completion and a report of each student's work will be forwarded to his superior and the governing body of the county or community for which he works.

The school in Thief River Falls is the first to be held since the program was approved by the legislature. Later schools will be located at Benson, Bemidji and Rochester. The aim of the courses is to train every member of a police department, sheriff's office or other law enforcement office for at least two weeks with the possibility of advanced training at a later date.

Those who are enrolled in the course in Thief River Falls are from Pennington, Marshall, Polk, Kittson, Roseau, Lake of the Woods, Red Lake and Clearwater counties and make up about 50% of the law enforcement officers of the eight-county area. During the school, most law enforcement offices have sent half of their officers to the classroom and will send the other half to a later meeting.

Sixty Teachers in Attendance at Institute Here

Red Lake and Pennington County Schools Were Represented at Sessions

Sixty teachers from Pennington and Red Lake counties attended the Institute which was held Friday, Sept. 11, in the court house in Thief River Falls.

According to Mrs. A. C. Matheson, county superintendent of schools, those attending were from the elementary grades of St. Hilaire, Oklee, Brooks and rural schools of the counties.

Sessions were held by Miss Grace Norgaard and Miss Pearle Hildbrand of the state department of education and were over the social studies for elementary grades. The session for the first three grades was held by Miss Hildbrand and Miss Norgaard was in charge of the study for the intermediate and upper grades.

The institute was held from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Adult Education Courses Planned

Adult education night school courses will start October 5, according to Stan Nelson, Area Vocational School director. A bulletin will be available shortly, listing the classes that will be offered. These bulletins will be mailed upon request, he says.

Auto and Style Show Added to October Event

Expect Much Public Interest in New Car Models at that Time

At a meeting of the special October promotion committee and the directors of the Chamber of Commerce Friday morning, plans for the Thirty Years of Progress celebration, to be held October 15, 16 and 17, were expanded. Automobile dealers will add materially to the occasion with a showing of the new model cars, all of which probably will be available at that time, and several stores are joining in the presentation of a style show.

The Thirty Years of Progress theme was adopted because this is the thirtieth birthday of the establishment of a Thief River Falls branch by Land O' Lakes Creameries, Inc. Their first building was the result of a community effort. In order to get the at-that-time modern egg and poultry plant farmers and business men bought first mortgage bonds in the sum of $15,000. Since then the Land O' Lakes operation in the city has changed in many ways, but it has been greatly expanded and now is one of the city's biggest industries.

The year 1929 is significant in the history of the city because it marked the turning point from gloom to growth. The decade of the 'twenties was an era of bank failures and mortgage foreclosures. It is the only decade during which the city has lost population, and in the late 'twenties many good citizens were sure there was no justification for hope that there would ever be any recovery.

The Land O' Lakes decision to establish a branch here was a vote of confidence that completely changed the local attitude. From then on came Montgomery Ward and Osborne-McMillan and St. Lukes hospital. And from then on the city has grown steadily, each decade bringing substantial gains and important improvements. Since that time the population of the city has doubled.

The merchants think these thirty years of progress deserve recognition, and that is the purpose of the Thirty Years of Progress celebration.

Budget Approved for 1960 Will Not Require Increase Auditor Says

At its postponed meeting Thursday the county board approved the budget for 1960 which, on the basis of present valuations, will require a levy of 75.45 mills, county auditor C. W. Rodekuhr reports. The levy for this year's taxes was 75.27 mills, slightly less than the estimate for next year but, this difference should be offset by changes in valuation, Mr. Rodekuhr believes.

In terms of dollars the levy for next year is $392,384.31, up about $10,000 from this year's total, the difference being in the payment by Thief River Falls from the municipal store operation late last year. If this payment is made again this year the total will be practically the same.

The largest item in the budget is for Welfare, the county's share of this cost being estimated at $165,000. The total cost is estimated at $583,517, the difference being met by contributions by the state and federal governments.

The county's share of welfare costs by items are as follows:

Old Age Assistance	$ 85,503.00
Dependent Children	22,324.00
Disabled	330.00
Blind	2,029.00
General Relief	22,720.50
Administration	32,092.50

Following are the general items in the budget:

County Revenue	$103,000.00
Road & Bridge	78,031.19
Welfare	165,000.00
Sanatorium	8,750.00
Courthouse Sinking	32,000.00
School Transportation	•5,068.75
County Fair	2,534.37

The personal property tax problem was discussed but no action was taken which means according to Rodekuhr, that this tax will be spread against household goods for the coming year as before.

The sale of bonds in the amount of $54,000 for ditch purposes was authorized and bids will be opened on October 6 at 2:00 o'clock. Of this total, $25,300 will be needed for County Ditch No. 75 east of Highlanding, and $19,000 and $9,000 for repairs to Judicial Ditches 18 and 11 respectively.

An appropriation to the Carnegie Library in the sum of $1,250 was authorized and the purchase of uniforms for the sheriff and one deputy, under the provisions of a law enacted by the last legislature, was approved. And, effective at once, there will be no more payments of fox bounties.

$20,000 Damage in St. Hilaire Fire

A $20,000 loss, only partly covered by insurance, was sustained by the Sjulson turkey ranch two miles west of St. Hilaire about 9 p.m. Saturday evening, when a fire swept through a small elevator and feed mill.

St. Hilaire Fire Chief Fellman reported the west end of the metal structure, which was used as an elevator and feed mixing mill, was saved, largely through the efforts of the Red Lake Falls fire dept. Both the Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls departments were on hand.

No birds were lost in the blaze, Fellman said. The ranch is owned and operated by Harry and Paul Sjulson, who lost, in addition to the building, a feed mill, tractor and turkey feeder.

Cause of the fire is as yet undetermined, Chief Fellman said. The Sjulsons plan to continue limited operations but no plans for rebuilding in the immediate future were announced.

Thief River Falls firemen also were called out to a chimney fire at 1021 LaBree av. N. Saturday evening but Fire Chief Roy Langevin said there was no damage.

CREAMERY OPERATORS MEET HERE THURSDAY

A district 3 meeting of the members of the Minnesota Creamery Operators and Managers Association will be held at the Rex cafe Thursday, Sept. 17, starting at 5:30 o'clock.

RODEO ACTION Bob Schrlock of Carson, N. D., pictured at left, takes 'em high as he came out of the chute Saturday afternoon in the saddle brone division of the seventh annual Thief River rodeo. In the center, A. B. Patten of Auburn, Iowa, showed off his trained bull, George, in one of the tricks that pleased the crowds. At right, Slim Benner of Custer, S. D., drew a brone that came out of the chute stiff-legged and dangerously quiet but which exploded into action for one of the best rides of the afternoon.

Jeanne M. Berry Becomes Bride of Melvin Sauve

Rev. Keough Patnode performed the double ring ceremony Saturday, Sept. 5, at St. Bernard's Catholic church here that united Jeanne Marie Berry and Melvin Sauve of St. Paul in holy matrimony.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Flattum of this city, with whom she has made her home, are the bride's aunt and uncle, while the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Sauve of East Grand Forks.

The altar of the church was graced with baskets of white and salmon gladioli and lighted candelabra for the 10:30 a.m. ceremony. Rosemary Votava was at the organ playing the nuptial music and accompanying the St. Bernard's choir as they sang the nuptial mass.

Entering in on the arm of her uncle, Donald Flattum, the bride was wearing a floor length gown of Chantilly lace over slipper satin. It featured a scalloped neckline, long sleeves which came to a point at the hand, and a very bouffant gathered skirt. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a pearl crown and she carried a bouquet of large white mums with feathered carnations, Johanna Hill roses and ivy leaves. Her pearl earrings, rosary and missal were a gift of the bridegroom.

Virginia Anne Flattum, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, followed by Sherilyn Hirsch of Red Lake Falls and Noella Sauve of East Grand Forks. They were attired in identical sheath dresses of orange-beige taffeta with balloon overskirts of the same fabric. Their attire was accented with pearl trimmed headbands, satin matching slippers, white lace gloves and pearl earrings, gifts of the bride. They carried bouquets of bronze mums with feathered carnations, Johanna Hill roses and ivy leaves.

Little Roxanne Sauve, wearing a floor length gown of white satin with a matching veil and carrying a basket of fall flowers, was flower girl. Kennan Reese, cousin of the bridegroom, was ringbearer.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Raymond Sauve, as best man with Virgil Sauve and Darel Sauve serving as groomsmen. Ushers were Eddie Hirsch, cousin of the bride, and Jerry Gallus, friend of the couple.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Donald Flattum home for approximately 75 relatives and friends. Mrs. Luther Flattum poured while Mrs. Louis Fontaine cut the cake, which was baked and decorated by Mrs. Clifford Sannes. Mrs. Charles Agnes was at the punch bowl with Mrs. Darel Sauve and Janice Rae Flattum at the gift table.

Following a honeymoon trip, for which the bride chose a navy blue dress with red accessories, Mr. and Mrs. Sauve will make their home in St. Paul.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school, 1956, and a recent graduate of the St. Scholastica School of Nursing. Mr. Sauve is employed for the Great Northern railroad in St. Paul.

Relatives and friends from Red Lake Falls, Crookston, East Grand Forks, Grand Forks, Moorhead, Brooks, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Fosston, Rollingstone, Duluth and Superior, Wis., attended the wedding.

Policies Set for Sale of New Oats Variety

Sale policies for distribution of newly-developed Minton oats were announced last week by Carl Borgeson, agronomist at the University of Minnesota.

About half a million bushels of registered and certified seed of Minton oats, produced this summer by approved growers, will be sold. Maximum prices which may be charged are $3.50 per bushel for registered and $3 per bushel for certified seed.

These prices hold for the 1959 crop regardless of when it is sold. Growers will reserve 90 percent of their crop for other growers in the state until Nov. 1 for certified Minton, and until Dec. 1 for registered Minton seed.

Minton oats was developed by the University of Minnesota Agricultural Experiment station and was released last spring. It is a medium-maturing variety, has medium height, straw strength and seed size. It resists smuts, all prevalent races of stem rust except 7A, and all races of crown rust common in this region.

In three years of University trials, Minton has yielded higher than other recommended varieties of comparable maturity, and it has done as well as Garry and Rodney, two later varieties.

Pennington county producers of Minton oats are: Melvin Scholin, Wilbur Hallstrum, Andrew Skaar, Leonard Skaar, Silas Hanson, Warren Wilson and Leroy Krbechek, according to Paul Stelmaschuk, county agent.

Patient Boys, Impatient Nature

Mother Nature apparently can't always "wait for spring". The same late August week news from Tracy that an apple tree on the Rudy Dorweiler farm was in full and furious bloom; and from Warren, a lot farther north, that wild chokecherry bushes in the vicinity were blooming like spring . . . Two thousand one hundred and fifty toothpicks, a few drops of glue, and infinite patience on the part of Dennis Dahmes, 13, and his 11-year-old brother Wayne, produced a miniature frontier stockade which they appropriately named Fort Pick; their project was exhibited at the Dakota county fair in Farmington . . . A 10c rubber balloon and a little helium gained international attention between July 5 and 20; two Barnesville men filled the balloon, attached a stamped and addressed card, and turned it loose; six weeks later came startling word that the balloon was found in an apple tree near Oslo, Norway.

Most Farm Labor in State a Family Job

Factory-made machinery has not brought factory-type operation Minnesota farms.

Despite mechanization and the drop in total number of workers, farms in the state are still mostly family operated. About 85 per cent of the labor comes from the family and only 15 per cent is hired—a proportion which has changed little since 1947.

G. A. Lane and D. F. Flenup, agricultural economists at the University of Minnesota, make these points in the current issue of "Minnesota Farm Business Notes", an agricultural extension service publication.

Total number of workers on Minnesota farms has dropped sharply—from 359,000 in 1947 to 273,000 in 1958. One reason is mechanization, which shortens time required for many kinds of work. Labor required to produce an acre of corn decreased from 20 hours in 1944 to 8 in 1954. Labor requirements for dairy herds dropped between 20 and 30 per cent in the same period.

In many cases, Lane and Flenup pointed out, capital has replaced farm labor. There has been little change in total acres farmed in the state during the last 10 years, even though the number of employed workers dropped 21 per cent. The decrease was made up by increased investment in machinery and equipment.

Head of Lakes Grain Shipments Increase

Shipments of grain from the Head of the Lakes ports of Duluth and Superior have been running especially heavy this year—mostly in grain for export moving in foreign ships to overseas destinations via the St. Lawrence Seaway, according to Ed Hameraki, Soo Line division chief.

As of August 9, shipments of grain in foreign ships totaled 42,754,806 bushels. This amount exceeds the U.S. Department of Agriculture's forecast (made prior to the opening of the 1959 shipping season) that 42,000,000 bushels of grain would move through the Seaway in 1959 from both U.S. and Canadian sources.

During the 1959 shipping season through the month of July, a total of 110 cargoes of grain left the Duluth-Superior harbor in ships bound directly for overseas. In May there were 28 cargoes totaling 10,073,952 bushels; in June 41 cargoes — 14,860,983 bushels; and July 41 cargoes and 15,039,894 bushels.

Types of grain forwarded out of the Head of the Lakes to August 1st included: Wheat 3,732,682 bu.; corn, 7,035,703 bu.; oats, 14,564,854 bu.; barley, 12,568,414 bu.; rye, 284,301 bu.; flaxseed, 1,509,417 bu.; and soybeans, 279,458 bu.

The first signal book in the U.S. Navy was issued in 1797 by Captain Thomas Truxton. The volume contained approximately 190 signals.

He scored 300 points out of a possible 350. He was followed by Leonard Geske who scored 299 and Karen Svendsgaard who scored 236.

Four county 4-H'ers attended boys and girls camp during the state fair. They were Milton Leiran of Silverton who was an honor camper and received his trip for outstanding service during the 1958 camp. Alvin Chapman of Rocksbury, and Donovan Ranstrom of New Solum were the other winners of trips to boys camp. Marie Breznay of Mavie was the girl camper representing Pennington county.

HOME Garden TIPS

ORRIN C. TURNQUIST

Renovating the Flower Border

Renovating the flower border often is easier in the fall than in the spring because there is more time available to make the proper soil preparation. If during the summer the garden has been unsatisfactory, the soil can be reworked and improved for the next year's flowers while the failures are still fresh in mind. Usually during the fall of the year the soil is easier to prepare because in spring the soil often has very high moisture and cannot be worked until very late in the season.

It is not necessary to rework the entire border at one time. Uusually, it is less tiring and just as practical to take one half or one third of the border each year and renovate it.

The first step in renovation is to remove all the flowering plants and bulbs. The plants can be heeled temporarily in another section of the garden and the bulbs can be left out of the soil temporarily.

After the garden is cleared, the renovation can begin. Organic matter should be reincorporated into the soil. Good sources of organic matter include compost, well rotted barnyard manure, leaf mold, commercial peat and sawdust. Apply fertilizer at the rate of about 4-5 pounds of a complete fertilizer such as 10-10-10 for each 100 square feet of garden area.

Work the soil to a depth of approximately 18 inches. This is to give consideration to the deep-rooted plants such as peony as well as shallow-rooted perennials such as iris.

Now would be the time to add such new flowers as the spring-flowering bulbs, peonies and bleeding heart. Chrysanthemums can still be planted during September. Often the nurserymen will sell blossoming plants directly from the field. These can be planted directly into the garden and will continue to bloom this fall.

After all the plants are relocated in the border, water them thoroughly. Be sure to continue watering until frost this season.

CIRCULATION THAT COUNTS

Nearly all a newspaper's circulation is concentrated in its own market area where its readers live and shop.

More than half of the nation's automobile owners do their shopping more than three miles from home, and 22 out of every 100 shop more than six miles from home.

When used for plating at a thickness of one mil, one pound of nickel will cover an area of about 22 square feet.

THE ATTIC CLUE

By William L. Roper

MEL HARPER leaned forward. His voice was eager. "I know, Sheriff, we haven't found a single clue so far. We don't know who killed Uncle Kelso or where his money's hid. But Ralph and I want to have another try at it."

"I don't blame you fellows." Sheriff Larson pushed back his wide-brimmed Stetson, got up from his chair and stretched. "But, Mel, I've questioned Adolf Stine, your uncle's farm caretaker. He's got an alibi. Besides, Mel, I got other cases besides your uncle's murder to worry about."

The sun was setting over the green, rolling hills west of the old Kelso Harper farm, when Mel and Ralph drove up the lane and parked near the house.

"I see Stine down by the barn, slopping the pigs," Mel said. "I'll go down and tell him we got the sheriff's permission to take another look around the attic."

Ten minutes later the two brothers were noisily poking through the attic junk. Stine puttered around below.

"See that old phonograph with the morning-glory horn?" Mel said. He pointed the beam of his flashlight toward an ancient Edison cabinet model stored in one corner. "I got a hunch it may provide a clue."

"Remember when we found Uncle Kelso's body here in the attic? I noticed some wax record shavings and his knife nearby."

"So you think Uncle Kelso may have shaved off an old recording and dictated a message, eh, Mel?"

"Could be," Mel said. "It can be done. And I'm sure he must have lived for several minutes after being left up here to die."

Mel turned the crank, adjusted the needle. Slowly the record began to turn. Accompanied by scratching noises, a tired voice that sounded like Uncle Kelso's came from the horn.

"Stine shot at me," said the voice, "because I wouldn't tell him where I'd hid the money. It's buried in the woods behind the barn. You'll see a marker . . ."

A noise on the stairs caused the two brothers to spin around. There, standing near the door, was Stine. He was panting and his eyes gleamed from beneath their puffy lids. Even in the dim light that filtered in through the cob-webbed window, the brothers could read the menace in Stine's red, bloated face. In his pudgy right hand was an ugly automatic.

"He lies." Stine's low throaty voice was vibrant with emotion. He waddled toward them, breathing loudly. "I shot him, all right. But I shot him because he was miserly. Because he accused me of stealing."

Keeping them covered with the automatic, Stine kicked the phonograph viciously. Out from the smashed cabinet poured a hoard of jingling, gold coins and three rolls of paper money.

Stine gasped. His little pig-like eyes blinked with greed. He was leaning forward to scoop up a handful of the golden coins, when Mel struck him hard behind the ear.

"Good work, Mel!" called out Sheriff Larson as he stepped into the attic. "That fake phonograph record you rigged up sure baited him into confessing."

Mel smiled. "Glad you were on time, Sheriff. I don't know what might have happened, if he had discovered he'd been tricked. And it's lucky for us, he kicked that old phonograph."

"There's probably a lot more stashed away around here," Ralph said. "Hey, Mel, how about giving me a hand picking this stuff up, while the Sheriff takes care of Adolph?"

HALF-PAST TEEN

Ideas from other editors

From the Shamokin Citizen, Shamokin, Pa.: A famous fairy tale makes a time-tested point that it doesn't pay to cry "wolf" too often lest one be left alone without the security of needed friends. Though the tale is more in the repertoire of Captain Kangaroo, politicians might learn a lesson from a serious study of its unsophisticated moral teaching.

For November approaches and in that never-never-land of electioneering the nervous shepherds of both political parties are counting the blessings of patronage with one eye while with the other they warily watch for the approach of any wicked wolf.

Wolves in sheeps' clothing are, of course, the most dangerous and destructive of all political foes and, thus, the tense tenders of uncertain wards, balky boroughs, and unpredictable counties are the most likely to cry "politics" whenever a gentleman, or a lady for that matter, takes off his or her hat.

So great is the hue and cry from the herders of votes during these approaching months that no civic-minded person or group can thoughtfully pursue a justifiable community end without being bullied, branded or bumptiously attacked as intruders in some self-appointed guardian's private domain.

But loud-mouths are the first to be deserted for their belligerent wails are easily seen as evoked by fear—a fear which exposes their glaring lack of intelligence and integrity.

In fact, most three-year-olds can see through these harried herders. But then, most three-year-olds are partisans of Captain Kangaroo—a man who is anything but a devil's advocate.

From the Chickasha Star, Chickasha, Oklahoma: The man who drives too fast is a menace to himself and everyone else on the road. A couple of evenings ago we were driving out into the country a few miles and decided the same can be said, though with certain qualifications, about the man who drives too slow. Now and then, indeed, it is argued a slow driver is every bit as much of a threat as the speeder. This is not entirely true for the simple reason that excessive speed in itself increases every other hazard because it gives less margin for error.

Directions on the Label

We have all chuckled over the joke about the dilemma of the young housewife who mislaid the can opener. We know how dependent we often are on ready-made prepared materials which come complete with directions. The trend toward "do-it-yourself" in the weekend workshop" has placed renewed emphasis on following detailed instructions. And for the new housewife, the amateur gardener, or beginning woodworker, simple, concise and complete directions are essential to success.

It is interesting to observe how much time father will spend "reading up" on a project before actually beginning work on it. He explains that he must do so in order not to spoil expensive material and we accept his explanation and give him credit for being cautious and foresighted. The "reading up on" habit is reserved, however, for those jobs which we are willing to admit we know little or nothing about. Rearing children — well, that is another matter. Anybody can do that, some will say, simply because weren't we all children once?

Fortunately, many parents have found that it is just as important to "read up" on children as on any other topic, as a matter of fact, much more important. The number of questions about which parents can obtain information is almost unlimited, if they will only take the time to read. Certainly, there can be no more "expensive material" which we could wish to avoid "ruining" than our own children.

But; some will say, there is so much to read, how can we know which is best? For many years workers in parent education and the field of child development have prepared lists of some of the most helpful material for parents. We will be happy to send you any one of our leaflets which list helpful books and pamphlets. Simply write us for our list of leaflets and prices which includes full instruction on how to obtain these helpful pamphlets. Address Institute of Child Development and Welfare, University of Minnesota.

Children's Play

Often, as parents, we look upon play as something that has no value of its own—that it is simply a good thing when it gets children out of our hair, and a bad thing when it interferes with duty.

But to a child, play is work. It is one way, and a very important way, that he learns. The three-month-old grabbing for his toes is learning about himself. Later his games will teach him to understand the world around him, too. In play he will learn skills and self-confidence, his curiosity will be stimulated, he will have a way of expressing ideas and feelings he is not yet able to put into words.

If he were actually restrained from playing from infancy he would be very slow to develop, perhaps even be retarded. And, to look far into the future, the child who never learns the enjoyment of playing will find it hard as an adult to take pleasure in relaxation, to "take it easy" when he wants or needs to.

The idea that play should be educational is one that can be taken too seriously. Toys that are designed to teach the alphabet or to count are often neglected by children to the dismay of the parents who bought them. Play, however, is always educational. Making mud pies teaches the difference between wet and dry, between soft and hard; it teaches weights and proportions and manual dexterity. The child moreover, is eager to learn this way, and will learn best if allowed to go at his own pace especially if the learning is pleasurable.

SHE'S GETTING IDEAS
about shopping without ever leaving home

This lady's shopping expedition is well under way . . . and she's pretty enthusiastic about it, too, as you can see. Yet, so far, she hasn't put a foot out of the house! What goes on here? Same thing that goes on in so many homes when it's time to buy something. First step is to see who's got what for sale . . . and for how much. The place to get the most useful buying information fastest is in the advertising columns of this newspaper. That's where most shopping expeditions hereabouts begin!

IN MEMORIAM

At the pathway's end is an open gate,
Through which our loved one's gone,
To a place of far more peace and joy
Than we shall ever know.
Our loving Father's waiting there
To give us strength and rest.
May we then find our comfort
In the thoughts that God knew best.

South St. Paul Livestock Market Report, Tuesday

Steers and heifers: Loadlots average to high-Choice 1,297, 1,325, and 1,364 lbs. slaughter steers sold at $28.00 and there were average-Choice 1,150, 1,152, and 1,159 lb. weights at the same figure. High-Choice and Prime 1,343 lb. weights made $28.25. Several loads average-Choice steers ranging in weight from 1,175 to 1,260 lbs. sold at $27.75, bulk Choice $27.00-27.50. Most Good cleared at $25.50-26.50, a few low-Good down to $25.00. Standard grade brought $21.00-24.00, Canner, Cutter and Utility $15.00-20.00.

Cows and bulls: On the early rounds there was a degree of sluggishness to the cow trade but sufficient demand developed later to put a little action in the market. Utility and Commercial cows moved at $15.00-17.50 while Canners and Cutters bulked at $13.00-15.00.

Vealers and calves: A few high-Choice and Prime vealers sold at $33.00, bulk Good and Choice grades going at $28.00-32.00. Standard vealers were taken at $24.00-27.00, Cull and Utility $18.00-23.00.

Hogs: Around 12,000 hogs were expected for Tuesday's trade but around noon it became doubtful if this total would fill. One local packer was still strikebound but even so supply and demand appeared to be fairly well in balance. Barrows and gilts sold at mostly steady prices when compared with last week's close. Sows also were largely steady, extremes 25c lower.

Sheep and lambs: Tuesday's local sheep and lamb supply approximated 2,500 head or 43 percent less that the salable receipts at this time last week and the corresponding period a year ago. Mixed Good and Choice spring slaughter lambs bulked at $20.50-21.00, Utility and low-Good $17.00-20.00 with an occasional shipment Utility down to $16.50.

Our LAND

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

Minnesota's fall soil sample roundup" is being launched this month. The purpose: to convince more farmers to sample their soils in fall, so as to get test results back in plenty of time for 1960 crop planning. Gives you a chance to order fertilizer too. Some can even go on this fall. Says Lowell Hanson, extension soils specialist at the University of Minnesota: "Soil testing is like a 'private eye' for finding the culprits that cause low yields and poor returns on your farm."

Fertilizing without a soil test is like taking medicine without a prescription; you might waste money on the wrong kind of remedy. Art Trahms, near Janesville, found by testing that available potash varied from 70 pounds in one field to 8 times that amount in another. Without the test, though, he would have treated all fields alike. And that would have meant too much fertilizer on some land; not enough on others. So he and Larry Christenson, Waseca county farm and home development agent, urge farmers to sample their soils for testing this fall.

Otters Take Prowlers in High Scoring Game

Will Meet Red Lake Falls Eagles There Next Friday Night

The Fergus Falls Otters, with halfback Tom Glorvigen proving to be the slippriest Otter of all, defeated the Prowlers, 40 to 25, in a football game played on the Lincoln high school field here Friday night. Glorvigen, a veteran of three years experience, scored three touchdowns, three conversion points, and tossed a 30-yard touchdown pass to end Ed Darby for his evening's contribution to coach Rocky Elton and Fergus Falls' football triumph.

On Friday night, the Prowlers will meet the Red Lake Falls Eagles on Red Lake Falls' Riverside park field. Fosston defeated Red Lake Falls, 12 to 0, on Friday.

In Friday night's high-scoring tilt here, Fergus Falls racked up a pair of touchdowns in the first four minutes of play, with Glorvigen scoring, to take a 14 to 0 lead, and from then on the Prowlers were forced to "run uphill."

Fergus Falls, winning the toss, chose to receive the opening kickoff, with the Prowlers electing to defend the north goal. Glorvigen gathered in Gary Klungness' kickoff on the Otters' 15-yard, and returned the ball to the Prowlers' 32-yard line, for a 53-yard return. Glorvigen picked up four yards at left tackle; Dale Vance hit right guard for four yards; and then, from the 24, Glorvigen cut through right tackle for a touchdown. Glorvigen added the point on a sweep of right end.

The Prowlers took the ensuing kickoff, with Arlan Hjelle making an 11-yard return, to the 31-yard line. Peter Iverson failed to a gain over right guard; Klungness circled right end for seven yards, and then ran for a first down on the 44-yard line. A lateral pass play which went awry was recovered by the Otters' Gary Eide on the Prowlers' 29-yard line. Three plays later, on a slash through right tackle, Glorvigen raced 24 yards for a touchdown. Glorvigen tossed a pass to Roger Edlund for the point, and the Otters held a 14 to 0 lead.

The Prowlers entered the scoring column when, after putting together a sequence of three first downs, Klungness swept right end for four yards and a touchdown. Klungness' try for the point, on a run, failed.

The Otters rebounded from that Prowler scoring drive by adding a 6-pointer to their game total. Glorvigen, on a fine run, carried the kickoff from the Fergus Falls' 12-yard line to the Prowlers' 21-yard stripe. Vance gained a couple of yards at right guard; Edlund failed to gain; and then Glorvigen, on a cutback over right tackle, ran 19 yards for the TD. The conversion try, a pass play, failed, and the Otters held a 20 to 6 first period lead.

The Prowlers scored early in the second period when Jeff Hartje recovered a "batted ball" on the Fergus Falls' 4-yard line and sprinted across the north goal-line for a touchdown. Dale Wennberg passed to Ron Hanson for the point, and the Prowlers trailed by a 20 to 13 score.

Late in the period, Fergus Falls' Don Nelson picked off a Prowler pass on the Otters' 40-yard line and raced 60 yards for a touchdown. Glorvigen added the point, on a run, and Fergus Falls moved into a 27 to 13 lead. Moments later a recovered fumble gave the Otters possession on the Prowler 30-yard line. A well-executed pass play, with Glorvigen whipping a long pass to Ed Dabry, was completed in the end zone for another Otter touchdown. And Glorvigen's successful point try, on a run, gave Fergus Falls a 34 to 13 lead at the intermission.

In the third period, Fergus Falls marked up a TD on Vance's 69-yard run down the east sidelines, with the speedy right halfback crossing the south goal-line for the Otters' sixth touchdown. Nelson's try for the point failed, and Fergus Falls held a 40 to 13 lead.

The Prowlers, with Jeff Hartje sparking the attack, did rally for a pair of touchdowns in the fourth period, with Lloyd Ranum lugging the ball across the goal-line for the TD's. Ranum's first touchdown was a 2-yard dive through right guard, and the second came as a result of a 30-yard dash around left end, with the Prowlers giving the hard-running junior some fine blocking on the play.

Both conversion point plays, on line plays by Hartje, failed to carry the ball across the goal-line, with the game score being 40 to 25 for Fergus Falls. It marked the fourth straight triumph for the Otters in the series than began in 1956.

Deputy Registrar Misappropriates Funds is Charge

A Bemidji man who has been acting as a deputy motor vehicle registrar in his wife's place since her injury in an accident last February was charged with misappropriating $2,224 in department funds.

John W. Alexander was charged with the offense in a complaint signed by Karl A. Nuerenberg of the state public examiner's office. Alexander admitted to authorities that he had used the money for speculations during a period from May 15 to Sept. 1.

The Bemidji man said he would make full restitution and was given time to raise the money before reporting to the sheriff's office.

The shortage was revealed when the state treasurer's office received a statement from a Bemidji bank showing an overdraft from the motor vehicle account. Deposit slips sent to St. Paul had been forged and no money was deposited in Bemidji.

Mrs. Alexander, who was appointed a deputy registrar March 1, 1955, was not involved in the shortage and had resigned her job Sept. 6, three days before the shortage was discovered.

Changes Made in A.S.C. Candidates Culkins Announces

Patrick W. Culkins, office manager of the Pennington county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office told the Times today that some changes had been made in the slate of candidates for community committeemen previously released.

These changes, he said, occurred as a result of the withdrawal and the ineligibility of several candidates whose names appeared in the September 5 issue of the Times. Highlanding township is the only one affected, and the nominees for that township are as follows: Cornelius Appelman, Percy Halvorson, Orlin Hanson, Alvin Hyland, Bennie Johnson, Frank Krbechek, Joe Horachek, Harry W. Paulson, Joe Schlofer, and Harry Solberg.

Culkins also stated that nominations by petition are permissible under the Secretary's regulations; but he said that petitions must be presented to the county ASC office not later than Wednesday morning at 9:00 a.m., September 16, in order to have the names of the petitioned nominees printed on the ballots.

State Will Resume Road Bids Sept. 25 Zimmerman States

Resumption of highway construction contract letting—based on anticipated favorable action by Congress — was announced today by State Highway Commissioner L. P. Zimmerman. He stated that bids will be received until 10:00 a.m. Friday, Sept. 25, at the state highway building on nine projects which are expected to cost an estimated $7,300,000. They include seven interstate highway projects and two regular trunk highway improvement projects.

The scheduled letting is the first one advertised by the highway department since Commissioner Zimmerman halted contract lettings on August 4 because of the federal bureau of public roads announcement that it would be unable to reimburse the state for the federal share of highway construction projects.

"Now that it appears that the federal highway trust fund will be able to honor our requests for reimbursement," Zimmerman stated, "we are advertising these projects in order that we may place them under contract and enable the contractors to begin work this fall before the construction season ends. We are hopeful that we will have as favorable weather this year as we did last fall so that the workmen employed on these projects may have as much employment as possible before severe winter weather sets in."

Slow Down and Live!

Post Mortems

There's not much argument but that the presence of Tom Glorvigen in the Fergus Falls lineup on Friday night was the big difference between the Otters and the Prowlers, and it was his performance that gave coach Rocky Elton's club their decisive 40 to 25 win over the locals in the inter-district football game played here.

For the past three years, Glorvigen has been a factor in giving the Otters' wins over the local gridders, but Friday night's performance was his finest. In the two previous years, Glorvigen played at quarterback for Fergus Falls, and very capably, too, but this season he is playing at left halfback, with sophomore Barry Johnson at quarterback. (Glorvigen did put in a stint at quarterback late in Friday night's game). If Glorvigen's play on Friday, and especially his first period of play, is an indication, he is an all-state prospect at halfback.

Glorvigen, not too impressive physically, carrying 175 pounds on a six-foot frame, does not possess terrific running speed, but does run with skill and control. And added to his running threat is his ability as a passer (he completed a thirty-yard touchdown pass to end Ed Darby by late in the second period to give the Otters a 34 to 13 lead at the intermission).

In Friday night's opening quarter, Glorvigen ran back the game-opening kickoff 63-yards to the Prowlers' 32-yard line, and then, after adding four yards on a rush, broke through right tackle for 24 yards; a short while later he cut through tackle for another 24-yard touchdown sprint. Another kickoff return; this for 67 yards, set up the third touchdown, and this one came on a 19-yard run off right tackle. He added the points after two of the touchdowns to personally account for all of the Otters' scores in the period, twenty big points.

As far as the first-down statistics are concerned, the Prowlers held the edge on Friday, having eighteen first downs to the Otters' thirteen. But it was the long gainers, the pass interceptions, and the kickoff returns that proved to be the factors in the Fergus Falls' win.

The Otters' offense carried the ball into the line very quickly, and with the Prowlers being indecisive (due perhaps to lack of experience) in their reactions, the Fergus Falls backs were able to break away for their long runs.

The Prowlers came out of the rugged tilt without any serious injuries. It appeared that Dale Wennberg, after making a 20-yard sweep of right end early in the fourth period, had been badly injured, for he had to be assisted off the field. But the injury proved to be minor, being a muscle spasm that knotted the calf of his right leg. Very painful, but he is expected to be ready for Friday night's game at Red Lake Falls.

To Remain at Red Lake Falls

Jason (Slew) Huseby will complete his high school athletic career as a member of the Red Lake Falls Eagles. It had been reported that Huseby, a six-foot five-inch all-around athlete, was to register at Moorhead and would conclude his high school athletics at the Spud school.

There was foundation for this report, too, for Jason's mother and sister established residence at Moorhead, and Huseby did appear at the registrar's office to "sign in" as a Moorhead high school student.

This "signing in" made Moorhead's basketball coach, Hartvig (Shocky) Strand very happy, and he left a basketball with the Moorhead registrar that was to be given to Huseby so Jason could get in some pre season practice. But it wasn't to be.

Jason's father remained at Red Lake Falls, where he is employed, and the state high school league rules prescribe that the father's residence establishes the residence requirements for eligibility purposes. If Jason had remained at Moorhead he would have lost one semester of athletic activity before becoming eligible (in a bona fide transfer of residence, a high school athlete becomes eligible in two weeks of school attendance). If Mr. Huseby, too, had moved to Moorhead, Jason would have been eligible for this season's Moorhead football play, as well as basketball and track. But what is Moorhead's loss remains as an advantage to Red Lake Falls.

Convalescent

An interested observer at a Prowler football practice session one day last week was Loren (Sid) Vraa, who quarterbacked the Prowlers in 1952, '53, and '54. Sid, who was hospitalized much of the summer, is convalescing after undergoing spinal surgery for the removal of a couple of discs.

Sid, who was a hero (kicking an extra point and a field goal) in the Moorhead State Teachers college 10 to 9 win over the Concordia Cobblers a couple of seasons ago, has two quarters of study remaining before he receives his degree from M. S. With his back encased in a corset-like supporter, it is doubtful that he will be able to resume his athletic career in the near future.

Vraa, who co-captained the 1954 club with Pete Froehle, set a Prowler football scoring record that season as coach Ralph Skay's club posted a seven wins and one loss mark. Sid scored eighteen touchdowns and added twenty-three placekick conversions for a total of 131 points, a school record. He capped his season's point production with a five-touchdown and four-placekicks performance against the Crookston Pirates, scoring 34 points as the locals marked up a 48 to 0 in the season's finale.

During last week's visit, Sid also had an opportunity to renew acquaintances with George Schlieff, who will be assisting Gene Sach in coaching the hockey Prowlers. Vraa and Schlieff were participants in the North vs. South All-Star football game in 1955, with Sid playing with the North, and George, a Rochester graduate, playing at halfback with the South. The North won that game.

Instrument Music Demonstrations Given at Schools

Instrumental music demonstrations will be given in the Thief River Falls grade school this week, according to James Solsten, orchestral music director.

Demonstrations will be given at Knox school Tuesday evening, Sept. 15; at Washington school Wednesday evening, Sept. 16 and at Northrop school Thursday evening, Sept. 17. All will begin at 8 o'clock.

The meetings will be of interest especially to fifth and sixth grade students and the parents of these youngsters who are interested in beginning musical instrument instruction. All instruments for which instruction is given will be displayed and demonstrated and information on the music program will be given.

Letters in regard to the programs will be sent home with fifth and sixth grade students. All interested persons are urged to attend the demonstrations.

Collecting touchdowns for the Prowlers were Don Nicholson, who scampered 20 yards for a TD, and Elton Hornseth, who recovered a Bemidji fumble for a touchdown.

North Dakota Junior Champion Winner of Trap Shoot Honors

The North Dakota state junior trapshooting champion, Jon Dickson, shooting in a late shift on Sunday afternoon, posted scores of 24-23 for an aggregate of 47.

Until Dickson chalked up his 47, it appeared that a shoot-off would be necessary to top money winner as four shooters—Sandy Wilson, Tony Dorn, Dickson, and Jerry Amundgaard — had marked 46's. Wilson scored a 25-21, Dorn a 25-21, Dickson a 23-23, and Amundsgaard a 23-23.

George Wolf of Grand Forks, one of North Dakota's top-ranked trapshooters, arrived late and in his first round, on the number one trap, he broke 24. Moving over to the number two trap, where the birds were coming out low, Wolf dropped four birds to post an aggregate of 45. Other shooters scoring 45's were Walt Jung with a 22-23, and Stan Wilson also with a 22-23.

Wildlife Film at Sportsmen's Meet

An interesting and rewarding evening program is promised members of the Pennington County Sportsmen's club who attend the club's monthly meeting Tuesday evening in the downstairs meeting room of the city auditorium, Gay Warnecke announced today.

A film of interest to sportsmen is scheduled and it is expected that a report on the game populations will be given those present. A good attendance is urged.

Lunch will be served the members following the meeting.

Economists figure we will need nearly twice as much energy by 1975 as we use at present. Much of the future power must come from the petroleum industry.

Progress Reported in Eradication of Lake Superior Eels

A recent report from the Great Lakes Commission reveals the war again Lamprey eels in Lake Superior is continuing. Eradication of the sea lamprey by use of chemical larvicides and electric barriers on the spawning streams of Lake Superior is now well in progress in both U. S. and Canada. Five Canadian streams entering the southeastern section of the lake were chemically treated by joint U. S.-Canadian field crews in June and July. Three additional streams are to be treated in this area before moving northwestward. Recent streams treated along the American shore were the Big and Little Two Hearted rivers. Work will begin soon in the streams of Michigan's Keewenaw Peninsula.

The electric barrier kill on 40 U. S. Lake Superior streams to July 24 was 51,645 lamprey compared to 65,915 with 45 barriers up to the same time in 1958. In Canada, the kill for 19 barriers through July 18 totaled 3,209 lamprey. The U. S. is operating 37 barriers on Lake Michigan streams and the kill through July 24 was 27,543 lamprey. Last year 60 barriers were used and the kill for the same period was 30,862.

During the Korean war a helicopter from the heavy cruiser USS Helena made so many successful rescues of downed pilots that it earned the name, "Last Chance Taxi."

Almost 42,000,000 pounds of nickel were used in 1958 for plating purposes.

New Students Attend Orientation Programs at Lincoln Junior High

New junior high students at Lincoln high school received an early welcome Thursday afternoon, and Friday morning of the week before school opening as incoming 7th graders and new 8th graders and 9th graders attended orientation programs at the high school auditorium.

The purpose of the program, as directed by Mrs. DeCorsey, junior high counselor, was to acquaint students with the school procedures and environment.

On Thursday afternoon the new 9th graders from St. Hilaire, St. Bernard's and surrounding rural schools were present. Jim Ranum led the program as master of ceremonies. He introduced Mr. Arnold Larson, junior high principal, who greeted the students and gave a few tips on the school's expectations of its students concerning their attitude, behavior and scholastic record.

Joseph Iverson, director of secondary education, brought greetings from the staff and administration and assured the newcomers that they had excellent teachers to guide and instruct them through the school year.

Friday morning's program for the 7th graders followed a similar procedure with Mark Anderson acting as master of ceremonies.

"A Day at Lincoln,' was presented by the students with Elroy Frolland talking on sports, Ricky Jensen enumerating the music activities and Linda Thorkelson reporting on the other activities available to 7th graders.

At the conclusion of both programs the student guides led the new students on a tour of the building, at which time they also attended a shortened version of all their classes in order to meet their teachers, locate their classrooms and read a specified portion of the junior high handbook.

Itasca Park Season Extended to Oct. 15

The popularity of Minnesota's state parks with vacationers has been little short of phenomenal but at no time have these facilities for the enjoyment of outdoor living shown such a degree of popularity as during the past summer. The demand by the public for a longer season has brought about extension of the customary closing date in Itasca State Park from September 15 to October 15. During this extra month of operation several conventions will be held at Douglas Lodge and the general public may make reservations for such facilities as are not being used by these various groups during and between the conventions.

There are numerous reasons for the growing popularity of late season camping but perhaps the principal ones are the beauty of the autumn color in these preserves and the absence of congestion. It should be pointed out that the parks are open the year around but many services such as running water must be curtailed when freezing weather arrives.

Many persons find that a fall circle tour of the parks where they may cruise at leisure and enjoy the matchless pageantry of nature's autumn wonderland is the ultimate in vacation enjoyment and they are taking advantage of Minnesota's ever growing facilities for such recreation in steadily increasing numbers.

Where Does Energy Come From, Go To?

Ever wonder where we get industrial, transportation, and other commercial energy? University of Minnesota says 45 per cent of our state's primary energy comes from coal, as compared with the country-wide 42 per cent; both state and national, petroleum yields 38 per cent of the commercial energy expended; natural gas 14 per cent in Minnesota, 16 per cent nationally; water power 3 per cent here, 4 per cent elsewhere. In Minnesota 26 per cent of this energy goes into transportation compared with 21 per cent nationally; generating electricity uses 15 per cent of our energy against only 12 per cent nationally; 20 per cent goes into manufacturing here, compared with an impressive 40 per cent nationally; 39 per cent of Minnesota's expended energy goes into heating and minor uses compared with only 27 per cent throughout the nation.

Bill Svendsgaard Concludes Report on Michigan Camp

This is the last report by a Pennington county 4-H'er who won national recognition for his work in the 4-H program. Bill Svendsgaard of Mavie reports on Camp Minniwanca in Michigan. He will be returning to Bemidji to work on his Education degree after returning from camp.

My return trip tickets have all been punched and I'm homeward bound after two weeks at Camp Minniwanca. The last day at camp was the awards day and other ceremonies to close the 1959 session. As I reported earlier, we were all divided into tribes, fighting for the best point system. We earned these points through participation in all the camp's activities and also the ratings won. Somehow, our Iroquois tribe won the first place trophy. Also an award sought every year by a state is the "State Achievement Award." This award is presented to a state who has the highest averaged achievement record of the campers of their state. They announced the top ten out of the fifty states and Minnesota was awarded sixth place; California this year winning first.

At dinner following the awards program, every camper was given a gift from one of the foreign delegate, DoWon Hahn, of Korea. It was placed by our plates and after opening the paper, it was a pair of chopsticks. We were served spaghetti and tossed salad and at this meal we were the best mannered—eating our food very slowly.

On Sunday noon, I left camp and later returning on the ferry that crosses Lake Michigan, a distance of nearly 90 miles. This ferry is not a one story, flat raft as I had pictured it, but the "Clipper" is six stories high, has a crew of 108 and carries over 900 passengers, transports 125 cars, has a length of 361 feet and takes six hours to cross the lake. On the way to camp, we hit a storm, or I should say, a storm hit us, and many passengers got seasick, but on the return voyage, it was real smooth sailing.

On Monday evening, I arrived in St. Paul from Milwaukee and hurried out to the State Fair grounds to the state 4-H building and gave a report to the 4-H'ers at the assembly program about my Camp Miniwanca trip. I also met many Canadian 4-H'ers on the Manitoba exchange program at the state fair and some Minnesota delegates that went to Manitoba. They asked me to greet Margaret Peterson, our own representative on this exchange program this summer from Pennington county.

There you have it, my experiences touched on briefly in my three reports. I hope you've enjoyed reading them as much as I've enjoyed living the experiences to write about.

The motto of the camp is "My own self at my very best all the time." For campers to achieve this, the balanced four-fold development is taught; live balanced physically, mentally, socially, and religiously." In doing so, one will keep right on that road of growth and development into ever fuller dimensions of life, never selling one self short of his abilities and capacities. Read this again, 4-H'ers, and compare their motto and objectives to those of 4-H. Very similar aren't they? Our motto is "To Make the Best Better" and I pledge my head to clearer thinking (the mental development of their four-fold plan), my heart of greater loyalty (religiously), my hands to larger service (socially), and my health to better living (physically). Work hard, and some day you may represent yourself, our county, and our state at the American Youth Foundation Leadership Training Camp at Stone Lake, Mich. It has been valuable and enjoyable experience and a great privilege for me to be the 1959 delegate.—Bill Svendsgaard, Minnesota 4-H representative.

"Bad will be the day for every man when he becomes absolutely contented with the life that he is living, with the thoughts that he is thinking, with the deeds that he is doing, when there is not forever beating at the doors of his soul some great desire to do something larger, which he knows that he was meant and made to do because he is still, in spite of all, the child of God."

Welcome Nikita

Premier Nikita Khrushchev will be the guest of our country for a few days and as the host country we have the responsibility of making his visit pleasant. This will require a special effort. Few Americans admire this leader of a great nation. For most of us he represents that which is coarse and cruel and treacherous. But he comes in response to an official invitation by our government. Later our President will return the call. Khrushchev should be just as well treated here as we will want Eisehower to be treated when he visits Russia.

There are some things about this exchange of visits that we do not like. We are satisfied, however, that the arguments in favor of the exchange outweigh by far the arguments against it. Barring unfortunate occurrences that could worsen our relations with the Communist world, we have much more to gain than to lose by such visiting back and forth.

Such an exchange is not going to convert Khrushchev into a trustworthy friend. Few Americans will be misled by his wisecracking or by anything he may say. But we do believe President Eisenhower will make a profound impression upon the people of Russia, and it is the understanding and friendship of the Russian people that we need in our efforts to establish an enduring peace. Anything that is done during Khrushchev's visit to our country that would be resented by the people of Russia will do our country and the cause of world peace a disservice.

Is it unreasonable to assume that we may some day look upon the people of Russia as our friends? We think not. We do not now hate the Russian people. It is the Russian government that we look upon as an evil thing.

In the course of our lifetime we have hated the governments of several nations. At the turn of the century we hated the government of Spain. Then we hated Kaiser Bill and later Adolf Hitler and Mussolini. Pearl Harbor certainly aroused hatred for the government of Japan that plotted our destruction at the very time its representatives were talking peace in Washington. And on several occasions we have hated the governments of Great Britain.

But we are getting along well now with the people of Spain, Germany, Italy, Japan and England. And at the present time we are getting along well with their governments. There is no justification for the attitude that we will never be able to look upon the people of Russia, and their government, as friends and allies.

The people of Russia are friendly to us now. Their government, we are certain, is not friendly, but governments change. The more we can do to retain and strengthen the confidence and the good will of the Russian people the sooner will we get a Russian government that will deserve our confidence.

It is gratifying to know that Senator J. William Fulbright, chairman of the foreign relations committee, has invited the Soviet Premier to meet with his committee and other members of Congress, including the congressional leaders of both parties. This is encouraging proof that there still are statesmen in our national law making body. We are sure the people of Russia will be glad this courtesy is extended to the head of their government.

And so we say, welcome to Nikita and to the hundred other Soviet officials who will be in the Khrushchev party. Along with the vast majority of American citizens we hope that the visit will be both pleasant and informative and will result in more visiting back and forth by the officials and the people of our countries.

Butter Surplus Down

We were glad to see the price of butter drop a quarter of a cent on the New York market. We liked it, not because of the price drop, but because butter once again is bringing more money in the market than the government support price. The pegged price has been 61 cents. Last week it went up to 64 cents and on Thursday it dropped back ¼ of a cent. This means that we are getting closer to the end of surpluses of this product and that is good news.

At the present time the government is neither buying nor selling butter. Its present stock will be needed to take care of its school lunch commitments so it has no surplus to dispose of.

In the meantime, the trend toward fewer but larger dairy herds is continuing. In this area, as elsewhere, bulk cooling and greater mechanization is already on the way and in a few years the cream can will be a relic of a past era.

The trend toward fewer but larger dairy herds may simplify the problem of industry organization and the control of production and marketing by the producers themselves. The sooner the dairy industry, and other segments of our agricultural economy, are taken out of politics the better it will be for farmers and those of us who are a part of farm communities.

Things We Do Not Want

Those who say that representatives of the steel industry and the steel workers should be forced to negotiate around the clock probably are hopeful that continuous sessions would break the deadlock and speed up agreement on a new work contract. But it might have the contrary effect, too. Sometimes absence does make the heart grow fonder, and when two people can't agree, a period of separation sometimes is helpful in adjusting differences and restoring harmony.

With the steel strike going into its third month the pressure for a settlemen is building up. Workers and industries not involved in the steel strike are beginning to feel the pinch. All people are hopeful that steel production can soon be resumed. But our guess is that the main concern of the majority of the people of the country is over the terms of settlement, based on the hope that this strike will be settled in the public interest.

There is little indication of public sympathy for either labor or management in this instance. The public attitude, as we sense it, is that too many of these strikes have been settled in the past in a public-be-damned spirit. The facts indicate that steel labor already is well paid and that steel prices have been too high. A hold-the-line on wages and a lowering of steel prices would now be most welcome.

The alternative is another round of wage and price boosts throughout the country, a further decrease in the buying power of the dollar, more competition from abroad, and increased unemployment here. These things we do not want.

Two Jobs

(Morris Tribune)

According to the Bureau of the Census, the number of workers who hold down more than one job has doubled in the last 10 years. As a matter of fact, among male workers who are heads of households nearly one in 10 holds down more than one job.

While these figures are based largely on surveys among workers in larger centers, it is likely that multiple job holding will increase in rural areas as well. The number of people who like to be close to the soil and follow various agricultural pursuits seems to be larger than the soil available will support. With multiple job holding becoming such a common practice it would scarcely be surprising for many people to combine another job with a part time farming operation.

One can speculate also on the effects a shorter work week of the future might have upon the practice of holding more than one job. Generally supporters of shorter work weeks claim that more jobs will be available for more workers. While this claim might be disputed on other bases, it is extremely likely that the incidence of multiple job holding would multiply so rapidly that not only would any additional jobs be taken up but some marginal workers might find it even more difficult to secure any job at all.

Clearly the indications are that there is a very strong preference among many American workers for more income rather than more leisure time.

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

An elderly retired couple from a remote town was visiting the big city for the first time. The sights seemed to interest the old gentleman more than his wife, who finally exclaimed, "John, the way you stare at these women is something scandalous! A person would think you'd never seen legs before."

"It was harrowing," he said. "Indians to the left of me, Indians to the right, Indians to my rear, Indians in front, Indians everywhere closing in on me."

"Whew," exclaimed a listener. "What did you do?"

"What could I do?" the man said. "I bought a basket."

YOUR SENATOR REPORTS

from the Desk of SENATOR HUBERT H. HUMPHREY

Labor Reform Bill—The labor reform bill finally hammered out and sent to the President last week is, indeed, as the headlines called it, a "tough" bill. It is not tougher on corruption and racketeering within the labor movement than was the original Senate bill—but it carries House-added restrictions on legitimate union activity. The Senate bill provided thoroughgoing and effective reforms of the abuses of power and the corruption of some few elements in the labor movement. But in order to get these reform provisions enacted into law at all this session, we had to accept others added in the House which would make it more difficult to organize workers in those sections of the country where organized labor is not strong. In fact, had all the original provisions of the Landrum-Griffin bill been accepted by the Senate, northern employers might well have found themselves at a competitive disadvantage with employers in the South paying non-union wages. As it is, some of the final provisions in the compromise bill may prove to have this effect.

Key Reform Provisions— The work of the McClellan Committee had clearly demonstrated the need for the following reforms provided in the Senate bill and in the final version of the bill:

1. A bill of rights for union members.
2. Detailed public financial accounting by unions, employers and middlemen.
3. Secret-ballot election of union officers.
4. Limitation on trusteeship period of an international union over a local union.
5. Five-year ban on service as a union officer or business agent of any person convicted of a major crime, or who has been a member of the Communist party.

What's Right With Labor—As I voted for the labor reform bill in the Senate, I reminded my colleagues that the overwhelming majority of the leadership of American labor are honest, clean and high-minded men. American Labor has consistently supported and fought for programs in the public interest—for education and better housing, for conservation, for good agricultural programs. It is well to remember that union members are our neighbors and friends, and that they too are disturbed about the abuses of a handful of labor officials.

PEEKIN' into the PAST

THE UNDERTAKER

Austere as the old time undertaker was often characterized to be, he was nevertheless performing an important function in the community.

The hearse was luxurious in appointments compared with most vehicles of the period and the horses were usually handsome, well-trained and harnessed in "mourning" as in the above photo.

Imagine a truck ride that permits higher safe cruising speeds, more trips per day with all kinds of cargo over every type of road surface. Imagine a ride that keeps up to 78% of all objectionable road shock and vibration from ever reaching the driver and cargo, a design that sharply reduces twisting and fatigue forces on chassis, cabs and bodies, that keeps trucks young for extra thousands of miles. *Soon you won't have to just imagine such a ride. You can try it for yourself in the trucks that do the next best thing to paving every road in America—new Chevrolet trucks for 1960. You'll see what happens when Chevy's truck engineers design a whole new line of trucks around a whole new kind of torsion-spring suspension. Ed Lancaster of Lancaster bought 13 rams at the sale. Lancaster is presently running 550 ewes and is increasing his herd to 1,200 ewes next year. Prior to coming to this area recently, he farmed in Idaho.

The reserve was shown by Walter Clow of Hallock and bought by Lawrence Philipp of rt. 4, Thief River Falls. The reserve was the top-priced animal bringing $110. Average price for the breed was $94.10.

Elwood Billberg of Wannaska showed the champion Hampshire which was purchased by Tilford Wicklander of Roseau. The reserve champion was shown by Llewellyn Larson of Argyle and was bought by Elmer Monsrud of Roseau.

Half a Century of Membership in I.O.O.F. Noted

Gabrielson first joined the Odd Fellows at Hallock lodge 212 in 1896. Later, he moved to a location near the Canadian border where he opened a country store and post office which he named Visby after his home in Sweden. He withdrew from the lodge while he was at Visby and was reinstated later at the Humboldt lodge. Later, he transferred to the Thief Falls lodge where he has been a member for many years.

He has served in practically all offices of the local lodge and as grand herald of Minnesota and in the state grand encampment. He is also a captain-retired of the local Patriarchs Militant branch, Canton Lone Pine No. 10.

Roll call is held, attendance records kept and final examinations will be given before certificates are issued and grades sent back to the governing bodies which supervise the students. As one officer summed up the course, "Boy, they sure pour it to you."

Much of the work Monday and Tuesday was on the phases of juvenile work which were changed in many ways by the last legislature. Wednesday, the subjects of arrest, search and and seizure, bank robbery, first aid, traffic laws and accident investigation were covered. Traffic will take up much of Thursday's work and Friday morning will be devoted to firearms.

The school, the first in Minnesota under a new law passed by the last legislature, has been founded to give at least two weeks of training to every law enforcement officer in the state and is under the direction of the state bureau of criminal apprehension. Instructors of the courses are from that office, the bureau of narcotics, federal bureau of investigation, national auto theft bureau, youth conservation commission, state fire marshal's office, state highway patrol, members of the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth police departments and other agencies.

Fertilizer Dealers to Absorb Farmers' Cost of Soil Testing

Fertilizer dealers of the community, meeting with the agricultural committee of the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday morning, decided to absorb the cost of soil testing this fall, allowing a deduction for this expense from fertilizer purchases made during the winter. As was done last spring, soil sample stations will be maintained Thursday and Friday, October 15 and 16, and the samples received on these days will be forwarded to the University of Minnesota for analysis.

Of a total of 104 farmers participating in the spring testing drive, more than 80 per cent were testing for the first time, the records indicate. There were 104 farms participating on which a total of 246 tests were taken. The number of acres tested on each farm averaged 63. The samples that were brought in at that time came from four counties in the area.

A greatly intensified effort is being made throughout the area to encourage soil testing that will lead to correct fertilizer use to meet soil deficiencies, getting better results at lower costs.

Pennington Girl to State 4-H Camp at Itasca Park

Elaine Sorenson, Pennington county's health achievement champion will attend the state 4-H health camp Sept. 20-23. The camp will be held at the University of Minnesota's Forestry and Biological station in Itasca state park.

The nearly 100 4-H'ers who will attend the camp were chosen on the basis of their contributions toward improving health conditions in their homes and communities, their personal health records and their ability to bring back useful health information to fellow club members.

Pennington county's representative has been active in this program. She has taken the health project seven years and safety for six years. She has two years of junior leadership and has completed 41 projects. Elaine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sorenson of Norden township.

This is the seventh year that the camp has been sponsored by the University of Minnesota Agriculture Extension service in cooperation with the Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association and the Minnesota state department of health. The Folger Coffee company provides the funds.

Group workshop sessions covering grooming for good health, home sanitation for healthful living, personality development and dental hygiene will be held for two days of the camp. Camp speakers will be from the Minnesota department of health, the Bureau of of Health Education, Chicago, and the Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association.

Climax of the camp will be the announcement of the state health achievement champions for 1959.

Leaders Council of 4-H Clubs Held Monthly Meeting

County Fair Records Come in for Lengthy Discussion; Changes Are Recommended

At a meeting of members of the Pennington county 4-H leaders council Monday a lengthy discussion was held on county fair improvements. It was decided that 4-H records submitted by 4-H members need to be more complete and all members were requested to start on their records early and to make estimates on materials where actual costs are not available. This includes livestock, garden, grain, clothing, food preparation and all other 4-H records. All records must be closed at the time the record is filed at the extension office even though harvest is not completed, or an animal is not sold.

A committe of Paul Furuseth, Dale Svendsgaard and Ray Oen was set up to examine 4-H building improvements on the fair grounds.

Fire Prevention Week is October 4-10 and all clubs in the safety project were encouraged to carry on activities on fire prevention during this week.

A 4-H program planning committee was selected for the year 1959-60. Appointed were: Mary Ann Radniecki, Virginia Finstad, Deanna Burtness and Elaine Hellquist. The committee will meet in the extension office on Saturday, Sept. 26, at 1 p.m.

Margaret Peterson, Minnesota-Manitoba 4-H exchange delegate, reported on her experiences in Canada. She gave a vivid portrayal of the 4-H program in Canada and her life on the Canadian farm. Aided by slides taken during her Canadian visit she showed scenes from the Canadian National Park at Clear Lake, Manitoba. Other highlights included the International Peace Gardens at the North Dakota-Manitoba border, the Brandon fair, Winnipeg, 4-H meeting and a church picnic.

Milton Leiran of the Silverton 4-H club reported on 4-H camps held during the state fair. He stated that the camp was a valuable experience in meeting boys and girls in 4-H club work in other parts of the state and that a rich program in work and recreation was combined during camp week.

The next council meeting was set for the second Monday of October, which is October 12.

Many Thrills at Two Rodeo Performances

Butch Larmar of White Earth, N. D., Placed First Among Riders

Butch Larmar of White Earth, N. D., won third in the bareback bronc division for his ride on Talcum Powder and a first for his ride Sunday riding Cotton Picker to place first at the 7th annual Thief River Falls rodeo Sept. 12-13.

Favored by warm and sunny weather, the event attracted good audiences both days and the stock was fired up with only half the riders qualifying.

Bob Hagel, champion saddle bronc rider from Timber Lake, S. D., won first Saturday on Two-Dot and first Sunday on Tuxedo to win him the average. Norlan Windahl from Viking entered the saddle bronc division and made a good ride Saturday on Turkey Trot but failed to qualify Sunday.

The saltiest event of the rodeo was the steer wrestling in which the only injuries happened. Clarence Sauter of Long Prairie, Minn., sprained a leg Saturday but, bolstered by tape and bandages, came back Sunday to take out his steer to win the go-round and the average. Dick Lamb of Timber Lake placed third Saturday but broke his leg on the first fall Sunday afternoon.

With 14 riders entered and only one go-round, cowboys showed keen competition in the bull riding with $96 first money offered. Denny Barnes of Sioux Falls, S. D., won the event and, with other prize money, was the high money winner of the rodeo. "Rub-a-Dub" Stament, rodeo clown, kept up a running line of chatter with spectators and the announcer and presented his trained mule in an amusing act. A. B. Patten with his trained bull, George, and his trained Arabian horse did a variety of tricks that were crowd pleasers.

Results of the rodeo were: Saddle bronc riding — Bob Hagel, first; Phil Ellingsworth, second; Slim Benner, third and Don Olson, fourth. Bareback riding — Butch Larmar, first; Gary Barnes, second; Bob Schriock, third and Denny Barnes, fourth. Calf roping — Freddie Kraft, first; Butch Larmar, second; Denny Barnes, third and Dick Tronerud, fourth. Steer wrestling — Clarence Sauter, first; Frank Crimmins, second; Jack Sharkey, third and Dick Lamb, fourth. Bull riding — Denny Barnes, first; John Ritter, second; Bob Schriock, third and Butch Larmar, fourth.

Charges Hurled During Stormy Council Session

Belch-Rau Tangle, Charge Each Other with Prevarication

Alderman A. J. Rau and Mayor O. D. Belch hurled charges of "liar" at each other at the council meeting Tuesday night, Sept. 15, in a session which moved along smoothly until the matter of streets was brought up.

The storm broke late in the evening when the delayed petition of property owners on LaBree av. N, between Fourth and Fifth sts. was brought up. The petition asked that the street be blacktopped and the cost assessed against the property owners.

Alderman Rau as chairman of the street committee presented a cost figure of $1 a foot for each property and stated that work done this summer showed this figure to be adequate.

At this point, Robert A. Wurst, city attorney, told the council that a feasibility report prepared by an engineer or other competent person was the first procedure necessary and that nothing further could be done until the survey was made.

Mayor O. D. Belch intervened at this stage of the discussion to question whether street work could be done for $1 a foot and if the work was temporary or permanent. The impending battle, which had been simmering for some time, erupted.

Alderman Rau said the mayor had been "anxious to get street improvements of this kind on the south side of your own property. (Mussey st. between Crocker and Merriam aves.) "You asked to get this work done," Rau charged.

Mayor Belch vehemently denied that he had asked that the work be done and charged Alderman Rau with prevarication adding that although the street needed work, he would not ask that it be done as long as he was in office. "I'm enough of a politician to know what effect such action would lead to," Belch said.

Continuing, the mayor said that the work had taken three weeks, had cost hundreds of dollars and was never done properly. "I know who wanted the work done on that street and I know why it was done," he charged.

Two letters of protest from residents of Kneale ave. were read to the council at this point in the discussion charging that dust from the salt and gravel street laid recently was damaging houses and shrubbery and asking that the condition be remedied.

Alderman Roy Lee asked, "When did the council decide to go any further with salt base streets than the experimental strip laid on Davis ave.?" Mayor Belch added that he had had serious complaints of damage to cars and property from the salt base streets and added that any work beyond the Davis st. construction had never been authorized.

Only High Producing Cows Consigned to Sale Here October 15

Members of the executive committee, representing the four Dairy Herd Improvement associations that are sponsoring a Top of the Nation auction sale of high producing cows and heifers here October 15, met Tuesday night at the court house to complete arrangements for the event. Martin Carrico, of the Hartwood Farms at Hallock, who has been named sale manager and will serve as auctioneer, presided.

Prospects for a really outstanding group of dairy animals are excellent the discussion revealed. All cows offered must have D.H.I.A. records of at least 400 pounds of fat production if they are grades and 450 pounds if they are purebreds. Heifers must have a proven background of these same production standards. Selection committees in each county have been made up of the county agent, the county director and Mr. Carrico. At the present time a total of 45 animals have been consigned, and more than half of these are bred heifers. Members of the executive committee are Mr. Carrico, Don Walker of Red Lake Falls, Robert Barr of Warren, Allan Magnuson of Roseau, and Maynard Mehrkens and county agent Paul Steimaschuk of Thief River Falls.

The purpose of the sale is to encourage better herds in Northwestern Minnesota and to stimulate interest in herd testing. The average production in Pennington county, about the same as the national average, is only 230 pounds of fat, and of course many cows are below this average.

Mr. Carrico, for the past five years associated with Earl Glydden and the Heartwood farms at Hallock, had nine years of experience with the Rockwood farm and the Trappist Monastery operation south of Winnipeg. The Rockwood herd was dispersed in 1955 and the 91 animals sold brought an average price of $1,529.00. He has served as the auctioneer at five of the Province of Manitoba annual dairy sales.

RESIGNED Miles Nelson, who has served three years as principal of the Lincoln Senior High, has accepted a similar position in the International Falls school system, Superintendant of Schools Irwin Mickelson announced Monday. Mr. Nelson expects to leave here by the end of this week. No action has been taken on securing a replacement, according to Mr. Mickelson.

Constitution Was Signed Sept. 17

The American Constitution was signed September 17 in the year 1787 and the week, beginning today, has been designated Constitution week. In his proclamation President Eisenhower said, "I urge the people of the United States to observe that week with appropriate ceremonies and activities in their schools and churches and in other suitable places."

Drainage Board Given Report on Lost River

Engineer's Findings in Written Form Will Be Acted Upon Later

Members of the board of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy district heard the engineers preliminary report of the proposed Lost River project in Red Lake, Polk and Clearwater counties, at a meeting held in the office of Robert J. Lund Monday evening. The engineer, Lloyd Oftedal of Crookston, was instructed to file a written report. When that has been considered the board will decide what action should be taken.

If at the time the board concludes that the project is practical and feasible, then viewers will be named to estimate the benefits and costs. The engineers written report will be ready later this month which should make it possible to get the work of the viewers completed this fall.

Under the provisions of a federal grant, which has been approved, the benefited property owners will be required to pay 33.2 per cent of the construction cost, the federal government paying the balance. The counties will be expected to replace all bridges and the cost of right of way and local damages will be spread against the benefited property.

All of the board members and officers were present. They are Ole Melby of Oklee, president, Stanley Mortenson and Robert J. Lund of Thief River Falls, secretary and treasurer respectively, Earl Wagner of Gonvick, Claude M. Knudson of Gully, Delmar

Jet Plane delivered at Airport Tuesday

Local and area residents are assured of having a close look at a jet fighter airplane at the Sept. 27 open house. The long-awaited navy surplus Grumman Panther arrived here this week and will be assembled well ahead of the open house date.

Progress is also being made on other airport improvements and it is hoped most of them can be completed by the open house date.

Noteworthy is the fact that airport manager Daniel Illies is the owner of a twin-engined Cessna airplane, having traded his smaller plane to a party from Marshall, Minn. last Sunday. Illies' World War II vintage former trainer and light transport was known by pilots as "the Bamboo Bomber," being of steel tubing and fabric construction, rather than aluminum alloy as is the case with most multi-engine planes.

Lions Slave Sale Scheduled Friday Night, Sept. 18

Fifty-nine willing (?) and able (?) members of the Lions club will go on the auction block as one-day slaves Friday night, Sept. 18, beginning at 9:15 with Roy Bruggeman calling for the bids.

Rumors of plots to pool resources to purchase the services of certain members have been circulating during the week and a group of farmers is known to be considering selected Lions for "an honest day of labor."

Due to a conflict in scheduling, the auction will be held on Second st. north of the City auditorium rather than in the building itself.

A unique opportunity to get some work done around the homes is offered to the housewives of the area faced with the fall chores of taking down screens, cleaning storm windows, raking yards and cleaning the homes. No matter how lazy or devious a husband may be, these chores may now be accomplished by enchained Lions working to provide funds for the organization's youth activities.

Sales will also be conducted every morning next week when radio station KTRF will hold auctions starting at 9:15 a.m. Bids will be accepted by telephoning MU 1-1230 and all offers will be broadcast.

Speed Trap Increases Volume of Arrests for Traffic Violations

An unusual aspect of the municipal court session conducted by Judge Stanley Mortenson Monday afternoon was the predominance of speeding cases. The court clerk, Mrs. Patricia Thompson, reported this is the result of the first general use of the city's new traffic recorder, which has been placed at school crossings at various times by city police.

In Monday's court session were two cases brought by the highway patrol. David W. Arends, rt. 1, Middle River, pleaded guilty to careless driving and was fined $15 plus $4 costs, while William Even Reed, Greenbush, drew a $12.50 fine plus $4 costs after pleading guilty to a speeding charge.

All other cases were brought by the city police. George W. Owens, rt. 2, Euclid, pleaded guilty to speeding and was fined $8 plus $4 costs, while the same plea to the same charge resulted in a $9 plus $4 costs to Mrs. Eunice Greene, city.

Arthur T. Gutterud, city, was fined $100 plus $5 costs and his license was revoked after he pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of intoxicants.

Gordon M. Hoel, Erskine, pleaded guilty to speeding and was fined $6 plus $4 costs. On a charge of driving in violation of the restrictions on his license he was fined $10 plus $4 costs, of which $5 was suspended. Gerald W. Wayne, rt. 3, Goodridge, pleaded guilty to driving with an illegal muffler and was fined $5, suspended, $4 costs paid.

The following forfeited bond for non-appearance to face speeding charges: Larry A. Dimmen, Fargo, $25; Chester E. Boen, Strandquist, $17, and Evan E. Wold, Roseau, $11.

In a special hearing before Judge H. O. Chommie Wednesday morning, Kenneth R. Kohler, city, pleaded guilty to speeding and was fined $10 plus $4 costs.

"Is Rau the entire street committee?" Dr. Belch asked. Was the decision made by the street committee? How much oil has been used this year and where do we get the money for all this street work? If we're going to have street work done, let's do something that will last a long, long time."

Pointing to the Fourth st. paving as the "kind of streets we should put in and which people want and will pay for," the mayor charged Alderman Rau with unethical practices" in purchasing oil in amounts over the legal limit which must be put out on bid.

Alderman Rau then told Belch as mayor, he could make recommendations and that the council would make the decisions. "You've made your recommendations, now let us do the deciding." Rau said.

Council president Bob Carlson then brought up the matter of the recent auditor's report which, he said, he had hoped would remain a confidential thing between members of the council until a meeting could be arranged with the auditor. "Since we received the report," Carlson said, "some people have revealed its contents to others in the city." A decision was made to arrange a meeting with the auditor as soon as possible.

Other matters taken up by the council included the decision to sell $178,000 in bonds to finance the storm sewer project in district 3 to Juran and Moody, a St. Paul bond firm. The rate on the bonds is not to exceed 4.5%.

An examination was made of the assessment roll for the storm sewer project and the hearing on the roll has been set for Oct. 5 in the city Auditorium at 8 p.m.

One bid was received for a used portable asphalt hot mix plant. The Walker Sand and Gravel company bid of $6,050 was accepted by a unanimous vote.

Alderman Lee was called upon for a report on the possibility of a new water tank for the city but no action will be taken until after the November election. No further action on parking meters will be taken until that time, it was also decided.

With the change in ward boundary lines and splitting of the fourth ward into two wards with the division at Crocker ave., it was decided to have all polling places in one location, the city Auditorium, for judges and clerks in the first the November city election. four wards will be the same as at the last election. Mrs. R. J. Dryden, Mrs. Clifford Larson and Mrs. George Mundt will serve as the clerk and judges of the new fifth ward. Pay for voting officials will remain the same as for the last election.

Following a request by Bill LaFave, representing the Centennial committee, and Jon Metusalem, representing the Jaycees, for action in regard to the proposed roadside park east of the Eighth st. bridge, the council voted approval of special legislation enacted this year giving the city the right to condemn the Squaw Point property. The council's action paves the way for possible future condemnation proceedings on 3.5 acres which are needed.

LaFave and Dr. W. P. Kaisler, appearing for the recreation board, requested the council provide $745 to construct an outdoor hockey rink at Knox school next winter. The petitioners pointed out that more hockey practice space was necessary and that the funds would be sufficient to construct the facility, not including lights and poles. The council voted the funds.

An amendment raising city scale fees had its first reading. Fees would be raised from 30c to 40c for trailers under the amendment, four-wheel truck weighing would be raised from 45c to 60c and large trucks and semi-trailer rigs would be raised from 75c to $1. An additional 25c would be charged for after-hour weighing.

One bid of $6,375 for the installation of the filter plant equipment was received but rejected on the recommendation of the city engineers. Bids for stoker coal for the city have been called for and will be opened at the regular October meeting.

At the request of Lavern Adamson, 515 Arnold ave. S., the city will open the alley in the 500 block between State and Arnold aves. with the work to be done with city equipment when it is available.

A letter from Fred Forsberg & Sons was read asking that the city repair damage to the south side of the Forsberg plant caused by a water line trench near the building foundation. The matter was turned over to the city's insuring company.

No action was taken on the recommendation of Stone's Mobile Radio Service that the police car radio and base station be replaced because of constant repairs necessary.

A letter from the village of Fosston inviting city officials to attend the regional League of Minnesota Municipalities meeting Wednesday, Sept. 23, was read and the decision as to who will attend will be made during the coming week.

The offer of Carl M. Johnson to again rent the unused part of garbage dump land for $60 was accepted and performance bonds were approved.

Resolutions for the payment of $942.02 for electrical work at the municipal liquor store, $675 to the National Recorder company for a speed recorder, $2,749 to the Infilco company for installation of a controller at the water plant and the appointment of Margaret Kellberg to the city clerk's office staff at a salary of $190 a month were approved.

Building permits in the amount of $11,350 were approved. They included: Iver Nelson & Sons, new dwelling, 510 Maple av. N., $18,000; Iver Nelson & Sons, new dwelling, 520 Maple av. N., $20,000; Carl Swenson, addition to dwelling, 215 Eleventh st. E., $350; Tony Brenna, addition to dwelling, 610 Knight av. N., $500; Robert Brooten, addition to dwelling, 310 Arnold av. S., $1,000; Tom Gruvem, 310 Riverside, addition to dwelling, $900; Knute Sunsdahl, 412 Davis av., garage, $500; Bert Thorstad, Jr., garage, $400; Clara Erickson, 711 Dewey av., garage, $600; O. K. TROUBLE SPOT This is a picture of work being done earlier this year on Mussey st. between Crocker and Merriam aves. The blacktopping became a point of issue at the Sept. 15 council meeting when Alderman A. J. Rau stated that the work by street department personnel was at the request of Mayor O. D. Belch, whose house is in the background. The mayor claimed that he had not requested the work and said, "I know who wanted the work done on my street and I know why it was done."

Dr. Theo. Hanwick will Speak Sunday at Parish Churches

His schedule of services Sunday is at Alma church of rural Argyle at 8:30; at Bethania at 9:45; at Bethlehem in Newfolden at 11; and at Westaker at 2. Herd Testing Ass'n. to Expand Services

The local Dairy Herd Improvement association is beginning a new year of testing on October 1st, according to Paul Stelmaschuk, county agent. This is an opportune time for dairy farm*ers to sign up their cows for* testing with the Dairy Herd Improvement association, he points out. Added services will be available on October 1, because an assistant has been secured for George Janssen, supervisor. This makes possible testing of a greater number of herds.

There is no method by which a cow's production can be accurately predicted without dairy records. Records on production are the first step to accurate feeding and careful management. All these factors are important in increasing herd profits. Many dairy farmers have found that savings in feed alone more than pay for the cost of the DHIA testing. Feed savings are possible because poorer producers get less concentrates. The biggest asset of DHIA is its aid in culling out the unprofitable cows.

Dairy farmers from Pennington, Red Lake and East Marshall counties are urged to join the group. Contact Dale Svendsgaard, secretary, or Donald Walker, Red Lake Falls, president. Information can also be obtained from the extension offices in the counties.

Newfolden School Employees Picnic

All school employees of the Newfolden Community school were entertained at a picnic dinner at the Old Mill state park Tuesday, Sept. 15, by members of the school board. Mrs. A. W. Carlson of the board was in charge of the serving which was done by the wives of the other school board members: Mesdames Lester Elseth, Wallace Johnson, Harvey Stokke, Ervin Strandquist and Peter Tandberg. Ervin Strandquist and Harvey Stokke were in charge of recreation.

Public Notices

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Fern Audrey, who left us Sept. 9, 1956.

Recalls the love, the voice, the smile,
Of the one who once sat there.

Sadly missed by parents, sisters and brothers and their families. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Haugen and family. 1t75c

Prowler "B" Fourth Period Explosion Defeats Crookston

Trailing by a 6 to 0 score entering the fourth period, the Prowler 'B' team erupted for three touchdowns, and added one conversion point, to defeat the Crookston Central 'B' team, 19 to 6, in a football game played here Tuesday night.

The Prowler 'B' team, with a record of one win and one loss, will play the East Grand Forks 'B' team here next Tuesday night, with kickoff time at 7:30 p.m.

The Crookston 'B' squad, coached by Ron Thompson and Linton Lehrer, controlled the play throughout much of the first half, and in the second period, halfback Ken Caouette, on a seven-yard smash over right tackle, drove the north goal-line to give the Pirates 6 to 0 lead.

In the opening minutes of the fourth period, Paul Klungness, on the Crookston 41-yard line, gathered in a high kick by the Pirates' George Kronholm and raced for a touchdown, coming around to the east side of the field to outrun the tacklers. The try for point failed, and the game was in a 6-all tie.

With less than two minutes to play the Prowlers added another six-pointer when Jim Weckwerth, who had been driving through the Crookston line for consistent gains, plunged over left guard for two yards and a score. Weckwerth, on a plunge, added the conversion, and the Prowler 'B' team had a 19 to 6 win.

Newfolden Loses to Warroad 12-6

The Warroad Warriors, with Mickey Felck scoring the winner's touchdowns on a pair of end sweeps, defeated the Newfolden Nordics, 12 to 6, in a Northern Lights conference game played at Warroad on Friday night.

Coach Jack Junker's Newfolden squad will travel to Williams on Friday, Sept. 18, for a conference game with the Williams Wolves.

In Friday night's opener at Warroad, the Warriors gained a 6 to 0 lead in the first period, with Felck circling end for the touchdown.

The Nordics, with a diversified attack that featured David Haug's passing and the running of Darrell Bakke, moved the ball deeply into the Warroad territory in the second period. Haug's pass to Ray Heland accounted for a touchdown, and the score was deadlocked, 6 to 6 at the half-time.

Felck's third period touchdown run provided the Warriors with their game-winning points. The Warriors, late in the fourth period, were halted on the two-yard line as they threatened to gain some "insurance" points.

On defense, the center of the Newfolden line was very strong, with Howard Davis being outstanding at center and as a linebacker. Coach Junker was disappointed at the end play of the Nordics, with the Newfolden flankmen being unable to turn the sweeps of Warroads' Felck.

Racers to Conclude Season Sunday with Awards Program

Last Sunday's Event Featured by Crashes and Protests; Joppru Hurt

The Northwestern Racing association will conclude its 1959 season of stock car racing at the speedway west of town when, on Sunday night, Sept. 20, it conducts its third annual championship awards program. The program is slated to begin at 7:00 p.m.

In last Sunday's exciting program, which was featured by crashes and protests, Spud Manning made a big boost in his season's point total by winning the three events in which he competed. Manning, whose car was confiscated after the program and subjected to a detailed inspection to determine if the car violated any of the rules and specifications of the racing association, won the first event, the trophy event, and the feature event.

Don Joppru, the season's point leader prior to Sunday's program, was injured in a crash and removed to the Northwestern hospital here. At latest reports, Joppru remains hospitalized and is receiving treatment for a lung injury.

The summaries:

ACCEPTS TROPHY Jerry Stevens, left, manager of the city champion Hamm's squad, accepted a trophy emblematic of the city softball championship from Ed Hamerski, president of the city softball association, at the banquet Monday evening, Sept. 14.

IN APPRECIATION Lowell (Mukkett) Collins, left, and Bob Carlson, on behalf of the city softball players, present a token of appreciation to Florence and Ed Hamerski for the time and effort they donated to make the softball program a success this past season. The presentation was made at the annual softball banquet held Monday evening, Sept. 14.

Good Hunting, Fellows!

The sharptailed (whitebreasted) grouse season opens on Saturday morning at sunrise (and that figures out at about 6:12 a.m. in this area) and will continue through Sunday, October 18. The daily shooting hours will be from sunrise to sunset, and the bag limit will be three a day and six in possession. (That possession limit should not cause much trouble!)

The reports that we have received as to the relative abundance or scarcity of the grouse have been conflicting, but there is not much argument that this season's grouse hunting will be tough. Much of this hunting toughness will be due to the vast acreages that have been soil-banked in this area. The sharptails, and they aren't too numerous in the first place, have ideal cover and feeding conditions, and the result will be that the coveys will be difficult to find and flush.

There is agreement, too, that the supply of sharptails in this area is not in such numbers as to warrant a thirty-day season.

The most optimistic reports we have heard (and the grouse hunters are becoming as secretive as brook trout fishermen) have come from the area to the south-east of town, along the upper reaches of Clearwater river. The Salol area, too, north of highway 11, has been reported as having sharptailed grouse in encouraging numbers, but that territory is for the well-conditioned and the strong-hearted.

We'll make a modest wager that, come sundown on Sunday, the majority of grouse hunters will have seen more hunters than they will have seen grouse.

One Good Term Deserves Another

The city softball association concluded a most successful season when, on Monday evening at the Elks club the group held a banquet and awards night.

This season's softball program with Ed and Florence Hamerski directing the front office activities and Larry Gilbertson supervising the playing field action was one of the most enjoyable in recent years, with fan interest continuing at a high level throughout the three-month season.

The most important item of official business that was conducted at Monday night's gathering was the re-election, by an unanimous vote, of Ed Hamerski as president and Florence Hamerski as secretary-treasurer.

We were informed that the banquet, which was tagged as the first annual softball dinner was, unofficially, a celebration of Bob Carlson's silver anniversary as a softball player. This informant maintains that Bob has played at least twenty-five years of softball (Bob denies the allegation, stating that he is a thirteen-year veteran), and the informant adds that there was a Carlson playing softball with the sawmill team here years ago, and that perhaps was Bob, too.

Well, an enjoyable time was had by all.

Plenty of Excitement

There was plenty of excitement generated at the speedway west of town last Sunday as the racing association conducted its next-to-the-last program of the season.

Much of the excitement was caused by the protest that was filed against Spud Manning and his car. Spud, who is in a nip-and-tuck race with Don Joppru for the season's point honors and the stock car racing championship, won three events.

Spud's car was confiscated by the association's official and stripped down for inspection. As far as we have learned, Spud's car does not violate any of the rules and regulations adopted by the Grand Forks and Thief River Falls racing associations. Numerous fans have taken advantage of the opportunity to inspect Manning's car.

It was unfortunate that last Sunday's program was marred by the absence of Don Joppru. Joppru, who has led the local racers in the season's point standings, aggravated an injury when he was involved in a crash.

The season will be concluded on Sunday night, with a gala championship awards program. Time trials are slated to start at 7:00 p.m.

Halstad to the Sidelines

Manager Erv Warner's Halstad Red Sox of the Norman-Polk league, and the Region Two B winners, was eliminated from contention in the state Class B tournament at St. Cloud on Tuesday afternoon when they dropped a 2 to 1 decision to the Baudette Walleyes of the Lake of the Woods league.

Halstad, last Saturday afternoon, scored a 3 to 1 win over a highly-rated St. Joseph team in a first-round game. Righthander Jerry Mehlisch, was the winner, but he required some late-inning relief from southpaw Bob Hanson.

In Tuesday afternoon's game, Halstad used righthander Al Santwire, while Baudette relied on their draft choice from Warroad, Bob Evenson. Evenson, a righthander, struck out thirteen and gave up but three hits, while the Baudette batsmen were reaching Santwire for seven hits.

Fertile's Arlo Brunsberg, who caught for Halstad during the regional tournament, was not available to the Red Sox for their tilt against Baudette. Brunsberg is a vital cog in the football plans of Concordia's Jake Christianson; and with the Cobbers' Jake, baseball is second to football.

Volume Forty-eight — Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota — Thursday, Sept. 17, 1959 — Number Seventy-five

Minnesota's traffic deaths continue to fall behind the 1958 figure as the state went through its sixth consecutive month with deaths lower than the same month in 1958.

In a report released by the highway department, the eight month total through August 31 was given as 367, 89 fewer than the 456 in the eight months of 1958. This brought the state 20 per cent below the previous year and nine per cent lower than the average of the previous five years.

Only January and February had more deaths than the previous years.

Projecting the lowered figure for the full year of 1959, should the present trend continue Minnesota could end the year with fewer than 575 traffic deaths which would be the lowest year since 1952 when 539 deaths were recorded.

"The encouraging part of the report is the rate of deaths per 100 million vehicles miles traveled in Minnesota," Harry A. Sieben, director of the highway safety division, said. "For the first eight months of 1959 our rate reached a low of 4.0 fatalities per 100 million miles. During 1958 we experienced 5.3 deaths, while the national rate was 5.6 deaths. Despite the fact that we have more cars and more drivers who drive many more miles, we are accomplishing a reduction in our rate of deaths in traffic."

"Traffic deaths are always of state wide concern," Sieben said, "as only eight of Minnesota's 87 counties have been spared the tragedy of traffic fatalities so far this year. Of the deaths 82 were charged to urban communities while 285 occurred on rural trunk and non-trunk highways."

Pennington and Red Lake are two of only eight counties without traffic deaths in 1959.

Transfers of Boat Licenses Explained

Boat and Water Safety officials in the department of conservation have received numerous inquiries relating to the procedures to be followed in boat license transfers when selling a boat to a dealer.

According to Milton Johnson, boat and water safety official, when watercraft is sold to a dealer, it is necessary that the following notations be made on the reverse side of license: The word "Sold" must be written in lieu of "Destroyed" or "Abandoned" and the date and place of sale written in the spaces provided; the dealer's name and address must also be filled in and the license signed by the original owner in order that the signature on the reverse of the license will compare with the one on the front. After the necessary information has been recorded, do not give the license to the dealer, but mail it to: Minnesota Department of Conservation, Boat License Section, State Office Building, St. Paul, Minn. A transfer of Ownership License is not required at this time.

When watercraft, that has been previously licensed, is purchased from a dealer, the following procedure should be used: The dealer must give the new owner a memorandum stating that the watercraft is licensed under the state law and that the watercraft license is in the possession of the department of conservation. The new owner must present the Dealer's Memorandum in person with a fee of 75c to the local county auditor's office; a transfer of ownership license will be issued bearing the same number of the watercraft purchased.

Johnson said that complete instructions concerning boat license transfers changes of address, and lost licenses have been sent to all county auditors and their agents.

Anyone interested in the procedures may obtain a copy by writing to: Boat Safety Section, Room 34, State Office Building, St. Paul 1, Minnesota.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Q—I understand the GI interest rate has been raised by law to 5¼ percent. Am I correct in thinking the higher rate applies only to new loans, and does not affect loans made before the new law?

A—That is correct. Loans closed before July 2, 1959 are in no way affected by the new law. Only loans made on or after this date can be charged the new 5¼ per cent interest rate.

Q—My three-year-old discharge for starting school under the Korean GI Bill will come in August. Can I make application then, and start classes when school opens in September?

A—No. You must actually be in school by your deadline. You may not make application before the deadline, with the idea of starting after it has passed.

Q—I just got married, and can now claim more GI allowance money this fall as a GI student. What kind of evidence will VA need, so it can raise my school allowance?

A—To claim an increased allowance, you should send VA a certified copy of either the public record or the church record of your marriage. It must bear the seal and signature of whoever keeps the records, in the church or court.

Q—A veteran of my acquaintance is drawing extra pension payments because he requires constant nursing care. Would his extra payments be stopped if a member of his family provided this care, other than someone outside his family hired for the purpose?

A—No. The extra payments would still continue if the nursing care is provided by a member of his family. The law does not specify who shall provide the regular aid and attendance necessary.

Editorials . . .

"There is an ancient legend which tells us that when a man first achieved a most notable deed he wished to explain to his tribe what he had done. As soon as he began to speak, however, he was smitten with dumbness, he lacked words, and sat down. Then there arose—according to the story—a masterless man, one who had no special virtues, but afflicted—that is the phrase—with the magic of the necessary words. He saw, he told, he described the merits of the notable deed in such a fashion, we are assured, that the words "became alive and walked up and down in the hearts of all hearers." Thereupon, the tribe seeing that the words were certainly alive, and fearing lest the man with the words would hand down untrue tales about them to their children, they took and killed him. But later they saw the magic was in the words, not in the man."

—Kipling

Minnesota in First Place

Minnesota has moved into the No. 1 spot as the leading turkey producing state in the nation, according to a recent Department of Agriculture report. California, long time holder of first place honors, slides back into second place by a narrow margin.

The department estimates production this year in Minnesota at 13,496,000 birds, a 28% increase over last year's volume. The California total is estimated at 12,821,000 birds, down 6% from last year. Minnesota hatched 17,912,000 poults this year, an increase of 31% over last year and indicating that Minnesota turkey growers are developing an expanding market for poults outside the state.

Our corner of the state has kept pace with this development both in production and in marketing, the Land O'Lakes processing plant here being of the most advanced type, putting the birds on the market in a way that has top consumer appeal. For many growers the late winter egg crop and the spring sale of hens produces substantial cash returns at that time of the year.

This is one crop for which our northern climate seems to be well suited. Northern grown birds are of superior quality and flocks mature with fewer losses from extreme heat. Turkey growing is now a highly specialized, big operation. Increased expansion hereabouts may be expected.

Congress Wins

Congress finally mustered enough strength to override a presidential veto. It was the pork-barrel public works bill on which they were able to get the necessary two-thirds majority. There were enough of the members who wanted a part of the fat to authorize this raid on the public treasury. The overriding of the veto was, in the main, a victory for the Democrats, but some Republicans were also guilty.

We like the attitude of Minnesota's congressman Fred Marshall on this measure. In spite of the fact that he is a northern Democrat, he is concerned about costs. In explaining why he did not favor the motion to override the veto in its original form he had this to say:

> "It wasn't just a case of going beyond this year's budget. It would have committed the government a lot more to complete work on these (additional unbudgeted) projects. This is one program that by all means ought to be kept within the budget."

When the historians write the biography of President Eisenhower, his use of the veto power is going to be recognized as one of the interesting phases of his relations with a Congress controlled by the opposition party. His veto of the pork barrel public works bill is going to be recognized as an act of statesmanship, and those who voted to override are not going to get honorable mention.

Perhaps it is fortunate that President Eisenhower did lose this battle. Now, maybe, it will be possible to muster public support for an item veto, giving to the President the right to strike a particular item from an appropriation bill without vetoing the entire measure.

Deserved Tribute

Businessmen of Bagley paid a well deserved tribute to Representative Walter Day last week when, through their Civic & Commerce association, they recognized his "forty years of faithful, outstanding and progressive service" in the state legislature.

Walter Day deserves a pat on the back for his good service to our district and to the state of Minnesota during his 40 years in the legislature. We can testify to the fact that during the last half of that 40-year period he has been held in high regard by his fellow members in the Legislature as a man of ability and integrity, and that during these years he has had the respect of both liberals and conservatives.

Soft-spoken, and never offensive, Walter Day has always been on the right side of any argument when the chips were down. One of the conservative members of the House appropriation committee some years ago referred to him as being one of the taxpayer's best friends in the Minnesota legislature.

In our book Walter Day is marked down as one of the men of Minnesota who has contributed much to a common-sense approach to the problems of government during a period of difficult adjustment.

More About Litterbugging

The fellows with sharp pencils in the state highway department tell us that the cost of keeping the trunk highways clean during the first eight months of the year was about $170,000. That means that at least $200,000 that should have gone into the building of better highways will have been wasted by the end of the year. Here in Thief River Falls little effort is made to discourage the dropping of litter on our streets.

From our observation the litterbugs are not aware of their own delinquency. As we visited with two of our especially virtuous village statesmen several weeks ago, one of them lighted a cigaret and dropped the empty package on the sidewalk. The other was a gum chewer and he tossed a gum wrapper aside with no thought of the city's housekeeping problems. We were within three feet of one of the receptacles the city has placed at some intersections on which there is the stencilled admonition to keep our city clean.

These receptacles would be more receptive to contributions of litter if they were not covered. In most cities such receptacles are open at the top and are easy targets for passers-by.

And the merchants, and also the storekeepers, could be helpful in a worthy effort to keep our city clean if they would quit sweeping the wind-blown litter on their sidewalks into the gutters each morning and start disposing of it as they do the litter they sweep up inside of their establishments.

Government Credit

Those members of Congress who classify generally as politicians have been having quite a to-do lately about the administration's request for an upping of the ceiling on interest rates. The ceiling is a meaningless thing and has no bearing on the rate that bonds actually yield. The yield is determined in the market, where securities are bought and sold. Some government bonds are now selling at a big discount because of the low rate of interest they earn. You can buy $100 government bonds for less than $85, and neither the President nor Congress can force any citizen to pay more for them than what he thinks they are worth.

As a result of the present interest limitation the government is unable to sell long term bonds but must refinance maturing obligations by short-term loans. Competent observers say the present situation is not critical as yet but that it is getting serious. We are beginning to pay the price of free spending and loose fiscal policies. The government's credit is not as good as it once was.

That is what has happened to our own credit when we have spent too freely and have become careless about paying our bills.

A Plague on Both

(The Baltimore Sun)

The information on the steel situation supplied by Secretary Mitchell illustrates the difference between fact finding and Fact Finding.

The latter (with capital letters) is a gag that dates back to the late Thirties. A commission is appointed to make a Fact Finding Report on a labor dispute. It recommends a solution; and it garnishes its recommendations with some facts chose to support its recommendations. In effect it substitutes a public solution for private bargaining.

Secretary Mitchell, on the other hand, has merely found facts—and offered them without recommendation.

The Sunpapers are not supporting Labor, and they are not supporting steel Management. We speak for a third party, the general public, which is to say the consumer. What the facts show from the public's point of view, and taken altogether, is that both Labor and Management in this industry have been getting away with murder for the past decade and a half.

Taken together, these supposed antagonists—a monopolistic industry and a monopolistic union—have since the war staged a series of mock labor controversies each of which has had the effect of (a) pushing and keeping steel wages well above the industrial average, while (b) assuring an unbroken level of good profits for the steel industry, and (c) passing on the bill to the general public by way of price inflation.

Secretary Mitchell's facts show this with great clarity. At no time since the war, and long before, has any part of the gains in productivity in the steel industry been passed on to the public in the form of reduced prices. In every one of the half dozen negotiations since the war, a monopolistic union has held a pistol to the head of the industry—and a monopolistic industry has forked over knowing that, because it is a monopoly, it could pass on the cost of this hold-up to a helpless public in the form of inflationary increases in steel prices. Thus together steel labor and steel management have been one of the principal agents of our post-war inflation.

This informal conspiracy—for that is what it is, though both parties will deny it—has gone far enough. In this key industry, the public with its vital interest in halting inflation is entitled to wage stability and is entitled to share once in a while in the fruits of improved productivity through lower prices.

Unless labor and industry find a way of achieving this end through free collective bargaining, the drive for the regulation of both wages and prices in such monopolistic industries will prove irresistible. Let both parties take warning—and take the public into account as they resume their bargaining.

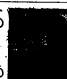
Several farmers idling away a rainy day at the crossroads filling station got to arguing the merits of various church denominations. All expressed opinions except one old gray-beard who sat quietly whittling but listening attentively.

Finally, someone asked, "What do you think, Grandpa?"

"I'm thinkin'," replied the old man, "that there are three ways from here to the cotton gin. But when you get there, the ginner ain't goin' to ask which way you took. He's goin' to ask: 'How is your cotton?' "

REPORT from the GOVERNOR

by Orville L. Freeman



Minnesota's fifth annual Tree Farm Field Day will be held next week, on Wednesday, Sept. 23rd, at the University of Minnesota Forest Research center near Cloquet. The occasion is sponsored by the Minnesota Tree Farm committee and Minnesota forest products industries in cooperation with the University.

Real Opportunity

Real opportunity for many farmers, and a real promise for the future of our state are inherent in our tree farm program. The Keep Minnesota Green organization, and particularly the committees that have encouraged the planting of trees on Minnesota land suitable for such use, deserve much of the credit for placing our state in fourth place in the number of tree farms in the nation's tree farm system. They have encouraged farmers, other landowners, and young people in many youth organizations to promote good fire prevention practices as well as a reforestation program.

Pennies to Dollars

Only the other day a Minnesota farmer told me a story that impressed me with the fact that there is real potential in the proper use of land that, improperly used, is described as marginal or waste. Only six years ago he bought an abandoned farm, with sandy soil and burned out buildings, for only a few hundred dollars. This year he is selling trees for two dollars each that he planted then at the cost of only pennies. He is managing his tree farm according to sound forestry practices, and he is therefore only beginning to realize a good return that he will get on his investment.

Christmas Trees and Plastics

Minnesota tree farms produce materials for industry. They supply Christmas trees, pulpwood, and sawlogs. Chemistry is adding new products from wood, ranging from plastics to fiber for clothing. The need for wood products will increase and the variety of products that can be produced from wood is increasing every day.

Less Tangible "Products"

Other products that we owe to increased tree planting are less tangible but no less real. Wildlife shelter is provided that will help maintain Minnesota's assets appealing to sportsmen. Soil erosion, the waste of our basic natural resource, can be prevented by proper forestation. Surroundings favorable to hunting, fishing and camping are provided.

Seedlings Needed

Minnesota's state nurseries are growing and distributing planting stock at prices that offer real incentive to bring idle lands back into production. The 21-million trees provided in 1959 were far short of filling the demand. Our three nurseries plan to ship approximately 25 million seedlings during the 1960 planting season, and about 30 million in 1961.

Three Hard Winters

These quantities of seedlings are considerably below planned production schedules, because the lack of snow during the past three winters has severely damaged the young trees. We are hoping to reach an annual production in the three nurseries of more than fifty million trees.

Unemployed Land

Unemployed land is a waste that we cannot afford if we want to maximize the economic growth within our state. Millions of acres in Minnesota that are not now producing a commodity of value should be planted with trees. The certified tree farm acreage now totals something more than 600,000 acres. The opportunity ahead for tree farms is thus substantial.

The KMG Program

A Keep Minnesota Green tree farmer is helped to make the most of the opportunity. He receives a management plan for his woodlot, information on management and marketing, and other benefits. He is expected to protect his trees from fire, insects, disease, and destructive grazing, to plant idle acres, to harvest his trees when they are ready, and to follow approved and tested practices to insure a continuing tree crop and a sustained yield.

Your Office in Washington

by Congressman

ODIN LANGEN

The sound and the fury of the 86th Congress becomes smaller with each succeeding day, and this first session would seem, as this is written, to have only a few hours of life remaining. the major controversies which have been debated in the months since January have been, and are being, resolved. Only a few issues remain to be settled.

Since my letter of last week, the Congress has passed a $1 billion housing bill to replace the first two attempts in this field, both of which were vetoed by the President. It also passed into law, by overriding a Presidential veto, a $1 billion public works appropriations bill for rivers, harbors, dams and the like. This marked the first time since President Eisenhower took office in 1953 that a veto was not sustained. In addition, Congress finally provided for our Federal Highway program by passing a one-cent increase in the federal gasoline tax for 21 months, and diversion of certain excise taxes on autos and auto parts into the Highway Trust Fund.

With these matters out of the way, final action remains to be taken on only a few subjects.

The first session of the 86th Congress, in retrospect, has been a prime example of how good a system of government we really have. A large majority and active minority in Congress, a strong President, and an aroused, letter-writing populace have checked and balanced each other to the point where good and effective legislation for the benefit of the entire country has resulted.

Baring some unforeseen development on Capitol Hill, our next weekly newsletter will be in January, when the second session convenes. I want to take this opportunity to thank our Ninth District papers for their cooperation in publishing these reports, and want to thank you readers for your response to it through the mails.

And now we come home. We are looking forward to this, and to the opportunity which it will afford us of being able to report to you more directly. Part of our staff will remain here in Washington to do that part of the work best done here, while three staff members and myself will be working out of the Crookston post office. In addition, and for your convenience, a definite schedule will be worked out in which certain days will be spent in Moorhead, Fergus Falls, Detroit Lakes, and Bemidji. We also will visit as many other Ninth District communities as possible. More definite information on these matters will be forthcoming.

"I REMEMBER"

BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Florence Beethe Riddick, St. Louis, Mo.: I remember, as I reflect over memories of the past, when my father owned a farm of 400 acres. This farm was fenced, but there was no "stock law" at that time—all was open range.

I remember our wheat field of 15 acres, when the ripened grain had to be harvested by hand, using a hand cradle for cutting. I recall father and two older brothers arising at 4:30 in the morning, having breakfast, and going into the wheat fields, with the help of neighbors, to start the day's work.

About 9:30 in the forenoon, my sister and I would take them a large basket of lunch—coffee, sandwiches and pie. Later, we would take the empty basket and fill it with dewberries which grew in the uncultivated fields. On our way home we gathered bundles of wheat straws with which we made straw hats to wear in the garden and in the fields.

I remember most vividly the time my father came across the fields carrying a young deer in his arms. It still had not lost its spots. We took the fawn home and raised it on a bottle, using for a nipple a goose quill, wrapped around with cloth so that it would fit the neck of a bottle. When the fawn grew to maturity, we belled her and called her "Nellie."

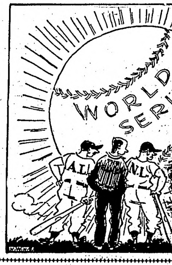
CLOUD ON THE HORIZON



News Clipped From Northwest Papers

LAKE OF THE WOODS CLAIMS TWO VICTIMS

(Baudette Region)

Two fatal weekend accidents have been reported for Lake of the Woods, according to the International Falls Daily Journal.

A Wisconsin woman died of exposure upon reaching shore after the boat in which she was a passenger capsized near Nestor Falls. All of the party wore life jackets and all reached shore.

LIGHTNING STRIKES BADGER FARM HOME

(Badger Enterprise)

A bolt of lightning struck the chimney of the Louis Shimpa farm six miles southwest of Badger Tuesday, Sept. 8, at 12 noon.

The bolt caused considerable damage, killing a Holstein bull in the barn, blew out fuses all over the farm, outlets in the kitchen, knocked out the yard light and completely destroyed the Shimpa's chimney.

There was no damage to the barn, with two young animals near the bull escaping injury.

A clock was knocked off a kitchen shelf and a splinter of wood drove into a rafter, showing the tremendous force of the impact.

Mrs. Shimpa had just left the house and Mr. Shimpa was walking home from plowing for dinner when the bolt struck the house. Mr. Shimpa states he was hit on the head by a flying object, but was not hurt.

It is reported that there were no clouds to speak of in the area at the time and the bolt seemed to "come out of a clear blue sky."

BOAT HITS REEF AND SINKS—SIX SAFE

(Baudette Region)

Six people reached shore safely at Flag island Sunday when Gene Moore's cruiser struck a reef in Flag island passage and sank. None was injured.

Aboard the boat were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hanson and sons, Marvin and Rick, and Mr. and Mrs. Moore.

BAUDETTE CNR BRIDGE GETS AN OVERHAUL

(Rainy River Record)

A complete rehabilitation of the two abutments and four concrete piers of the Canadian National Railways bridge here is now under way.

The project will involve the encasing of piers and abutments, from the footings up, with a nine-inch layer of prepakt concrete.

Bridge copings will be removed and replaced with steel grillages. Following installation of the grillages, a complete concrete top will be poured around them.

The work is being carried out by the Intrusion Prepakt Ltd. of Toronto who, wherever possible, will employ laid-off CNR personnel for the work. CNR bridge forces are being employed to handle the jacking of the bridge.

DAVID OSTBY TO HEAD CENSUS GROUP

(Red Lake Falls Gazette)

Appointment of David Ostby of Plummer, as a crew leader for the 1959 census of agriculture was announced by Field Director Guy A. Lutz of the Census Bureau's regional office at St. Paul.

Ostby will direct a force of census takers who will canvass all farms in Red Lake county and eastern part of Polk county. Before assuming his post, he will go to Bemidji, where he will receive five days of training by a member of the census bureau's staff. Topics to be covered include procedures for recruiting of census takers, census taker training, canvassing methods, preparation and submission of reports, and the supervision of census takers to insure a complete and accurate count.

After completing his training, Ostby will return to his district where he will spend several weeks recruiting census takers, and training them in preparation for the start of the field canvass October 14.

TRF Game Refuge Is now Abandoned

The game refuge north of the city of Thief River Falls extending to the Marshall county line, has been vacated, according to Bob Farmes, area game manager of the Minnesota division of game and fish. It may be a few days before the boundary markers are removed he said, but they may be ignored.

The refuge is one of many throughout the state that have been or are being studied to determine whether or not they serve a useful purpose and a large number of them are being abandoned. They do not benefit game and are a nuisance for hunters.

The area included in the Thief River Falls Game Refuge extends from the city limits to the Marshall county line one mile east and west of the Roundhouse road.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Psalms	34	1-4
Monday	John	14	1-2
Tuesday	Habakkuk	3	17-19
Wednesday	Luke	10	25-37
Thursday	Matthew	13	18-23
Friday	II Thessalonians	1	3
Saturday	Isaiah	55	1-3

Through All Of Life . . .

Perhaps you see no significance to the hourglass superimposed on the Bible. But to the believer, it means that all of life is sustained by God's promises. Every day, every hour, He gives strength and help to His followers. The light of His Word shines steadily through the passing of time. The more you read, the deeper will be your understanding, the greater will be your joy. By entering wholeheartedly into the work of the Church, by giving it your support, you increase the value of your own life, and help others to see the light shining through each day's experience.

Throughout life's entire span, the Church will help us, the Bible will speak to us of God. Does the picture mean that to you? It will, if you look at it through believing eyes.

FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS

How To Get Proper Introduction

By C. D. Smith

I'D LIKE YOU TO MEET MY COUSIN.

A teenage girl down South pens the following: "I have a cousin. She has a boyfriend who knows me and he happens to have a brother that my cousin wants me to like. I haven't seen him. How can I get acquainted with him so I can chat with him? Will you please give me some suggestions?"

The best way to meet this boy should be through the cousin, or more specifically, through the cousin's boyfriend, who should be able to arrange a meeting with his own brother. We can't see where the problem lies, unless the cousin has said nothing to her boyfriend about the fact that she would like her cousin to meet his brother. If she hasn't, there is no more appropriate or effective approach to the situation than to say, "I have a cousin who is a nice, sweet girl, as you know. Wouldn't your brother be interested in meeting her?"

Another approach is for the cousin to say, "Why don't we get my cousin and your brother to doubledate with us for a movie?" But—lots of boys don't like to doubledate with their brothers and sisters, except on very special occasions.

There are other ways, but at any rate, the introduction to the cousin's boyfriend's brother should come through the cousin.

The same teenager writes on: "Another boy finished school two years ago with my sister. I was in the ninth grade when he was in the twelfth. He is always chasing me around, wants me to like him, but I don't want him to like me. What shall I do to make a decision?"

It seems to us, obviously, that she has already made her decision. She doesn't want the boy's attentions. So the best thing to do is tell him in a friendly, but emphatic manner, "Thanks, but No Thanks."

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, NATIONAL WEEKLY NEWSPAPER SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

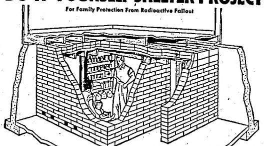
DO-IT-YOURSELF SHELTER PROJECT

For Family Protection From Radioactive Fallout



BASEMENT SHELTERS generally are the least expensive type that will give substantial protection. The basement shelter shown here can be built with solid concrete blocks as a do-it-yourself project for $150 to $200. Standard 8-inch solid concrete blocks are recommended because hollow blocks would have to be filled with concrete to give effective protection. Bricks are an alternative. If they are used, the walls and roof should be 10 inches thick to give the same protection as 8-inch solid concrete blocks. Plans for this do-it-yourself project appear in "The Family Fallout Shelter," OCDM booklet. Copies may be obtained from Box Home Shelter, OCDM, Battle Creek, Michigan.

THE LITTLE RESTAURANT

By Glenn G. Parker

MYRAN and Ted Rollin met for the first time in a small, obscure restaurant on the east side of the city. He was an engineer for a large construction company and she was a nurse. It was purely by accident that they met at all—he accidentally knocked over her umbrella as he was leaving and when he turned to pick it up their eyes met and it seemed at that moment that two people could never possibly be more in love.

He sat down beside her almost mechanically, never taking his eyes off her. She was beautiful. Her smile was radiant and reflected her casual nature and easy-going disposition. She smiled almost shyly at first but then as they had known each other all their lives. He loved her and it seemed utterly incredible that such a marvelous thing could possibly be happening to him. He escorted her home and as they walked along the still-wet sidewalk his life suddenly took on a whole new meaning.

They were married within the month and they lived in happy, marital bliss for three years. That's when their marriage, with the same impact of their meeting, began slowly to die. At first it was just small, trivial things but soon the small things were transformed into something that couldn't be ignored and one evening she left him.

It was as though his Life—before, full of meaning—had closed like a book and had left him standing on the edge of a large canyon waiting to be pushed over at the slightest provocation. He waited long evenings at home for her but she never came. At times he felt that it was hopeless—that she was never coming back and that he was doomed to a life of waiting . . . hoping that she would.

Then one evening on the anniversary of their first meeting, as the rain fell lightly on the roof, he remembered that first night they had met in the little restaurant. He had never been back. How silly of him. He had forgotten exactly where it was but he would find it somehow.

As he sped toward the east side he began to take in the familiarity of that fateful night and at last he turned down the street that the little restaurant was on. He stopped his car and got out, looking up and down the street. Nothing was familiar any more. The little restaurant was gone—in its place stood a new, strangely-imposing edifice, glittering with lights. He felt almost like crying.

He decided to walk up the street to see if by some chance he had been mistaken about its location. The rain was still falling steadily and as he approached the corner he saw her for the first time in over a month. He saw her face in the light of a streetlamp and as she was about to pass by him he grabbed her arm and spun her around.

"Myran!"

She looked up into his eyes—they weren't the same eyes that he had looked into so long ago, they had lost some of their magic but they still had the same magical affect on him.

"Ted—oh Ted." She clung to him with new life, new hope. He looked down at her, feeling a surge of pity mixed with the eternal love he would always have for her. She looked so pitiful and downtrodden.

"Our little restaurant," she said, finally. "It's gone, Ted—it's gone."

"I know, darling," he said. "It doesn't matter any more."

They stood on the corner holding each other, the rain falling heavily now, but they were oblivious to it. They had re-discovered each other—it was all that really mattered.

Slow Down and Live!

Sunday's Sermon

REV. ROBERT H. HARPER

CLAIM OF KIN

A NEWSPAPER story recently concerned a remote mountain village of Germany where dwell numerous persons whose name is Herter. All of them, it is told, are deeply interested in the fact that one of the descendants of the clan has become a world citizen who seems destined to have a large part in solving the problems of mankind.

It matters little to the mountain clan that this Herter was born in Paris and that he rose to distinction in the United States, he is a Herter and will ever be their own.

This sense of kinship is a patent fact in history. The preservation of the Hebrew race is remarkable. Scattered to corners of earth and speaking a varied language, they have returned, a host of them, to the immemorial land of their fathers.

So let us cherish the best in the ideals of the mingled races that has built here in the Western Hemisphere a nation that will, under God, lead the world to peace.
